O. B. Rippey a former resident of Dayton but now of Portland, was traversing our streets on his locomobile Monday looking (as he said) for something he had left when moved away from Dayton last week.

Herman Londershausen and wife of McMinnville were spending the day Sunday with home folks here. These young people always find joy and pleasure when they come to their "old home town."

A couple of Dayton's young men, Jess White and Lloyd Bertam, who are employed in Portland made their parents and friends a pleasant visit over Sunday returning to their work on the evening train.

Born:—at Oregon City, Sept. 14, 1917, to Mr. and Mrs. Hall Burnham, formerly of Dayton, a 10 pound boy. Mother and child doing well and papa Hall stepping lightly for fear of waking the baby.

Mrs. Glen Hord and children were in our town over Saturday and Sunday on their way to their Portland home arriving there Sunday evening, so that their boys would be ready for school Monday morning.

U'Ren's heaters make warm friends.

Gasoline is selling at $1 per gallon in Cuba, according to the Evening Telegram of the 18th Inst. 1000 autos take a rest there it is said. If such prices prevailed here we are of the opinion there would be more than that number silently withdrawn from our thoroughfares.

Miss Vena Sheldon an old (not very old) typist called on us a day or so ago and put in a few minutes at the case, just to see if she had forgotten the case, but to her satisfaction and our pleasure we found out that there was not any forgetfulness in her makeup.

Attractive posters announcing the Oregon State Fair to be held in Salem Sept. 24-29 are posted here and surrounding country. Albert Tozier who has been mayor of the tent city during the state fair for the past 40 years or more will once more take up his duties at the camp grounds Sept. 10. He will remain on duty until after the state fair and all campers have left for their homes.

On Sept. 2, 1917, five of Dayton's young men took a little auto trip over in Clackamas Co. and while on the road got into an altercation with a motor cycle policeman, with the result they were arrested for transporting liquor from one county to another. September 18 they had their trial in Oregon City, when they received fines as follows: W. H.

Cain $50, Paul Londershausen $50, Jack Ohlert $25, Sherman Miller and Tony Cinnamon were exonerated. The case will be appealed.

The Lumbermens National Bank and the U. S. National Bank, both of Portland, Ore. have consolidated giving Portland the second largest bank in the North West. This bank will be conducted under the name of the United States National Bank in their new building at Sixth and Stark streets, with combined deposits of nearly $20,300,000.

The way the yard sticks rattled, hardware jingled and our merchants and clerks moved around Saturday indicated a lively day for our business men; and the people that thronged our thoroughfares were delighted with the bargains they had pocketed, and the general verdict is this is the place to trade. After all that is said and done this was one of our busy days.

The Sherman family have returned from a month or six weeks visit throughout the east well satisfied to be back once more in old Yamhill county. They report having had an excellent time among relatives and friends, but for all that "there is no place like home." We know we are voicing the sentiment of this community when we say, we are very glad to have you come back in good health and spirits ready to take your places in the upbuilding of this town and vicinity.

The ring of the school bell, the joyful chatter of the children and the merry patter of the many little feet of the kiddies on their way to school Monday morning, brought joy to the hearts of our people who have missed them during the vacation period. We are proud of our school and its teachers and look at these children of today as the men and women of tomorrow. We would be much pleased if we could impress on their youthful minds the benefit of the present school system of this land and the necessity of applying themselves studiously, that they may be better fitted to take their places as the managers and rulers of the land.
