

No Regular Hours

If the home owner knew just when and how and at what hour the sneak thief or burglar was to "pull the job" at his home—he could of course be prepared and would suffer no loss. But do things work out that way.

The safest method therefore is to take every reasonable precaution, and one of the most efficient ways to protect valuables is in a safety deposit box.

During summer months, when the family is away from home a great deal, is the time when sneak thieves are most active. A safety deposit box here at our bank costs little. Valuable papers, flat silver and other valuables are safe and insured against loss.

Step in. See for yourself. Let us explain the low cost and the service we extend to all our patrons

SHOE REPAIR MAN THOUGHT SUICIDE

J. W. Scott Writes Letters and Leaves Note on Clothes Indicating His Drowning.

A little over two months ago J. W. and L. W. Scott came to Newberg from Kelso, Wash., and opened a shoe repair shop in the building formerly occupied by Jasper Bales in the same business. They took out a three months lease at that time, and as this would soon expire, J. W. Scott told his brother that he thought he would look for a new location for their business, as they had not been doing as well as they thought they should. He left last Thursday morning for Portland and on Saturday morning L. W. Scott received a letter from him written from the Kenton hotel in Portland and stating his purposes to commit suicide. L. W. Scott at once went to Portland to try and find his brother but did not succeed in locating him.

In the meantime an employe of the Swift & Co. packing plant, walking along the bank of the slough near the livestock exposition building, found a blue serge coat hanging on a fence post. On top of the coat was hung a light colored cap. Attached to a coat button was found an envelope which contained this note: "I, J. W. Scott, of Newberg, a shoe repair man tired of life, jumped into the river." On the outside of the envelope was Scott's name and address, No. 715 First Street, Newberg.

L. W. Scott spent some time in Portland and Vancouver investigating it is the opinion that his brother has actually committed suicide. Authorities in Portland advised against dragging the slough to recover the body because of the present high water conditions. Mr. Scott returned to Newberg on Tuesday and will take his shoe repair machinery to Vancouver and store it there and will go into some other line of business.

In speaking of his brother, he said to the Graphic representative, "He seemed rather moody and inclined to talk about life and such things for a long time. He had been in poor health and while we were both disappointed in the business which we secured here, I do not think that was his reason for this act."

Both of the local men were single and they occupied rooms together in the rear of the shop. The one who has disappeared always seemed to be of a jovial disposition and waved at passersby and seemed always ready to make friends. Asked why he chose that particular place for his act, his brother stated that it was probably because he had worked in that neighborhood at one time and stayed at the Kenton hotel then. Besides writing letters to his brother here he also wrote to his sisters at Vancouver, Wash., and at Seattle. He leaves three sisters besides his brother here. These are Mrs. Orlen Scott of Vancouver, Wash., Mrs. Wm. Hopkins of Seattle, and Mrs. Russell Wiley of Klickitat.—Graphic.

STUDY OF RURAL RATES

The agricultural experiment station of the University of Wisconsin has conducted studies in rural electrification, and has concluded that the rate for rural electric service should consist of a monthly charge to cover approximately the fixed investment costs and a low rate for current. The average investment per rural customer in Wisconsin is $375, based on an average line cost of about $1,000 per mile and on an average of 2.7 customers per mile. This expense is incurred by a company when it puts itself in readiness to serve a farmer and will continue as long as poles rot in the ground and taxes and interest must be paid. This expense will be about the same whether 10 or 100 kilowatt hours per month are used. Electrical equipment found practical for use on a farm when current is purchased from a company follows: milking machine, pumping water for home and stock, any power operation using from three to five horsepower (providing the proper sized transformer is installed) such as grinding feed, sawing wood, operating hay hoist, shop equipment, drill press and large emery stone, artificial lighting of poultry houses to increase egg laying, incubators and brooders, big motors with portable transformers for threshing and silo filling where special arrangements can be made with the power company for connecting the transformers when power is wanted; churn, cream separator, washing machine, electric iron, vacuum cleaner and other appliances.

Lots of men secretly envy the tramp's don't care disposition.

Hand-Cut Pattern No. 1118

Jaunty, youthful, becoming—never was a dress style more popular than the new bolero model. It is not only delightfully becoming but very easy to make. You can pick your own color combinations, black with black and white checks is smart. So is navy blue with bright red-and-white checked vestee, collars, cuffs and kerchief. Still another combination would be a solid color such as beige, blue or green with a lighter shade for trimming.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 16 to 44. Size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards 40 inch material and 1/2 yard 40 inch trimming material. No dress-making experience is needed to make Design No. 1118 if you use this hand-cut individual pattern cut from heavy paper.

Patterns are delivered to any address upon receipt of 25c in cash or U. S. postage. Always mention size wanted. Address: Hand-Cut Pattern Dept., 17 West 23rd Street, New York City—and always name this newspaper.

FURNACES

For the Small Home.

We have a remarkable little furnace that makes the heating stove obsolete and unnecessary. So compact it can be installed in a very small and low-ceiling basement. Costs little if any more to operate than a stove, yet is a high grade furnace, complete in every way.

For the Average Home.

These furnaces include all the features you would want in a dependable and economical pipeless furnace. Heating unit is well welded steel construction, very strong and durable—and produces the greatest possible amount of heat from the wood you burn. All joints of heating units are acetylene welded and cannot leak smoke or fumes. The fire-box is built up from heavy sectional lining plates, any section of which can be quickly renewed at small cost.

For the Large Home.

A large capacity, wood burning, home heating plant. We claim that this furnace will deliver more heat to the rooms at LOWER first cost and lower fuel cost than any other furnace made.

More Than Mere Impression

A student once asked a great master how to mix his colors or paints. To which the master replied: "Prime colors, a little oil and lots of brains, well mixed."

So with printing. A good printing job is more than type, paper, ink and a press. Craftsmanship is in selection of type faces suited to the job in hand; paper in tones, shades and colors; harmonious ink selections, careful press make-ready—and the result, printed matter which conveys character.

Let us demonstrate all we mean in your next printing job. Good printing costs no more than inferior jobs.
