PURPOSES OF A RECITATION

One purpose of having pupils recite each lesson, is to ascertain whether or not they have prepared the work assigned. Another reason is the fact that reproducing anything serves to fix it in the memory; hence the necessity for some plan of recitation that will give each one an opportunity to recite. A third purpose is to give the teacher an opportunity to make clear to the pupil anything which he is not able to master alone, and to offer additional information on the subject; and it is often necessary to point out the connection between the lesson of today, and the one learned yesterday, and then make it a part of the complete whole he is trying to form in the child's mind.

Far back in the history of the English colonies, when they were fiercely struggling to free themselves from the iron grip of the mother country, there lived in a foreign land a young man—a man of noble birth and royal parentage. Surrounded by all the luxuries which only great wealth and high birth can give, he, from infancy, had every privilege which could afford, and there lay before him bright prospects of a brilliant career.

The New York Tribune says: "The nation's two greatest foes are anarchy and rum. Both sap the foundations of good citizenship, and if allowed to work together, unchecked, will cause the downfall of the mightiest nation. Rum is itself the arch anarchist. Anarchy and alcohol are both alike destructive of ideas and ideals."

Three Doctors in Consultation. From Benjamin Franklin. "When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e., Theory) says is best, to be chosen in the last place."

When you have a bad cold Dr. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. is a quality some newspapers have lost sight of in these days of "yellow" journalism. They care little for truth and a great deal for temporary sensation.

It is not so with THE CHICAGO RECORD. The success of THE RECORD rests upon its reliability. It prints the news—all the news—and tells the truth about it.

It is the only American newspaper outside New York city that has its own exclusive dispatch boat service and its own staff correspondents and artists at the front in both hemispheres.

It is the best illustrated daily newspaper in the world. Its war news service is unapproachably the best. Says the Urbana (Ill.) Daily Courier:

"We read the war news in the other papers, then we turn to THE CHICAGO RECORD to see how much of it is true."

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received at all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 151 Madison Street, Chicago.
