And They Eat

Behold! The lodge lodgeth together and they eat. The club clubeth together and they eat. The business men take counsel together and they eat. The church hath a social and they eat. The young people elect officers and they eat. And even when the missionary society meeteth together they eat. But this latter is in good cause because they "eat in remembrance of the poor heathen who have not much to eat.

Behold! Hath a man's brains gone to his stomach and doth he no longer regard intellectual duties that thou canst no longer call an assembly or get together a quorum or even a "bakers dozen," except thou holdest up the baker's dainties as a bait? Be it true, that the day cometh, that, to get a crowd at prayer meeting the preacher must hold up a biscuit?

Yes, verily, thou hast heard of the child races of the world. But behold it is nigh thee, even at the door. For as one callith unto the child and sayeth, "Come hither, sweet little one and I will give thee a stick of candy," even so must thou say to his grown up papa and mamma, "Assemble ye together and we will serve refreshments." And, lo, they come like sheep into a pen. Isn't it the truth?—Kablegram.

Headquarters, Citizens' Military Training Camp, Camp Lewis, Wash.; July 27 (Special)—The month that several hundred Oregon high school boys devoted to Camp Lewis this summer as students at the Citizens' Military Training Camp will entitle them to one-fourth of a credit toward graduation from high school according to a ruling announced by J. A. Churchill, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Oregon.

In a letter to Colonel F. T. Arnold, Chief of Staff of the 96th Division, Superintendent Churchill states: "We have gone very carefully into the work of the Citizens' Military Training Camps... and we are so impressed with the value of such camps in assisting to prepare men for the responsible duties of citizenship that we are authorizing the giving of one-half of a semester's credit toward graduation from any standard high school in Oregon. That is to say, if a pupil attends one camp, he receives one-fourth of a credit out of the 15 units required for graduation from a standard high school. If he attends all four of the camps, he will receive one of the 15 units required for graduation."

Oklahoma is another state which allows Citizens' Military Training Camp instruction to count toward graduation from high schools.

In a response to a request from Colonel Arnold, many letters have been written to him by parents giving their impressions of the camp. No letter has been received containing adverse criticism. Parents are unanimous in their praise of the Camp. A State Senator of Oregon writes concerning his son as follows: "While he never was away from home for more than a few days before he went to the training camp, he enjoyed his stay there, and has nothing but words of praise for every officer of the C. M. T. Camp."

"A Union Ore., merchant states: We can see a marked improvement in our boy and hope to send him and our other boy next year as I think there is nothing better for them." From a Portland parent comes this testimonial: I am exceedingly pleased to inform you that the training at Camp Lewis has worked wonders in my son. His discipline has improved very noticeably. He walks in an upright, snappy manner."

Not All Honest

Seattle's treasurer tried the honesty of the population on April 1. Iron washers wrapped in papers like those that contain $10 stacks of silver dollars were laid, one after the other, under a teller's window. Scores picked these packages up and handed them in at the window. But several citizens showed desire to depart, and walked rapidly when they got out the door.

University of Oregon, Aug. 20 [Special]—All the libraries in the state and nearly all schools are cooperating in the prize essay contest to be concluded at the All-Oregon 1925 Exposition, which will be held in Portland, October 5-10 for the benefit of the proposed Fine Arts building at the university.

The contest, which is divided into two general subjects, Oregon-made products, and the educational and value of art, is open to grade and high school students. Two hundred dollars in cash prizes will be awarded the winners who will be announced on the closing day of the exposition.

Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, has announced a bibliography for contestants which includes the census of Oregon, Directory of Manufacturers published by the Associated Industries of Oregon, Lewis and Miller's "Resources of the Pacific Northwest", files of the Oregon voter, the Morning Oregonian, the Oregon Journal, and Portland Telegram and other papers throughout the state.

This contest is particularly valuable to the students, according to Miss Marvin, because it will encourage independent research, as there is a scarcity of material on Oregon industries.

Every industry in the state is participating in the exposition, which will present exhibits representing all forms of creative endeavor in Oregon. Special emphasis has been placed on manufactured products and art, music and literature.

The Evangelical Missionary Society held a well attended meeting at the home of Mrs. Hazen Willard, Tuesday afternoon. Considerable business was transacted and much enjoyment was experienced by all present.

Forester Denies Dry Record Is Broken

Salem, Ore., Aug. 12.—F. A. Elliott, state forester, takes exception to newspaper statements that the present dry spell is a record breaker for length.

In 1917, says Elliott, citing official weather records, Portland was 69 days without rain, Tillamook 117 days, Roseburg 94 days, Medford 119 days, Port Orford 166 days, Bend 120 days, and Baker 102 days. In 1914 there was no rain in the timber districts from June 23 to September 6, a total of 74 days.

Timber fires says Elliott have been held in check this season, and the loss of green timber is small.

Pretty Lace Sets Enliven Dark Suits

The suit, coat-frock and day dress of dark dependable wool cloths remain the best choice for busy women of affairs. But in these days of joyous apparel they must be livened up with accessories—collars, vestees, jabots or scarfs that are light in color or white. Dark colors near the face are unbecoming.
