Mrs. Dr. Bishop of Portland was renewing acquaintances in this city Wednesday afternoon last.

Miss Carrie Rowley of Portland made a short visit with her parents, J. J. Rowley and wife here last Sunday.

Our list of subscribers for this week is as follows: Geo. Jackman, Jno. Arms, A. J. McCann and J. R. Dunphy.

Jess White was among the home comers for over Sunday from Portland where he is employed.

Another former Daytonite, Mr. Norman Bertram, was here Sunday last visiting relatives and home folks.

The mother of Mrs. Tharp from Shaniko, Oregon is here helping care for her daughter and family during their sickness.

Misses Viola and Grace Abdill are home from Portland and McMinnville and at the home of their grandfather, G. B. Abdill.

F. W. Hole was a Portland visitor the latter part of the week and says he may have been a little slow in getting started, but he made a beautiful landing when he reached home.

Mrs. John W. Baxter returned from a few days visit with her daughters who live in Portland, Tuesday last reporting having had a pleasant time while away.

Mrs. Julia A. Jones of the Hopewell country was transacting business in town the last of the week while on her way to Barview to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Johnson in that city.

Word comes to J. E. Mellinger, through a letter from Mrs. Dr. Jensen that her brother, George S. Stuckey, had died in Omaha, Nebraska, on Nov. 3, 1918, from the effects of the Spanish Influenza. He was sick only 10 days. He visited Dayton a few years ago and will be remembered by many Dayton people as the son of the late S. C. Stuckey. The Tribune extends sympathy to the bereaved families.

Rev. M. A. Marcy and family motor-ed to Portland Tuesday afternoon to visit with relatives in the metropolis for a few days.

Mrs. S. M. Richards who has been visiting friends in this city has gone to McMinnville where she will visit with relatives during the coming winter.

Mrs. A. J. McCann after spending about a week with her children living in Portland arrived home Sunday evening and is glad to be home again.

Master Francis Lefly who is carrying a broken arm caused by falling from a horse a few weeks ago was in town the first of the week and seems to be improving as rapidly as could be expected.

V. H. Ballard, our busy watchmaker and jeweler spent a strenuous day in Portland Monday of this week on business pertaining to his growing trade in his lines. Read his new advertisement in this issue.

Ray Baxter and family living a few miles from Dayton on a farm took their departure for some point in Idaho, Monday last to visit for a month or so with Mrs. Baxter's parents, Al Miller and family, one time residents of good old Yamhill county.

Mrs. C. E. Howard of Litchfield, Wisconsin, a sister of J. B. Stilwell, is here visiting the Stilwell families and expects to remain over the winter. Such winter weather as we are having here now does not seem much like winter weather that she has been accustomed to experiencing.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the partnership in the lumber business in this city existing between S. W. Sigler and C. C. Carter has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Sigler retains the lumber business and will pay all bills against said firm and all indebtedness to them is now due and payable to him. Parties knowing themselves indebted to them are solicited to call on Mr. Sigler at the lumber office and settle their accounts.

A letter from Alvin Hash to his parents from New York, states he is well and was doing well. There is little he can tell of his experiences on the water's and as this war is over he expects he may be able to secure a furlough along about next Spring when he will make a visit home.

Fred Freeman, a one time familiar figure on the streets of Dayton, was extending the glad hand to his former Dayton acquaintances here Tuesday last. He also stated that one of his boys had been seriously wounded, in one of the battles our boys have been engaged in, necessitating the amputation of a leg.

The numerous influenza cases in town are keeping our Marshal busy looking after their wants and needs, each case being under quarantine. We are pleased to state that as far as we are able to learn, all patients are recovering at this time, and we earnestly hope there may not be any more new cases to report.

CARD OF THANKS.

Words cannot express our appreciation of those friends who have shared with us the lonely vigils by the bedside of our loved daughter and sister. No sweeter memory can live in any heart than the memory of their untiring devotion to the one who has just left us. The waves of sorrow break upon every shore, and we can but hope that friends as true may gather around each of them should sorrow invade their homes. We express our heartfelt thanks to those sending flowers and assisting in the music. May the Lord bless you all and spare you such sorrow is our sincere wish.

A. N. Shelton and daughters

Realotments of land have been frequent in Russia, but this transfer of land from one farmer to another, or from a father to his eldest son, has not taken into account the young men who have grown up in Russia's rapidly increasing population. Kluchie had an entirely new and complete redistribution of the available land two days before we came there. Maynard Owen Williams writes in the Christian Herald. The lands are now divided into good and bad, and each peasant has been given three strips of land in each, one of which must lie fallow each year. But nothing is said about fertilizing the land, and Russia not only does not use nightsoil, the source of the Chinese farmer's wealth, but even ignores the value of animal manures. The manager of the count's estate uses all the manures from his large stables on the land. Under the present distribution of land in Kluchie, each male over twenty-one has 16½ acres.

C. R. Watson and Perle Hogle are again visiting their families Saturday evening and Sunday. They report their work at Cornelius to be nearing completion.

Mesdames Woolworth and Clark of Portland and Salem were here Tuesday in attendance at the funeral of the late Pearl Abdill who was a granddaughter and niece of these ladies.

J. E. PROFFITT.

will be a surprise while some were expecting this announcement. What their plans for their future are we do not know, but however here goes wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

The published list of marriage licenses in the Portland Telegram, a few evenings ago contained the names of two of Dayton's well known young people, being, David Scott and Miss Jennie Isham. To many of our people this

John Bones, of Carlton, is the new clerk and druggist in the Watson Pharmacy during the sickness of the proprietor, Mr. Ross Watson, who is reported as improving rapidly and will soon be back at his accustomed place in the store.

Mrs. C. H. Gibson who has for the past year or more been living near Salem, made the Tribune a pleasant little call Tuesday and among other things said by her was that she had moved back to her little farm home a couple of miles from Dayton, in what is known as the Reichstein, Hadley neighborhood.

G. I. Shelburne who made a hurried trip to a cantonment camp in Virginia some time ago to be at the bedside of his son, John who had a case of the flu, has reached home and is pleased to state that the boy has recovered and that he did not see any country on this trip that he would be willing to exchange his Yamhill holdings for. Sure not; Oregon is good enough for any of us.

John Lorenzen, who has been stationed at Camp Lewis during his soldiering days consisting of about three months, is home visiting his mother and is proudly displaying his discharge from Uncle Sam's service. He is the first one of the Dayton boys to receive his discharge and seems to be glad that he can stay at home as long as he wants to, but what he is going to do next, is what is bothering him. However he is confident there will be something for him to do in the near future.
