O. Heller and family of Lebanon, Kansas, who came via the auto route with relatives and former acquaintances in this place and are looking for a location. We always welcome strangers and hope they find something to suit them and become residents of this locality.

An X in the square at the end of this line means that your subscription has expired or is about to expire. The publisher hopes you will renew soon.

Rev. J. Colvin of Nampa, Idaho, and W. K. Curtis and wife of Forest Grove, Oregon, were Tuesday night and Wednesday morning visitors at the home of D. A. Snyder and wife.

Joe Stuart and family left Wednesday morning via the auto route for Crater Lake, Oregon, and expect to be gone a couple or more weeks.

Archie Abdill and wife spent a week or ten days lately in the country up about Summit, between here and the coast, with his uncles the Cresons. He says they had fish galore and that the fish left a dark brown taste in their mouths for more and will make this trip in themountains again in the near future.

J. W. Shippy and wife have returned from their vacation visit to his parents in Goldendale, Washington, and report having left their people well and busy harvesting and having had a pleasant time.

Will Paxson a former resident of near Dayton, but now of Newberg, his brother, S. W. Paxson accompanied by their cousin, Arthur Wickersham from Indiana, who is visiting them, made the Tribune a pleasant little call the first of the week.

James Keith, wife and children of Idaho, visited their former friend and acquaintance, C. W. Powell over Sunday last.

L. H. Litscher and wife after spending a week or ten days in Tillamook and adjacent seaports reached home in safety Monday evening and are now about their usual occupations.

Dayton was well represented at Pacific City the past week when the following named people of this vicinity were camped there. Arthur Robinson and family, Scott Edwards and family, Kirk Walling and wife, J. A. McFarlane and wife, M. S. Helen Thompson, Ethel and Lois Jackman and Messers Walter and Emer Jackman. Time was spent in long and short hikes, clam digging and other light exercises. A jolly, good time was enjoyed by all and so well pleased were they that another event of this kind may be attempted by them.

Harold L. Temple and wife and baby accompanied by his two sisters, Misses Alice and Mary Temple and Mrs. Temple's mother Mrs. N. C. McAdam, surprised the J. E. Mellinger family Sunday last by making a short call on them. Mr. Temple was formerly of Lexington, Nebraska, but for the last year or more has been located in Portland, at the head of the H. L. Temple Company, Brokers, Loan and Insurance. Mr. Temple and sisters will be well remembered by the Nebraska people living in this vicinity as the children of Fred Temple a prominent banker of Lexington. Mrs. Temple and her mother the Portland people and all seemed much pleased with the good country which surrounds Dayton. The Misses Temple will soon return to their Nebraska home, and the other people have promised to visit us former Lexingtonians some time again in the near future.
