

The oligarchy of food

Mega-corporations buy and sell genetic material and control what we consume, but economist and activist Raj Patel says we can shake the yoke of corpocracies, reclaim our food supply and bring collective solutions to the table

GETTY IMAGES/ISTOCK

"We all have felt like there is nothing we can do. This feeling, this claim, is a self-fulfilling prophecy."

- RAJ PATEL

SR WHAT'S INSIDE

Better housing, better business

Tillamook Creamery tackles the housing shortage affecting its workers

Page 8

RURAL HOUSING

Survey: protect wolves, nat'l parks

Oregonians weigh in on poll about environmental policy

Page 7

NEWS

Rahsaan

"I'm trying to work hard, I'm trying to do something."

Page 6

VENDORS