in that city.

A CASE OF THANKS.—I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations for what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in so many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and it has always given the most perfect satisfaction. We feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of this remedy and wish them to please accept our heartiest thanks. —Respectfully, Mrs.
S. Dorr, Des Moines, Iowa. For

ford, master, continues making daily trips from Dayton to Portland and returns. The boat carries some freight and a good many passengers.

We are informed by Dr. Courtney that there is a good deal of sickness at present, but nothing of a serious nature. The Dr. has been kept quite busy attending to calls of numerous patients.

After the Memorial exercises on Wednesday afternoon, a beet sugar meeting was held in Nichols' hall.
Chas. Grieson of McMinnville, addressed the meeting. Another meet-

CHICKEN DINNER and other good things, on election day, in the sisting of oysters, etc., will be served.

J. L. Hoskins of Newberg, republican nominee for recorder, came up to Dayton Memorial Day, and took part with his comrades of the G.
A. R. in decoration exercises. After completing with a pressing invitation to take dinner with the Relief Corps, he returned to Newberg, to participate with G. A. R. of that place, in the Memorial Day program.

The steamer Ruth on her way down from Corvallis Friday, ran aground above Independence, and did not arrive at Portland until Saturday. The boat went up to Corvallis on Sunday, and thus got on her regular run. It is expected that the steamer Gipsy will soon be put on the Corvallis run, as there is yet considerable freight to be brought down from up river points. The steamer Modoc which now runs to Independence, will soon only run as far up as Salem.

Hon. John G. Woolley, the great prohibition orator, passed through Dayton Wednesday, on his way to Newberg, where he spoke in the evening. He made a short stop here, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs.
G. L. Barrett. Mr. Woolley promised Mrs. Barrett that if elected president he would make her another visit. So all who want the president of the United States to visit Dayton, vote the prohibition ticket. Mr. Woolley having traveled over some of Oregon's rough roads, and speaking two or three times a day for several weeks, felt too tired to speak while here.

Although the morning of Memorial Day looked as though there would be rain, it did not hinder people from coming to take part in Memorial exercises.
All business houses were closed the greater part of the day, and many came to attend the exercises. The program was strictly carried out. The opening address by Dr. J. S. Courtney, and the oration by Rev. J. Bowersox, were excellent and appropriate, music by the choir and Lafayette band was fine, and one of the attractions of the exercises.

In the morning the procession marched to cemeteries, and decorated the graves. After a beautiful dinner prepared by the ladies of Relief Corps, the literary and musical exercises of the day were conducted. All exercises were appropriate and in accord with the day—in memory of those who fought for their homes and to preserve the freedom of this nation.

The W. C. T. U. Gray Medal contest, Friday 25, was a success. Yet the inclement weather and sickness prevented some of the contestants and musicians being present. However, those who took part in the exercises of the evening, did honor and credit to themselves and the cause they represented, each should have special mention if space permitted. It has been said by some of those who were present, that of the participants all did well, and each one should have been given a medal for the able manner in which they portrayed the effects of the curse of the wine cup. The mothers of Dayton are earnestly working to show to the young the evil effects of the blighting curse of strong drink, and also other bad habits, and they should be given due credit in their untiring zeal to have the evils suppressed. Mrs. M. Simpson by her perfect and forcible presentation of the bridal wine cup, was awarded the medal. There were seven contestants.

On the down trip Tuesday from Salem, the steamer Modoc had on board over half the pupils of the deaf mute school. They were on the way to their homes in Portland and Eastern Oregon, where they will spend their vacation. The matron of the school accompanied the pupils as far as Portland, and seen that those living in Portland reached their homes, and those living in other parts were started for their homes on the proper routes. The matron gave watchful care to the children, and they in turn appeared much attached to her.

Last fall I fell sprained my hip while handling some heavy boxes.
The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a fifty-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to my friends.—F. A.

The following record of the weather on Memorial Days for 11 years has been furnished this paper by S. B. Fay, from a diary kept by him: 1889, cloudy and cool. 1890, mostly cloudy—some thunder just at night, and slight rain. 1891, mostly cloudy, thunder and rain in the evening.
1892, cloudy and cool. 1893, mostly cloudy. 1894, cold wind and rain. 1895, cloudy—numerous showers. 1896, cloudy and cool. 1897, light showers in the morning—sunshine—afternoon.
1898, mostly sunshine. 1899, a dark lowery day—light sprinkles.
1900, morning cloudy—early sprinkle—later, occasional sunshine.

In compliance with invitation from the G. A. R. Relief Corps, the editor of HERALD took dinner with them on Memorial Day. Being late he had the pleasure of sitting down to the table with a party of Dayton's staid matrons, who pleasantly entertained and furnished a supply of the well prepared eat-ables. The excellent quality of the viands, were greatly different from what old veterans were accustomed to on their campaigns—which was hard tack and rusty bacon, very often. C. Litscher who has been active service, and is a good forger greatly assisted the ladies with their work.

D. A. Magnus, the well known Wheatland dealer in wood, and who supplies the boats with large quanties of wood, came down to Dayton Thursday, with his sister, Miss Maud Magnus, on this tandem.
They were accompanied by Miss Jessie Talbot. The ladies came to purchase millinery. Mr. Magnus informed the publisher that campmeeting in the grove near Wheatland, was in progress and well attended.

The best sugar factory talked of being established at Newberg, if carried through to success, will be a great benefit not only to Newberg alone but to the whole of Yamhill county and portions of the adjoining counties of Marion, Washington, Clackamas and Polk counties.
The matter of giving the required pledge, asked for by the promoters of the scheme, that 5000 acres be put into beets for five years, the product of which is to be supplied to the factory at $4 per ton, is taken hold of very carefully by farmers.
Only something over 1000 acres has thus far been pledged. It is required that the full amount be pledged by July 1. Yet the New-bergers do not appear to be discouraged, and are industriously at work endeavoring to secure pledges for the required amount of land. The Newberg Development Company has issued a circular which gives some facts regarding the raising of beets; and showing wherein it has been a profitable industry in many places where the culture of sugar beets have been undertaken. The raising of beets has proven more profitable in every instance, than wheat growing. Why it is that the farmers do not take more interest in this matter and take hold and encourage the enterprise, and pledge a certain amount of land to the raising of beets. By so doing they would take no more risk than they do in raising wheat, the price of which in late years, does not justify the farmer for the time and labor given in producing the crop. The circular spoken of above gives facts that can be substantiated, where those who have raised beets in Eastern Oregon, and the Eastern States, and given the crop proper care and cultivation after having the ground thoroughly worked and prepared before the seed is planted, have received very profitable returns, in some instances from $25 to $35 per acre. We admire the pluck and grit of the citizens of our neighboring town in their efforts to secure a sugar factory, and hope that they will succeed in doing so. There is one little item in this connection worthy of note, it is this, the product of 5000 acres in beets would distribute among the farmers of this section $300,000 or more yearly, and also increase the value of farm land and other property. And other items are: the factory will, it is estimated, use 150 cords of wood per day, which for 100 days, the time that the factory would be in operation, would in the total, be 15,000 cords, thus considerable the large sum to be paid employes, and the great amount of feed furnished for stock by the office. Encourage the enterprise.
