4-H Girls To See Spring Fashions

Local 4-H Club members will learn how to fill a "FASHION PRESCRIPTION" when Simplicity's 4-H Club Stylist, Miss Eleanor J. Echo, is here to show her new spring wardrobe. This new-for-fun wardrobe of patterns is entitled "FASHION PRESCRIPTIONS" and will be presented in Curry County on March 27th at the Gold Beach Elementary School Multipurpose Room starting at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Echo, Simplicity's Fashion M. D., will show 4-H girls fashion remedies for spring, the newest pattern designs as well as the brightest dose of gay spring fabrics. Each 4-H girl can follow these lovely fashion formulas when preparing her very own wardrobe.

Miss Echo is well qualified as an expert on 4-H fashion. She herself was a 4-H club member in New Jersey before going to the University of Miami to receive her degree in Home Economics. She was a 4-H Club agent in Michigan, then joined the Simplicity Educational staff as 4-H Club stylist. In her work, she travels throughout the country helping to guide 4-H Club girls with their own clothing and good grooming problem.

Throughout the fashion presentation, Miss Echo will emphasize the importance of selecting styles which best suit the needs of the young 4-H Miss. She will then prescribe the best way to combine the correct style with the proper choice in fabric, color and notions. The girls will be encouraged to follow those "fashion prescriptions" which are most flattering to their own figure and personality types. Good grooming and good posture remedies will also be discussed.

ments" a special group of daytime shift dresses. Red, white and blue in an "Rx for Fun" showing many leisure-time looks. Finally, it's pink, pink, pink... for dates in slim and bouffant designs.

Models for the show will be 4-H Club members... all the styles in the show are ones they can sew for themselves. Every girl will be anxious to follow a "Fashion Prescription" for her very own wardrobe after seeing the exciting collection.

Miss Echo reports that working with 4-H Club girls is an stimulating and satisfying experience for they are alert and well-informed about fashion and the importance of good grooming at all times. The girls can rely on her for grooming tips and accessory ideas, and she has a keen awareness of the fashion needs of these girls who "make and model" their own clothes.
