Up and Down Main Street

Stubby Carter has discovered that young brothers are not to be trifled with

IT was a shabby trick of Stubby's and Petey knew it. Stubby had never intended to go to the picnic at Fulton's Glen until he heard Petey ask his father for the car for Saturday. Then he announced that he was going himself and that Petey couldn't have the car. And being the older brother, he got away with it. You can't blame Petey for wanting revenge. But Stubby was awfully unsuspicious or he would have seen those cans of Acme Quality Motor Car Finish and noticed that Petey was spending considerable time in the shed where they kept the old flivver. Instead, he drove unconcernedly up to the picnic grounds in his mud-covered machine. And right behind him came Petey, in the shiniest of flivvers, with Stubby's best girl sitting proudly beside him.
