ABSOLUTELY PURE

A BIG SALT MINE.

The Development of a New California Industry.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the "Crystal Rock Salt Mining Co." of San Francisco, with a capital stock of $500,000, of which $327,500 have been subscribed by Chas. G. Ahlborn, Sanford Bennett, Meyer Lewis, Julius Reimer, S. Lewis, L. Dorn and Ben Lewis.

The Crystal Rock Salt Mine is situated in San Bernardino county, and produces a salt of superior quality, which, according to analysis made by Professor L. Falkenau, of the State Assay Office in San Francisco, is found to be chemically pure. At the instance of Norton, Teller & Roden, and other San Francisco houses, a number of tests were made, with the result that the salt produced from this mine has been found to be equal to the best English salt in the market for butter making and table use, and for meat and fish packing, milling and dairy purposes. The lump stock salt from this mine is preferred by the large cattle companies to any other salt, by reason of its purity, dryness and solidity; also because it is the most economical for stock feeding. Owing to its firmness and purity it does not deliquesce when placed out on the ranges.

The company controlls over 1,000 acres of mining ground in which the salt is mined from large deposits, as clear and transparent as crystals. The mine is connected with Salt Rock Station (Danby) on the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. by a road extending thirty-two miles, especially constructed by the Traction Engine Company, and upon which the company successfully operates a train of traction engine and wagons, constructed by the Best Manufacturing Company of San Leandro, Cal.

The company is about to commence the erection of extensive works at the mine, and upon their completion will be enabled to supply the purest salt ever produced for butter-making, table use, meat and fish-packing. Lump salt for stock-feeding and milling purposes is now being shipped.

The buildings at the mine are constructed of salt, and the company is about to erect an office building at the railroad station out of rock salt, which will attract great attention. Passengers on the train passing this station are now in the habit of getting off the train for the purpose of securing crystals of salt as keepsakes.

In the sunlight a building constructed of this salt appears as if it was covered with diamonds.

THE WEED IN KANSAS.

Newton Has a Ladies' Smoking Club Called the Sparrow.

The only ladies' smoking club known to exist in Kansas has just been discovered in Newton and is named the Sparrow. The Sparrows have a select clubroom, elegantly fitted up with the most luxurious furnishings, including divans in profusion and all the paraphernalia of a smokers' club. There are books and periodicals, but it is in no sense a literary club. It is composed exclusively of young women, the number being limited to nine.

When one member marries or leaves the city, another lady is elected to fill the vacancy, and it is said there are always several applications awaiting action. It was only by accident that this exclusive secret association was discovered, but it has been in existence for a long time. The room belonging to the Sparrows is on Main street and is a genuine clubroom. All its members are included in Newton's "swell set."—St. Louis Republic.

What Congressmen Read.

"What books are the most popular with the new congressmen?" I asked a bookseller.

"Books on etiquette," he answered. "The demand is so great we cannot fill it. We sold 20 such books yesterday, and I have today sent a large order to my publishers, for at this rate my stock will soon be exhausted."—Washington Post.

Number of Hairs In a Beard.

A Pottstown barber has found a new occupation for spare moments. He has counted the number of hairs in a man's beard whom he shaved. When the lather dried which had been used in shaving it was not difficult, although tedious, to count the hairs, which numbered 13,663.—Philadelphia Record.

STORIES OF THE DAY.

Things Seen and Heard at the Capitol at Washington.

One of the saddest places about the whole capitol is that little corner off of statuary hall where women wait the slow motions of their "influence." The condensed heartache and desperation that are crowded into that narrow space day after day are enough to soften the most hard hearted. Out there, one day this week, sat a widow. She was old and poor. It was a raw, cold day, but the desolate woman had only a thin shawl about her and one shoe was all broken at the side, so that only her stocking kept her foot from the ground. She had sent in for "her" representative, and when he came out, he was coolly courteous, but finally seemed to warm up a little, and, at her earnest solicitation, promised to see Senator Somebody about getting her a place. He was so emphatic in saying that she must not worry, but leave all to him, that she turned to leave him with her face fairly transfigured with a glow of happiness. When she had disappeared over the last "whispering stone" toward the senate, that heartless member turned to the page and said sternly:

"See here! If that old guy comes fooling round here after me again, I am not in my seat! Do you sabe?"

The boy "sabed" all straight enough and gave a frightened promise to remember. Poor little old woman!

There is a regular King Humbert of Italy on the floor of the house, and it will surprise him greatly to read this and find himself quite an attraction among the women in the galleries. The particular attraction is a pair of fierce gray mustachios, and they belong to Mr. Poole of New York. Really, the likeness to the royal Italian is quite startling.

Terry of Arkansas has cultivated a remarkable suit of chrysanthemum hair in the summer's recess between congresses. If he could coax his locks to unkink themselves, he would rival in this respect Buffalo Bill.

Prince Albert coats are quite the fashion since Mr. Reed set the pace on the day he became speaker, but there are ways and ways of wearing them. The average congressman needs to take some lessons in the art. A closely buttoned Prince Albert is a sight for gods and men to laugh at if it does not fit, and most of them do not.

One of the remarkable and enjoyable features of the Fifty-fourth congress is the absence of smoking upon the floor. Men like Mr. Quigg and Mr. Tarsney, who all but sleep with cigars in their mouths, find it rare self denial to go without smoking, but they content themselves with a "dry smoke," twisting and chewing to pieces almost as many cigars as they would otherwise smoke. The only man seen to smoke deliberately on the floor was Mr. Powers of Vermont. He was clear back by the fireplace and was busy thinking when he lighted his cigar, and the expression of cherubic content which went over his face when he settled back in his chair to take that tabooed smoke was something to remember.

The ladies who watch with such interest every day the proceedings of congress have quite decided that Mr. Crisp has the smallest and whitest hand in the house.

"What brand do you wear, mister?" asked a man with high heeled boots and a sombrero of Representative Miller yesterday as that gentleman came out of the house.

Mr. Miller looked a little surprised, but replied courteously that he didn't know exactly what his questioner meant.

"I want to know which camp you round up in when there is a general stampede?"

"Do you mean to ask my politics?" asked Mr. Miller.

"Precisely," said the stranger. "I'm off my own reservation and I've kinder lost my bearings. I'm on the trail of the man who corralled a permit to come hyar and sass the gov'munt fur my state, and the herd boss out hyar allows that I don't sabe things none too proper and holds me up. Now, if you don't belong to the other outfit, you look fit to be a pretty good trail boss."

"And who would you like to see?" asked Mr. Miller, with a broad smile at the interest the man was eliciting from loungers in the corridors.

"I reckon you all know him like a hen, the same his name being Dennis Flynn." And Mr. Flynn soon appeared.

"And who is that?" asked a gallery occupant of his friend, who seemed to know everybody and had been keeping up a running comment on everybody and everything in the house while the Bayard resolution was being discussed, as Mr. Dingley of Maine addressed the chair.

"He's one of the most highly respected men in the house," said a stranger at his left.

"And the thinkingest man to boot," responded the friend, and went on delivering his opinions audibly.

"Say, Charley, I want a business exactly like that for a flower stand. It's just too lovely for anything, and it wouldn't tip over." She was evidently a bride, and she was commenting on the malachite mace standard!—Washington Star.

A Sightless Household.

Kokomo, Ind., is the home of a peculiarly afflicted family. The husband and wife are both blind, the latter being also a helpless cripple, the accident that produced blindness likewise depriving her of the use of her arms. Their hired girl is also blind. Thus the entire household is sightless. The husband sells candy on the streets. Their home is as neat and clean as the tidiest housekeeper with good eyes could keep it.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

FRIEND TO MANKIND.

WILLIAM G. ROBINSON, WHO IS DYING IN WASHINGTON.

He Is Known as the "Savior of Babies." Has Devised an Appliance to Cool Fever Patients—Trying to Secure a Patent to Help His Family.

William G. Robinson, called the "Savior of Babies" because of his invention, the incubator, is dying in Washington.

There is being tested in the New York hospital one of his inventions which may be of far greater service to humanity than the incubator. It is a contrivance to lower the temperature and thereby save fever patients. It has been very successful in its operation. If the dying man should by great good fortune recover, his future wealth would be assured.

When Robinson went to the New York hospital one day last summer to get one of his incubators introduced at that institution, he noticed a fever patient in one of the wards. They were using the old time method to cool this patient's temperature. There was a step ladder at the head of his cot, and on the top of it was a water pail with a piece of ice in it. A rubber tube over the side of the pail, descending, entered a rubber bag that rested on the patient's breast. Another tube was arranged so as to carry off the water from the bag into a waste pail at the bedside. Robinson was interested.

He asked the doctors about it, and they told him that the contrivance was often a failure and left great room for improvement. If the patient suddenly turned over, he was apt to bring the pail of water down on himself. Then, too, the water in the pail was likely to run out before the nurse could be aware that the bucket was empty, and the condition of the patient would be seriously jeopardised by the sudden stoppage of the cold application.

The inventor went back to his little tinsmith shop in East Twenty-sixth street and built a contrivance that should furnish a steady flow of cold water. To minimise the labor and prevent the sudden checking of the stream he used the same water over again.

He built a frame of brass rods about 6 feet high. Two copper cylinders capable of holding ten gallons each were placed on sliding rods in a vertical position, and by an arrangement of chains, weights and pulleys the cylinders were made to balance one another. While one, filled with water, is at the top, just above the patient's head, the other rests on the floor below. The top one is filled with ice water and raised by the turning of a crank at the side. Rubber tubing passes from it down into a "worm," which is a great improvement over the rubber bag of the doctors.

After the water has circulated through the coils of the "worm" that lies on the patient's body, it passes into the lower cylinder. As soon as that cylinder gets full it is raised to the top and empties itself in turn into the other one, which has been lowered.

This invention has been used for a month at the New York hospital, and it has saved many patients and much trouble to nurses.

Robinson went to Washington for the sole purpose of getting a patent on this machine. He had made nothing from his incubators and thought that it was time to try to reap some pecuniary benefit from his work for himself and his family of three little children.

He filed his application at the patent office and was arranging to return home when he became very ill. The doctors said he had consumption in an advanced stage and held out small hopes of his recovery.

So his wife was called to his bedside. But the fate of his patent and what it means to his family is his one thought.—New York Journal.

THE LAST SLAVE.

An Aged Georgia Negro Enjoys His First Freedom.

Trone Wilson, an aged negro convict who was pardoned from the Georgia penitentiary by Governor Atkinson the other day, is probably the last slave to receive the benefits of President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation.

Wilson was in jail in Liberty county as accessory to a murder when the negro race was set free by the president.

He was afterward sent to the penitentiary and now enjoys the first breath of free air he has ever known.—New York Recorder.

Move Along.

The Indian's view of the way in which he has been treated by the white man in this country was well given in an anecdote related by Professor Ellicott Evans of Hamilton college. The famous Indian chief Red Jacket once met Mr. Evans' granduncle, Joseph Ellicott, at Tonawanda, Niagara county. Mr. Ellicott at that time was agent of the Holland Land company, which owned most of the land in what was later known as the Eighth Judicial district of New York.

The two men shook hands and sat down on a convenient log, both being near the middle of it. After a short time spent in amicable conversation, Red Jacket said pleasantly, "Move along, Joe."

Mr. Ellicott did as he had been requested, and the chief moved up close to him. In a few minutes came a second request, "Move along, Joe."

Again Mr. Ellicott complied, though with considerable surprise, and again the chief followed him closely. Scarcely had this been done when Red Jacket again said, "Move along, Joe."

Mr. Ellicott was greatly annoyed, but willing to humor the chief he "moved along" once more, this time reaching the end of the log.

This was not sufficient to satisfy the chief, however, for a moment later came the fourth request, "Move along, Joe."

"Why, man," cried the agent irritably, "I can't move any farther without getting off the log into the mud!"

"Ugh!" exclaimed Red Jacket contemptuously. "Just so white man. Want Indian move along—move along. Can't go no farther, but he say, 'Move along.'"

Labouchere on England's Unpopularity.

At the present moment England is probably more unpopular among foreign nations, including even our own kinsmen in the United States, than she has ever been before, and in my humble judgment our unpopularity was never better deserved.—London Truth.

HE MAY BE A CONGRESSMAN.

A Detroit Newsboy Appointed as a Page in the House.

One of the most interesting and praiseworthy appointments made by Doorkeeper Glenn of the house of representatives, whose personal staff consists of something like 200 employees, is that of Albert La Riviere of Detroit to be a page on the floor of the house. He was appointed on the recommendation of Representative Corliss of Detroit and was selected by the Newsboys' association of that city as their representative in congress.

When the news of Albert's appointment reached the boys, they held a rousing ratification meeting in Detroit, at which a letter was read from Congressman Corliss, holding out to the successful boy the hope that he might become a great statesman some day, as other boys have who began as pages in the senate or house, and resolutions were adopted thanking the congressman for the compliment paid the association, and saying that Albert La Riviere was chosen because the boys thought him to be the most deserving one in the lot.

When leaving Detroit, he was escorted to the station by 149 newsboys, two brass bands and several leading citizens. Speeches were made by the citizens and the newsboys, and Albert, who was advised about how to conduct himself in Washington, was obliged to mount the platform of the car and outline his policy with regard to public questions. All he could say was that he would be as good a representative of the newsboys of Detroit as he knew how to be. The new page was sworn into office the other day, and a hearty greeting was given him by the many other nimble footed boys who wait on the congressmen, all of whom think it is somewhat of a novelty for a newsboy to be transformed into a page.

He is a slightly built, bright-faced boy, quite intelligent and hopes to succeed in getting into congress some day as a member. William Alden Smith, one of the new members of the Michigan delegation, was formerly a newsboy on the railroad for which he is now the general counsel. With Mr. Smith's example before him, Albert La Riviere thinks there is a good chance for him.—New York Sun.

NOVELTIES OF ELECTRICITY.

The Coming Swiss Exhibition Will Surpass All Others In This.

The Swiss National exposition, which begins at Geneva on May next and terminates on Oct. 15, bids fair, in the matter of interesting novelties, to surpass any national display made since the centennial. A full account of its scope is given by United States Consul Ridgley, at Geneva, in a report to the state department, and he says that Swiss residents in America are invited to make exhibits. Probably because Theodore Turrettini, mayor of Geneva and the most distinguished electrical engineer in Europe, is president of the exposition the electrical exhibit will be the finest ever seen. The river Rhine supplies 12,000 horsepower, to be electrically transmitted six miles to the grounds. There will be a traveling footpath operated by electricity, traversing the great machinery hall; horseless cabs driven by electricity, appliances for aerial navigation, a multiplying valve pump, process for making paper and fabrics, tests of strength of metals by electricity and many other electrical appliances.

Professor Pictet will display his invention for producing intense cold and will exhibit the uses of this low temperature, such as in the purification of perfumes and chemicals, the cure of dyspepsia by a cold Turkish bath process, disinfecting and the production of an illuminating gas 80 times more powerful than ordinary coal gas.

Other features will be a Swiss village, an aquarium where the spectator is beneath the water and a Himalaya railway wherein travelers climb to the top of a great tower by means of a car running on a cable.

A WIDE AWAKE MAN.

David Jones Does Not Sleep For Weeks at a Time.

David Jones of Anderson, Ind., who attracted the attention of the medical profession two years ago by a sleepless spell of 93 days and last year by another spell which extended over 131 days, is beginning on another, which he fears will be more serious than the preceding ones. He was put on the circuit jury three weeks ago, and, has not slept for 20 days and nights. He does not experience any bad effects whatever from the spell, nor did he during his 131 days. During that spell he attended to all of his farm business. He says now that he feels as though he never will sleep again.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Senator Davis Getting Superstitious.

Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota has reached the superstitious stage of his presidential boom. His literary bureau has been in active working order for some time past, and it was not until the Republican national committee fixed the date of the next convention that Senator Davis received his first ominous visitation. It turns out that he was born on the 16th of June, and, as the Republican convention is called to meet on that date, he firmly believes that the omen is a good one for him. In a good natured way he has told some of his friends that the fact of calling the convention to meet on his birthday is an indication to his advantage.—New York Sun.

Chafing Dish Outfit.

A chafing dish outfit includes the dish itself, with stand and lamp, a round tray upon which the whole arrangement stands, the alcohol flagon, whose long, curved spout permits the filling of the lamp without removing the blaze, a service dish with cover, all of polished nickel. Two spoons are also in the list, one large one, of nickel with ebony handle, a second smaller one of lacquered wood. Twelve dollars buys the outfit.—New York Times.

Good News.

Cashier—Have you heard, sir, that John Jones is a bankrupt?

Banker—Well, that's good news. We'll now get a little of what he owes us, whereas, if he had remained in business, we'd never have got a cent.—Fliegende Blätter.

The sheets of steel for penmaking are, in their original condition, 8 feet long and 3 feet wide. From these strips are cut wide enough to permit of the cutting of three or four pens.

A DYING SPARK

Stop Right Now! Don't Light Another! You're Burning Your Brains.

WRECKS ALONG THE STREETSIDE

Oft-times tobacco's victims look at the dying spark in the cigar stump or at the big unattained "chaw" of tobacco just expectorated, and with nerves unsettled with tobacco, mentally resolve, "Now, that is my last, I will never use it again, I know that it is injuring me physically and financially and my nerves are becoming so irritated that I can't stand the least annoyance." What is the result? These good resolutions are generally made while the effect of the use of tobacco practically paralyzes the cravings of millions of irritated nerve centers and just as soon as the effects commence to pass away these good resolutions weaken, showing conclusively that the use of tobacco is not a habit but a disease of the nervous system caused by the education of the nerves to crave for the nicotine poisoning. What then is the easy, permanent, natural way to relieve yourself of the use of tobacco? Certainly not by discontinuing it and suffering the nervous reaction and prostrating effects and mental degeneracy sure to follow the long and continued use of tobacco. Does it not suggest itself to you that the natural thing to do is to take a remedy that is specifically prepared to eradicate the effects of the nicotine in the system and to overcome the nerve craving effects and restore the tobacco irritated nerves to a normal and healthy condition? To this, we all say, "Yes, where is the remedy?" You will find it in No-To-Bac. This is easily said and we all naturally ask for proof. Certainly. If No-To-Bac fails to cure, The Sterling Remedy Company, of New York, Montreal and Chicago have so much faith in their remedy, that they positively guarantee to refund the money, and the concern being owned and operated by some of the most reputable business men of the east and west, it is absolutely reliable and we are glad to say, able in every way to live up to its guarantee.

The sale of No-To-Bac within the past few years has assumed enormous proportions, almost entirely developed upon its merits and the recommendations of the cured. So great is the sale that it is hardly possible to go into any leading drug store without finding it on sale, and the druggist has nothing but words of praise to give it.

"Do you call her complexion real?" "Decidedly. It has hardly a suggestion of the ideal school." The resemblance, furthermore, did not seem to be in it all.

CONSUMPTION CURED

AN ABSOLUTE REMEDY FOR ALL PULMONARY COMPLAINTS.

T. A. Slocum Offers to Send Two Bottles Free of His Remedy to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles—An Elixir of Life.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street, New York. Perfectly confident that he has an absolute remedy for the cure of consumption and all pulmonary complaints, he offers through this paper to send two bottles free to any reader who is suffering from lung trouble or consumption, also loss of flesh and all conditions of wasting. He invites those desirous of obtaining this remedy to send their express and postoffice address, and to receive in return the two bottles free, which will arrest the approach of death. Already this remedy, by its timely use, has permanently cured thousands of cases which were given up, and death was looked upon as an early visitor.

Knowing his remedy as he does, and being so proof-positive of its beneficent results, Dr. Slocum considers it his religious duty, a duty which he owes to humanity, to donate his infallible remedy where it will assail the enemy in its citadel, and, by its inherent potency, stay the current of dissolution, bringing joy to homes over which the shadow of the grave has been gradually growing more strongly defined, causing loved hearts to grieve. The cheapness of the remedy—offered freely—apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the offer, who holds out life to those already becoming emaciated, and says: "Be cured."

The invitation is certainly worthy of the consideration of the afflicted, who, for years, have been taking nauseous nostrums without effect; who have ostracised themselves from home and friends to live in more salubrious climes, where the atmosphere is more congenial to weakened lungs, and who have fought against death with all the weapons and strength in their hands. There will be no mistake in sending for these free bottles—the mistake will be in passing the invitation by.

Mrs. McClurg.

Mrs. Virginia Donaghe McClurg of Colorado, the well known lecturer, is visiting the east for the benefit of her son's health, which will probably oblige her to stay here for some months. Mrs. McClurg organized the first party, aside from government expeditions, which explored the ruins of the cliff dwellers in the southwest. For ten years she has made a specialty of these studies and explorations. Mrs. McClurg is not only an archæologist, but a poet of merit and a warm advocate of equal suffrage.

Women as Sculptors.

Clio Hinton Huneker, who has been awarded the $10,000 prize for her statue of Fremont, says of St. Gaudens, whose pupil she is: "He believes in the future of women, especially as sculptors. I have frequently heard him say that the truest artists in his class are women, and that his principal object in taking the class is to afford women an opportunity to prove their genius."

VERY AWKWARD INDEED.

This is precisely the kind of mistake a man makes if he "turns out" on the wrong side of the road when a vehicle comes toward him. He has abused is the error of the individual who takes drastic medicines to relieve his liver. That organ is on the right side, and the road to its relief is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine also adapted to the relief of dyspepsia, constipation, kidney and rheumatic ailments, and malaria.

"None of your sauce," as the bender said when he refused the Worcestershire.

WIND SWEPT.

Were it not for the intervening mountain ranges this country, from Northwest to Southwest, would at times in winter be swept by devastating tornadoes. Blizzards seem to arise out of the caves and canons of the plains. Gaining strength and volume over a wide expanse, their force is arrested by the battlements of big hills. Sometimes they rise above the barriers and sweep the Middle states with fury. There you enjoy one day a warm temperature, and the next may be far below freezing. It is like an ice water bath on a warm day, and the shock to muscles, nerves and circulation is the cause of sudden neuralgic and rheumatic aches, but violent and acute. Those predisposed to such should have the master cure, St. Jacobs Oil, always ready. Its prompt use prevents the chronic stage and in the chronic stage it is a prompt, sure cure.

"Mamma, what is classical music?" "Oh, don't you know? It's the kind that you have to like whether you like it or not."
