Newspaper Publication Held Up

After the completed casualty list is ready, with the emergency addresses, it is withheld from publication in the newspapers for a reasonable space, out of respect for the feelings of relatives. The Adjutant General's office allows ample time for the relatives to receive the telegrams, so that they may have the news before it is given to the general public. General Pershing may, at his discretion, withhold a casualty list until he is positive it will have no military value to the enemy.—Official Bulletin, June 6.

Perhaps Now on Islands

It is generally reported that the six men who left here for Fort McDowell, California, have been sent to the Philippines.

ODFELLOWS CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Monday evening, June 17, a goodly number of the members of Yamhill lodge No. 20 I. O. O. F. and Naomi Rebeka lodge No. 83 I. O. O. F. assembled in the Artisan hall here for the purpose of celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of Yamhill lodge No. 20.

The meeting was called to order by S. W. Sigler, who thought it proper to commence an occasion like this by singing the opening ode of Oddfellowship, which was done under the capable leadership of R. L. Harris. The little and younger people acquitted themselves creditably in their various exercises. Herbert Baxter was introduced and gave an interesting account of the Rebeka lodge since its organization in December 1895 to the present time.

S. W. Sigler gave the main address of the evening, being a statistical summary of Yamhill lodge No. 20. The following are some of the main points of his address: "Yamhill lodge No. 20 was instituted in Dayton, Oregon, June 17 1868 by D. G. M., J. M. Bacon assisted by P. G., J. T. Apperson. Joel Palmer was the first N. G. The fourth candidate admitted was F. M. Huddleston in November 1868 who is well remembered by many of our people. The present home or hall of the lodge was completed in 1870 and was dedicated August 19th of that year. In 1878 S. W. Sigler became an Oddfellow and since his membership has seen seasons of prosperity and adversity.

Another one of our leading citizens, R. L. Harris became a member of this lodge in 1886, and has steadily climbed to the highest office in the gift of this lodge. For a number of years he has represented this lodge in the Grand lodge where he is recognized, and been appointed as chairman of important committees and is at present a member of the board of trustees of the Odd Fellows home of this state.

This lodge has always responded to the call of the unfortunate and needy. This lodge has shown its loyalty to the Government by the purchase of a $1,000.00 worth of Liberty bonds, $200.00 of war saving stamps and has given $150.00 to the Red Cross. This certainly shows that we are not only charitable but patriotic. He closed this interesting address as follows: "May our Heavenly Father preserve, protect and perpetuate this glorious republic against the encroachments of any and every power which dares to encroach upon our domain, or menaces our free institutions. is the prayer of every true Odd Fellow in this broad land of ours."

The ladies of the Rebeka lodge then put on a portion of their floor work which was exceptionally well done and brought forth much praise. The ladies of this assembly also sang a couple of patriotic pieces which were well received.

R. L. Harris then gave us a very interesting statistical talk in which he said Dayton Encampment No. 14 I. O. O. F. was instituted October, 1888, and has done creditable work during its existence.

Odd Fellowship has grown greatly during the past 50 years from a membership of 1114 in 26 lodges to 220 lodges with a membership of 2,203,495. He spoke highly of the Odd Fellow home in Portland, of which he is a trustee. He also exhibited a new service flag recently secured by No. 20 with five stars on it in honor of our brave members, Geo. and Will Stermer G. A. Gabriel, Chas. Spangle and A. D. Foster, who are offering their services, their lives, if necessary, in this gigantic war. He also told us this lodge had planned a much larger celebration of this event but owing to the strenuous times we are confronting, those having this in charge thought best to be sparing with their money and buy more bonds or Stamps with it. He said many other things which we would like to tell of, but time, space and ability prevents. He closed his remarks by telling of refreshments awaiting us in the nature of ice cream.

Short speeches were made by H. W. Stermer, H. E. Booth and A. J. Rositer. This pleasant gathering was brought to a close after all had enjoyed the bountiful supply of ice cream.

YAMHILL CO. MUST RAISE $436,000

Meeting to be Held in School House to Perfect War Stamp Society

The President of the United States has seen fit to call together all citizens of the United States on June 28th, 1918 at 8 P. M. for the purpose of again meeting a National War measure in the form of the War Savings Movement. The Governors of the States of our Union and the Mayors of our cities have joined in setting aside this day for the purpose of pledging our quotas of the two-billion dollar loan and for the further purpose of organizing ourselves into War Savings societies.

The people of this county are expected to subscribe for and purchase during the year 1918 War Savings Stamps of the maturity value of $436,000.06. In order to distribute this allotment of War Savings Stamps equitably among the various parts of the county, a quota has been assigned to each school district, which will be stated at the opening of the meeting in the school house on suitable place on June 28th 8 P. M. which you are expected to attend. No matters, however pressing, should prove a justification of absence since our President has commanded. In order to raise the total amount from this county, it will be necessary that each school district subscribe the amount allotted to it. This will not impose any burden on any persons in the district if each person does this duty. Pledges only are asked for the regular purchase of stamps of the remainder of 1918. The persons conducting the meetings in each school district have been instructed.

1st. To insist upon the total amount allotted to it being signed for in pledges before the meetings are adjourned.

2nd. To organize a War Savings Society among those present.

W. L. Hembree, County Chairman. Appointed by State War Savings Director, C. S. Jackson, of Oregon under authority of Secretary of the United States Treasury.

RED CROSS ENTERTAINMENT

IS GREAT SUCCESS

Proceeds Amount To Over $150.00 To be Used by Local Chapter

Last Saturday evening was ushered in by a cool southerly wind indicating the much needed rain, but did not cool the ardor or patriotism of our people who turned out in good numbers to attend the entertainment given in our park by the ladies of the local chapter of the Red Cross for the benefit of this local chapter to raise money to purchase sewing machines and any other supplies needed to expedite their work for the Red Cross society.

The people were called to order by ex-mayor Harris, who in his enthusiastic manner explained the nature of this meeting and told us that a short program had been hastily prepared.

The high school band gave several selections. The chairman then gave a very interesting talk, a few recitations were well rendered and Rev. M. A. Marcy was called on for an extemporaneous speech, which he responded to in his usual happy manner and the program was then concluded by some community singing with Miss Jeannette Ogden at the organ. This community singing of the old time pieces was greatly enjoyed by all present. Some surprise was expressed at how well the Dayton people could sing, but when it is remembered that whenever these people come together with one object in view they always meet with success all in capitol letters.

Patriotism and enthusiasm was bubling out over the top and we just had the best time ever. The amount taken in at this entertainment from the cooked food, ice cream and other stands amounted to $152.57 and will net the ladies about $125.00 for which they desire to express their thanks to all who participated in making their effort such a grand success.

St. Helens—Solid carload of 800 cases of cooked cabbage shipped by Columbia River Canning & Produce Co. to Armour & Co. at Seattle.

Half a million more sheep and a quarter of a million more cattle will be taken care of on national forests, this year than last.

Director General McAdoo has already ordered heavy increases in freight and passenger rates while municipalities in all sections of the country are enlarging budget estimates to cover "higher salaries and cost." This clearly proves justice of increased utility rates.

Portland—Western Spar Co. is furnishing Willamette and Columbia Iron Works all booms for iron masts, also booms and masts for Ferris type ships being built by Wilson Bros. & Rodgers shipyards at Astoria. This is a new industry for Oregon which will bring money to the state from many foreign sources.

Strikes that interfere with the war are unjustifiable. Class grievances can better wait than production be curtailed. The striker and the profiteer alike is an enemy to the country. Public opinion is against both.

Dallas—Oregon Development Bureau purchases 60 acres near Independence for development of model farm. When land has reached state of highest cultivation will be disposed of to some home seeker.

"Mourn not the lost! in realms of change; gladness, where friendship, ties never crushed or broken, we still may meet; He who beholds our sadness Hath to the trusting heart assurance spoken of the best and, where, free from care and pain, Fond friends unite again."

HAVE TRADITIONS OF GLORY

Heroic Memories of the Past Inspire Many Regiments of the Army of the United States.

We have heard of those British regiments the "Black Watch," "Seaforth Highlanders," "Inniskillen Fusiliers," "Sherwood Foresters," and some others, famous for the long years they have been in existence, for their heroic deeds in past wars, for the traditions that have come down through generations of soldiers, of what they did at Waterloo, or Inkermann, or at the siege of Lucknow.

Who, outside the army itself, knows that we in America have regiments more than a century old, with heroic traditions, too? That fact was brought to mind the other day by a little news item recording the annual dinner in Camp Eagle Pass, Texas, of the officers' mess of the Third United States Infantry regiment, and said the item: "Ever since the battle of Monterey, in the Mexican war, when for three days the Third bore the brunt of a great battle, it has been the custom for the officers to assemble annually for a regimental dinner."

But the history of that regiment goes away back of that battle in Mexico in September, 1847. It goes back over 125 years of active service, since its organization in 1792 as the "Infantry of the Third Sublegion." Four years later it became the Third Infantry, and so it has remained ever since.

This famous regiment was not in the Revolutionary war, but many veterans of that war were in its first organization. It was part of the first regular army of the United States, and fought in the War of 1812 and in the campaigns against warring Creek, Chipewa, Sioux and Blackfeet Indians. In the days before there was a house or a road in Kansas territory it did duty there. It went through the Mexican war, the Civil war and the Spanish-American war.

But there is an older regiment than the Third. The First regiment of Infantry was organized in 1789, from a regiment of state troops which fought under Washington in the Revolutionary war, and it is yet in existence, its colonel being Daniel L. Howell of Iowa. This regiment has a history of glorious deeds, too; and both these old regiments will have those traditions of the past to spur them on to greater deeds in this war.

Her Method of Reading. While mother was arranging the pantry shelves Mae handed her the spice boxes, mentioning each spice by name. Presently she said: "Mamma, I can read." "Can you, dear?" remarked her mother. "Yes, mamma," said Mae. "But I don't read like you, I read by smell,"
