NOTHER of the ceremonials that make home such a likeable place at Christmas time is the making of the pretty, colorful candies to decorate the table, or fill small boxes and baskets for neighbors and friends to whom one wishes to give a little something more than a card.

A cold wintry evening is just the time to indulge in this festivity, and if a neighbor or two should be invited in to help, so much the jollier. The bright checkered aprons on the men and make them do the preparatory work, such as cracking the nuts and getting the meats out whole, chopping citron, squeezing lemons, cutting angelica into strips, and halving red candied cherries.

Meanwhile at one side-table sits the lady with the fondant—that base of all the cream candies—stirring the confectioner's sugar, moistening it to the right consistency so that it will make round soft balls, and then either dipping it in boiling chocolate or stuffing it with nuts, cherries, citron, or bits of fig paste. It can be used to stuff dates, taking the place of the stone, the dates then being rolled in granulated sugar. Oh, there is no end to the decorative, luscious goodies that can be made from this cream foundation.

To make these candies look like Christmas, the liberal use of green and red is advised, either in the fondant itself or in the trimming. A box of coloring matter can be obtained at any grocery, the colors being green, pink, violet and orange. You can put a bunch of holly on a white cream by cutting wee leaves of green angelica and tiny bits of candied cherries, pressing them into the cream before it hardens. A tiny green pine tree can be cut and pressed into the top of a cream.

When these pretty Christmas candies are packed into little gay baskets or painted tin boxes, they make the most attractive sort of gift to send around the neighborhood to nearby friends, or to give the Christmas caller. In addition, the fun of making them in the company of a kitchen-full of family or neighbors makes preliminary Christmas party that is nearly as delightful as the day itself. (Copyright.)

For Wrapping Gifts Fascinating hand-blocked papers from various lands are used as wrappings for Christmas gifts and in place of the usual ribbons there are thin paper ribbons in gay and festive colors.

CHILDRENS HOSPITAL RECEIVES MANY GIFTS

The spirit of Christmas was made evident in a material way by the Pleasantdale Needle Club Wednesday when canned goods and vegetables made up an automobile load for the Doernbecker Memorial Hospital in Portland for crippled children. Mrs. George B. Foster, president, and Mrs. O. F. Turner, vice-president, of the club, accompanied the delivery.

The donations were by members of the club which bears the distinction of contributing the largest sum to the hospital last year of any Yamhill county women's organization.

At present there are 66 children receiving treatment in the hospital. It is filled to capacity continuously. Little Margaret Addison, formerly of Pleasantdale, but now living near Salem, was cured in this institution last year of an eye affliction.
