THE PROHIBITION AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Effective January 16, 1920

ARTICLE XVII

Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale of transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Section 2. The Congress and several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the Legislatures of the several states, as provided by the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the Congress.

This article was ratified as an amendment to the Constitution at the special session of the Legislature at the State Capitol last week.

ANTI-BRITISH ORDER DENIED BY DANIELS

Naval Secretary Did Not Tell
Admiral to Watch British.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels, in a letter forwarded to Chairman Page of the senate naval affairs committee, declared that it was not he who had told Rear-Admiral William S. Sims before the admiral's departure in March, 1917, for London "Not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes," and that the United States "would as soon fight the British as the Germans."

Testifying before a senate naval subcommittee investigating naval awards, Admiral Sims said that such admonition had been given him "by a high official" and quoted from a letter recently written to Mr. Daniels entitled "certain naval lessons of the great war" which arraigned many aspects of the navy department's conduct of the war.

Secretary Daniels in his letter to Senator Page said that Admiral Sims' letter had been referred to the general board of the navy for action.

Because of the statements by Admiral Sims, it appeared likely that the scope of the senate investigation would be extended.

USE OLD DOCUMENTS TO FIGHT RADICALS

Washington.—Recent activities of radical propagandists led Secretary Lansing last week to display for the first time in 18 years the original parchments of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

In the presence of a group of officials the parchments were removed from the protecting walls of a steel safe inclosing them and placed on view in the state department for an hour, while motion picture cameras recorded their appearance for the benefit of the 110,000,000 persons living under the principles enunciated by them.

Owing to their age, exhibition of the parchments is a rare event. Exposure to light even though each sheet is protected carefully from air by hermetically sealed glass plates, caused additional fading of the ink inscribing the immortal words which brought the republic into being.

GOOD AND BAD LUCK SIGNS

Practically Every Country Has Its Favorite Superstitions Dealing With Marriage Ceremony.

Did you know that the expression, "tying the knot," grew out of a superstition? Among the Babylonians one part of the marriage ceremony was to take a bread from the garment of the bride and one from the groom and tie them together into a knot.

Russia has curious superstitions. One ludicrous one is that the bride and groom race rapidly down the aisle as soon as the bridal procession enters the church. Whoever places a foot on the cloth in front of the altar first will be master in the household.

In Spain it was considered a good omen to tie around the necks of the bride and groom a silk sash fringed with gold while they knelt before the altar, thus binding their love the stronger.

In France it is held to be unlucky to allow a person older than the bride to enter the church door first. And there are other superstitions from many countries.

It is lucky for a couple to run out of church hand in hand.

The bride and bridegroom must not look about or recognize any one on going up the church aisle, for one who does it will go elsewhere for love in a short time.

The one of the betrothed pair who gets up first from the altar will always in after life be the one to get up first in the house.

It is a sign of bad luck and separation if a woman signs her maiden name instead of her new married name on the church register when she marries.

It is good luck to the couple if a pigeon alights on the church as a couple enters it to be married.

If the officiating clergyman has trouble to find his glasses it is a sign that one of the two before him will not bear inspection.

If the officiating clergyman makes a mistake some one is present who is opposed to the match.

It is bad luck to have a minister refuse to perform the ceremony on any excuse.

If the pastor drops the prayer book while reading the service the couple will be blessed with twins.

It is a bad omen for the wedded couple if a person in mourning passes the open church door while the ceremony is being performed.

It is lucky to marry in a ruined church.

Cabinet of Premier Clemenceau Quits. Paris.—The cabinet of Premier Clemenceau has resigned. President Poincare asked Alexander Millerand, governor of Alsace, to form a new cabinet.
