Yes air is free, but it costs so much to remain able to breathe.

Fred Freeman a once familiar figure on our streets spent a few hours in this city the last of last week.

The wets in Congress who voted dry are badly disappointed in the Supreme Court.

Louis Burkhart and son, Clarence, of Indiana are the new owners of the John Herring place near town and are now moving on their new farm. We extend these newcomers a cordial welcome to our midst and invite them to make the acquaintance of the Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffin of Portland visited a few days at the home of Mrs. M. C. Versteeg who lives at the L. Wambegans place in this city. These ladies were girlhood and schoolmate friends, and while here, Mrs. Coffin, made a short call on the Tribune force.

C. W. Powell arrived home the latter part of last week from a months visit with a daughter in Oregon City. C. W. says he is always glad to get home because here's the place that people know him.

We take the following named Dayton and vicinity people who have been drawn on the jury list for the year of 1920, by the County Court. Riley Andrus, D. B. Abdill, Robert J. Addison, Jonathan Arms, W. O. Barnard, John Barrett, A. W. Bramlett, John W. Baxter, Henry Bertram, Lee Breeding, A. C. Detmering, P. E. Holdredge, Chas. Hadley and Harry Wambegans.

The Bank of Dayton entertained Messrs Hooper and Adair of the State banking department of Salem one day this last week.

County school superintendent Duncan spent one day in Dayton last week visiting the Dayton school and extending the glad hand to his numerous acquaintances here. This was the professor's old home town and it always gives him pleasure to mingle among former associates. He made the Tribune a pleasant call and by a little slight of tongue performance we got him to say he would be a candidate for re nomination for County Superintendent before the primary next May. If left to his Dayton friends he will undoubtedly be nominated and elected even if there is not a man to cast a vote.

That little red trailor that follows the Boulden auto to and from the S. P. Station is exclusively a mail wagon which enables Mr. Boulden to carry more passengers without being crowded with mail sacks.

The Lord will provide all right, but these kind of times it is just well to do a little hard work yourself and not leave it all up to Him. He is very busy just now, anyway.

Joe Stuart and family accompanied by Miss Oliver autoed to Portland last Friday evening for an evenings pleasure.

Germany will be coerced into submission to the Armistice terms. Force is the only argument she understands, and it seems to be wasting time to try any others.

Nearly a month of the leap year gone and as yet none of the Glendale girls have taken advantage of their opportunity, to our knowledge. Girls, there are some mighty good "catches" in Glendale and vicinity that would make model husbands. And remember, what is not worth asking for is not worth having and another leap year doesn't come for four years. Better get busy and remember the News office prints neat wedding announcements.—Glendale News. Same here and we respectfully arise to second the motion.
