THE BILLBOARDS (Editorial in Journal)

Judge Robert W. Sawyer of the state highway commission differs from many of the anti-billboard campaigners in that he makes an even-tempered proposal which may be put into effect without injustice.

First of all, he would persuade reputable outdoor advertising agencies and advertisers not to place posters where they would exercise more offense than appeal.

Then for those who have uniformly refused to cooperate—those who deface trees, fences, logs and buildings with tin tags and lurid pasteboard squares, and find no sylvan beauty center too sacred for their intrusion—he would bring to bear the force of law.

Just the form the law might take he does not yet know. Forcible removal of the signs is under attack on the ground that it is violation of the constitutional prohibition against removal of property without due process of law.

When a newspaper discusses bans upon outdoor advertising, it is deemed to be in a competitive sense. But the truth is that outdoor advertising governed by good taste both in form and location has its legitimate field.

HEALTH

UNDERNOURISHED CHILDREN

In order to detect undernourishment, children should be weighed monthly. If a child is underweight or does not gain the normal amount each month it should receive serious consideration.

The causes of undernourishment are lack of sufficient food; lack of the right kinds of food; eating irregularly between meals; excess of candy, sweets and pastry; excessive use of tea and coffee; insufficient mastication; habitual constipation, too long and vigorous playing, overwork in and out of school, decayed teeth and enlarged diseased tonsils.

Sunshine is important to the development and proper nourishment of children. The stimulating effects of sunshine are essential to maintaining physical as well as mental health.

Milk and eggs are foods needed to maintain proper nutrition. Eggs have a special value in the prevention of rickets. They are classed as protective foods rich in phosphorus, iron and calcium in organic constitution.

When a child should have at least four eggs a week.

Along the Seashore

Tide Table for Week Ending December 4, 1928, Port Orford, Oregon.

Table with columns for High and Low tide times for various days from Wednesday, Nov. 28 to Tuesday, Dec. 4.

It has been estimated that temporary teeth come through the gums practically perfect in 98 per cent of children. Teeth, like the rest of the skeleton structure, depend upon an adequate diet for their development and maintenance in health.

The calcification of the first set of teeth begins between the fourth and fifth month of pregnancy and the calcification of the first permanent teeth begins to be active in the last three months of prenatal life.

If pregnant women received ample well-balanced diets in which green vegetables were abundantly supplied; if cow's milk were regularly taken; if their infants were placed in the direct rays of the sun for a part of each day and were fed cod liver oil for the first two or three years of life, more could be accomplished in regard to the eradication of caries of teeth than in all other ways put together, and rickets would be abolished from the face of the earth.

Why take a chance on having your children undernourished?

Case of Scarlet Fever

Last Wednesday night little Dennis Sorenson was taken ill with scarlet fever and quarantined at the R. G. McKenzie home on Elk river.

What Government Owns

Few people realize what tremendous areas of the western states are owned and controlled by the federal government.

According to the Oregon State Motor association, the following figures are given relative to the 11 western states which are known as the "Eleven Public Land States."

According to the motor association's figures, the extent of territory or unappropriated forest, Indian and national park lands, owned or controlled by the federal government in the 11 western public land states is as follows:

Arizona, 66.8 per cent of area; California, 40.7; Colorado, 32.2; Idaho, 57.3; Montana, 30.8; Nevada, 84.2; New Mexico, 37.7; Oregon, 45.6; Utah, 66.3; Washington, 30.6; Wyoming, 51.8.

Mrs. Baker Entertained

Mrs. Mabel Gillings entertained with a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening honoring Mrs. E. J. Baker, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Marie Quellan the past week. The guests included Mrs. Baker, Miss Ruth Clark, Mrs. Mary Rice, Mrs. A. B. Hogatt and Miss Nettie Toole.

Fishtrap Drainage Board Gives Plans

Coquille, Nov. 15.—The commissioners of the newly created Fishtrap drainage district have made a report to the county court of the proposed improvements, which consist of a 72-inch drain under the present county road and a spillway built at the mouth of the pipe; a bulk head or suitable construction where the drainage ditch empties into the Coquille river; a suitable tide gate at the mouth of Fishtrap creek; also a tide gate at or near the mouth of the drainage ditch; a flume or other suitable construction to carry the water in Fishtrap creek over the drainage ditch; a channel change in Fishtrap ditch near the intersection of Fishtrap creek and the

The commissioners find that it will be necessary to appropriate one-fourth of an acre of land belonging to C. A. and Clara A. Keltner, and they have fixed the damage for such at $75. Damage to other property is but nominal, and this is fixed at $1 for each. Declaring that the lowlands will be benefited to a greater extent than the highlands, the former is assessed at $1 per acre for the proposed improvement, while the highlands are assessed at 50 cents per acre. There are a total of 237.49 acres of highlands. The report is signed by the commissioners E. L. Detlefsen, John Yoakam and E. L. Vinton.

LANGLOIS AND VICINITY We are glad to have a wedding to report this week, the first one from Langlois for many months. Miss Evelyn Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Black of Langlois, was quietly married to Homer Stokes in Vancouver on the tenth of this month.

An item which we unintentionally omitted several weeks ago was the organization of a married ladies basketball team in Langlois. We hope that it is not too late to be news at the present date. The following ladies are in the line-up: Mrs. Geo. Guerin, Mrs. H. C. Nichols, Mrs. Frank Kenworthy, Mrs. Chas. Fox, Mrs. H. H. Hansen and Mrs. C. L. Sparretorn, with Miss LaRue Corrick coach.

Don E. Wilson of upper Four Mile was in Langlois on business the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Haagenen and the News reporter were visitors at the Harve Smith home Monday last.

Mrs. A. J. Sweet is one of the latest victims of la grippe, she having been confined to the house for a week or more.

The Most Western grange held another interesting meeting Friday night. There was a large attendance, with delicious refreshments after the business session. This is not only the most western grange, but the only grange in Curry county. The following officers were elected at a previous meeting: H. H. Hansen, master; John M. Donaldson, overseer; Helen Kenworthy, secretary; W. E. Cope, treasurer; W. M. Russel, chaplain; Cora Hansen, lecturer; A. W. Britton, steward; Harold Sydnam, assistant steward; C. L. Berry, gate keeper; Linda Guerin, Pomona, Marjorie Jacobsen, Ceres; Mary O. Capps, Flora. Executive committee consists of Frank Kenworthy, W. E. Cope, J. S. Capps.

Howard Boice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Boice, was so seriously ill with la grippe last Sunday that Dr. Leep was called from Bandon and soon had the young man on his feet again.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Henry and son-in-law from Idaho are visiting Allie Henry in Del Norte county, California, this week.

J. I. Everest, wife and baby of Elk river were callers at the Corrick home Thursday last.

Guy Farrier of Sixes was a Langlois visitor Saturday.

Steve Reed and wife of near Broadbent, Coos county, were diners at the Hutton cafe Saturday.

Mrs. Thelma Peer and small daughter, Beverly May, of Portland are guests of relatives at Laurel Inn this week.

Willis Baker of Bandon is registered at Laurel Inn.

The Oregon Fern company has put on additional men this week and will rush the work of shipping ferns, Oregon grape and huckleberry fronds for the holiday trade in the eastern cities. The following families have secured houses at or near the Adolphsen mill site south of Denmark, so as to be near the working base: Glen Anderson, John Howard, Bud Hare, Jess Hare and Clint Donaca.

The Misses Edna and Vera LeClare of Wedderburn are spending the week-end with their sister, Mrs. Alvin Christensen.

Bert Hoggatt was in Langlois Friday on his way to his home in Port Orford from the Adolphsen logging camp near Camas valley.

Chas. Farrier, who was in Leep hospital several days last week with a badly strained leg, is able to be around again. Mr. Farrier said that this is only the third time he has been in a hospital from injuries to that same leg—got to be a habit has it, Charlie?

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Smith and Mrs. Eunice Jamieson were visiting friends on Sixes river Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. E. W. Black, Mrs. Florence Chapman, Miss Erma Ellis, Miss May Youngmayr, Wilbur Chapman and Evert Strain were shopping in Bandon Saturday.

Autumn, so far, has touched our little community lightly, though we have had several cool nights with white frost—both the wild flowers and those in the gardens are blooming as if summer were still with us. Miss Mary Sorensen at Laurel Inn has a yard full of beautiful flowers, while at Mrs. Malehorn's the calla plants are almost ready to send up their bloom buds for the second time this year, and a wonderful pink fuchsia beside the house is fairly drooping with the weight of blooms, and rivals any plant of its kind we have ever seen. In several homes we have seen blooms of the rhododendron, while from the nearby farms come the liquid notes of the meadowlark, the sweetest singer of all our wild birds—so our summer, though short this year, is not yet out of sight. Anyone in the vicinity of Langlois (and that means from Four Mile on the north to Elk river on the south) who does not see his or her name in the local happenings occasionally, will confer a favor on the News reporter by letting us know what you are doing, have Thanksgiving guests to dinner, give a party, get married, die, elope with the hired man or the cook, or do any other wise or foolish thing, tell us about it. If you do not see the reporter on the street, go into the Oliver Bros. New Store and tell them, giving dates, etc. We will do the rest. We cannot report what we do not know and cannot personally visit each house. So please do your bit, especially the business men. Remember we should all be working together to keep this little town on the map.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hatton were Bandon visitors Saturday.

C. C. Ponting was in Bandon Thursday afternoon.
