With Apologies To Kipling

After seeing a business man light a cigar and flip the match thoughtlessly into a corner of his office near a waste basket, the author penned this fiery paraphrase of Kipling's familiar poem:

"If you can toss a match into a clearing,
And never give a thought to put it out,
Or drop your cigarette butt without fearing
That flames may kindle in the leaves about;
If you can knock the ashes from your brier,
Without a glance to see where they may fall,
And later find the forest all afire
Where you have passed—with no one near to call;
If you can drive your auto through the working,
And cast your stogie stub into the slash,
Unmindful of the danger therein lurking,
Or homes or happiness that you may smash;
If you can leave your campfire while it is glowing,
No thought of industries that it may blight,
Or of the billion saplings in the growing
Turned into charcoal ere the coming night;
If you can start a fire beneath a brush pile
When the wind is roaring like a

The first meeting for the year of the Pleasant Hour Reading Club was held at the home of Mrs. May Barnard, October 2. Nineteen members responded to roll call with a current event. The new Year Books and printed Club Study pads look very interesting. To all appearances we will need to do some studying. Because of the illness of the President, Mrs. Estelle Berry, the Vice President Mrs. Gwendolyn Cooper presided. Mrs. Sophia Sherman was elected to fill a vacancy in the club. After a delightful lunch the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Verda Duzan, October 16.

The Possibilities of Biscuit Dough

By Mrs. Belle DeGraf,
Director, Home Service Bureau,
Sperry Flour Co.

Just why so many housewives fail to make a good biscuit seems strange, for this dough is one of the easiest mixtures to make. Perhaps failure is due to inaccurate measurements and too slow an oven. This type of dough requires a hot oven. Too often the amount of ingredients is a matter of guess work rather than measurement, and unless one is a skilled cook, the results of guess work are usually indifferent.

When sweet milk is used always remember that two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder are used to each cup of sifted flour. This never changes, no matter how many cups of flour you are using.

There should be no taste of baking powder in the finished product. If there is, then your measurements have not been level or you are using a very poor quality of baking powder.

When using sour or butter milk, then soda will be your leavening agent. In that case, remember that 1/2 teaspoon of soda is used to each cup of sour milk. Or you can use 1/4 teaspoon of soda to neutralize the acidity of 1 cup of sour milk and 1 teaspoon of baking powder to each cup of flour.

Do not dissolve soda in the sour milk, as that process releases the gases too soon and the dough will be less light. Always sift the soda with the flour for biscuit doughs. Sour milk can be substituted for sweet milk in any recipe if these rules are followed.

Perhaps you have never stopped to consider the possibilities of the ordinary biscuit dough. This mixture is easily adaptable to variety.

It is quickly mixed and baked and has the advantage of being one of the most inexpensive mixtures to make. Many very palatable desserts can be prepared from this dough, besides several varieties of bread.

Stabilizing the Farm Income

Although but one of several important ways of stabilizing the farm income, diversification of crops, combined with the addition of a well balanced dairy herd, is of no doubt most important. The workability and saneness of this method is the same as exemplified by the business man who scatters his investments so that a single failure cannot exhaust his resources.

In our cooperation with the farmers of this section, the BANK OF DAYTON has seen the benefits of diversified farming indelibly impressed upon the progress of this community. We believe that more general practice along this line will do much to permanently better local agricultural conditions and are therefore unsparing in our encouragement in this regard.

Are you going to the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, October 31 to November 7th? It is an unequalled opportunity to benefit in livestock raising by the experience of others. The very best in the country will be featured in Beef and Dairy Cattle, Horses, Hogs, Sheep, Goats and Poultry; also Land Products Show and the thrilling Horse Show.
