Beach Measure Still Supported

Citizens to Save Oregon Beaches, the group which failed to get its initiative measure on the November 5 ballot due, its sponsors say, to time restriction, will carry the issue to the state legislature.

"We have already re-filed our constitutional amendment for initiative action with the Secretary of State, the ballot title has already been cleared, and many organizations are ready to start circulating petitions," says Dr. Robert L. Bacon, chairman of the group. "We are holding up petition circulation, however," he adds, "because several members of the legislature have asked us to submit our bill at the coming session and have volunteered to sponsor and support it."

The citizens' group petition failed to get sufficient signers, Bacon says, because its circulators had less than a month to work. "At that," he declares, "we came within 10,000 names of making the ballot."

Initiative 6, Bacon maintains, failed at the recent election only because of its tax feature. "I am thoroughly convinced," he states, "that Oregonians are never going to permit their beaches to become the exclusive property of developers and other special interests."

"We are confident," Bacon says, "that all the people who were behind Ballot No. 6, plus thousands who were confused by the oil company campaign, are going to support us in the renewed drive to save the Oregon beaches." There is no gas tax tied to the measure Bacon and his group is promoting. There will be a big effort to get the bill through the 1969 legislature, Bacon says.

"If the legislative effort fails or attempts to emasculate the bill are successful," he adds, "we shall immediately pull our measure off the floor and take it to the people by initiative petition."

Made a brief but interesting tour of the Elk River hatchery Tuesday morning with commissioner Ira Tucker... with Supt. Reed White as guide. White said it will be probably two or three more weeks before salmon will be spawning in enough quantity to begin taking eggs, but at least we had a good look at the facility that is designed to fill Curry streams with salmon... and everything is in operating order.

One thing for sure... besides the benefit to fish propagation... the hatchery is going to be a real show-place for visitors. All roads and parking area have been paved by the county and landscaping is well underway. That, along with the beautiful natural setting of the Elk River and mountains, should bring a feeling of pride to the local folks.

As soon as spawning salmon begin entering the trap on Anvil Creek I will be on hand to capture all the activity with my little ol' camera for a big two-page spread in the News.

After visiting the hatchery, Reed White stopped by the office to inform us that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary E. Mulkey, who lives with them at the hatchery, is one of the oldest living graduates of Oregon Agricultural College (Now Oregon State University). Mrs. Mulkey received her diploma way back in 1895... and celebrated her 93rd birthday Tuesday. Happy Birthday, Mrs. Mulkey!

Don't forget the election Monday on the school boundary change. Polls are open from 8 to 8 at Langlois and local grade schools. So far the only published discussion on the subject has been for the change... not a word from the staff and bus transportation, and one building (the old high school) would be closed in Langlois. Saving from this would come to some where around $23,000 per year.

But there is the loss of revenue that has to be considered, as well. Receipts from basic school support and the county would drop along with the evaluation... for a total of about $80,000. This would make an estimated annual net loss of about $57,000 that would have to be picked up by taxpayers in the Curry portion of the district if the change were approved.

And, from the word I get, Curry patrons might also be stuck with the Coos county portion of the district's bonded indebtedness.

There are still a few days left so why not talk to school board members and administrators before casting your vote Monday.

LETTERS to the Editor

They're For The Boundary Change

To The Editor:
 The education of children is accepted and carried on by everyone, all over America. Taxpayers are great for complaining about the cost of government, foreign aid, welfare and all alleged waste of tax money; but people seldom complain about the cost of educating their children. Even taxpayers who have no children expect to have the best schools possible. All of us are proud when our school and local students are just a little better in an accomplishment of achievement including sports activities, than neighboring schools.

To have the best possible school, we must have harmony in the entire community between the parents, the school administrators, the children and their teachers. Our children deserve this. They should not be subjected to continuous discussions at school or at home concerning their school and the quality of their education.

Everyone who is interested is aware of the reasons for an election on Nov. 25. We fail, as relative "newcomers" to the area, to see the logic in the existing school boundaries. It is our contention that sometime in the past, lack of interest or study of the situation created the existing problem. Now, therefore, in the interest of progress and future growth of the area, we feel that the energy expended in bringing this to an election by the people, for and against, can be used to make the needed change. Certainly the people who are dissatisfied will be happier if you vote yes; and if they think about it, the people who are against the change will realize that the dissenters will never be an asset to 2CJ, thereby creating more future friction.

The quality of education, we believe, is not in question! The question is why are some of the people so dissatisfied and discontented? It is simply a matter of geography and logic! Every interest and service these people enjoy is in Bandon. Even their most common convenience, the telephone, is direct to Bandon; but to call their schools, it is a toll call.

We have said enough! We believe everyone should vote "yes" on Nov. 25.

TO THE EDITOR

A sincere thanks to you from the Oregon Traffic Safety Commission!

Often, we ask for your help, but seldom do we pause to express our appreciation. We are grateful for all the public service and news time and space you contribute to our spot announcements and new releases.

This, however, seems to us to be a particularly appropriate time to offer a special thanks. After you answered our request for help in publicizing our Oregon Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders conference, interest and pre-registration increased greatly. Many registrants mentioned specifically that their interest stemmed from radio or TV announcements or news stories.

The conference, held November 7 and 8, was a success, with 130 women attending--and we believe much of this success can be attributed to you.

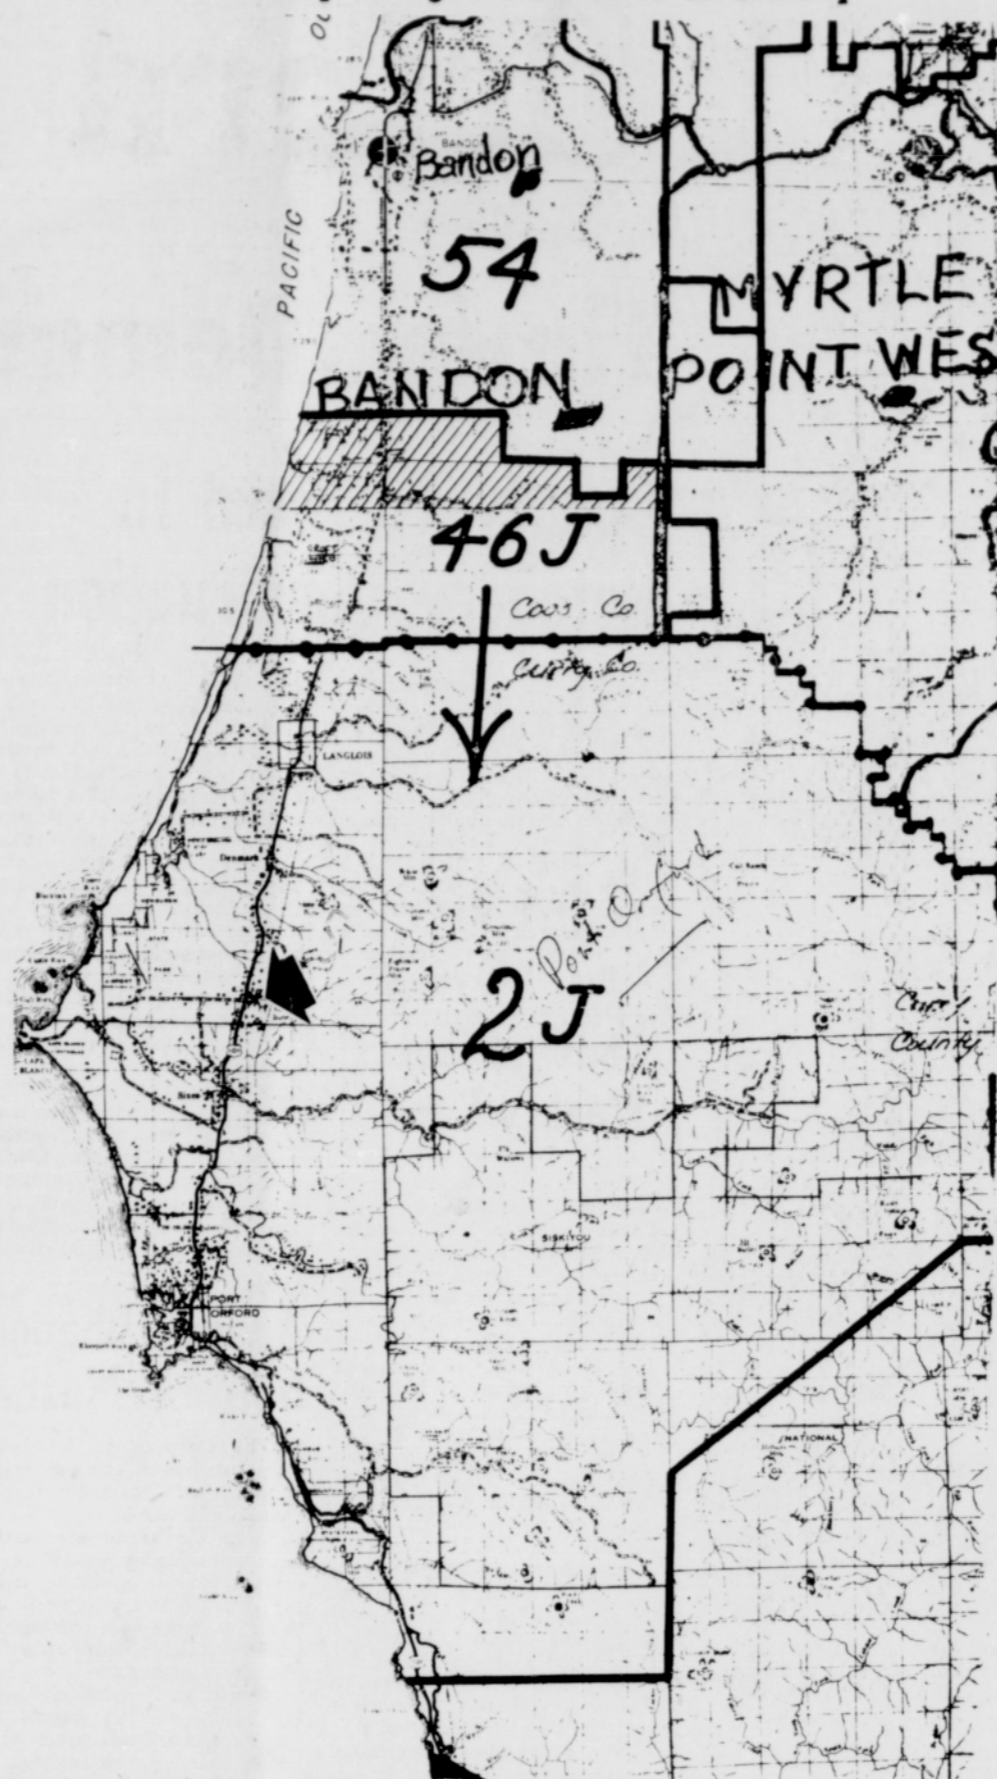

Again, thank you for your past and continuing efforts in advancing traffic safety in our community.

Sincerely,
 HOWARD L. EDDY
 Executive Secretary

Boundary Change To Be Voted On Monday

MAP of Port Orford-Langlois School District 2CJ, including that part labeled 46J which has petitioned to join School District 54 (Bandon), is pictured above.

An election has been set for Monday from 8 to 8 at the Langlois and Port Orford primary schools for all voters in District 2CJ.

According to one proponent of the boundary change, the northern-most portion of the affected area (shaded on the map) includes about 70% of the homes in the entire area. Pacific High School is designated by an arrow, in an attempt to show the relation of distance from the Laurel Grove-Four Mile area to the district's high school.

Simple Changes In Eating Habits Can Protect Heart

Many healthy persons may unknowingly be increasing their risk of heart attack by eating a typical American diet, Oregon Heart Association warns. But moderate changes in such a diet can reduce this risk.

One aim should be to cut down on the intake of cholesterol and saturated fats, which contribute to atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries underlying most heart attacks. At the same time, there are other goals to keep in mind--maintenance of a nutritionally-adequate diet and through calorie control, remaining at a desirable weight.

To help achieve these aims, Oregon Heart Association suggests in today's article those specific foods that should be used more frequently, and others which should be used sparingly, or not at all. Changes in eating habits can be applied to every meal of the day, and in every course of the meal from appetizer to dessert--literally from soup (skimmed of fat) to nuts (which have no cholesterol and are low in saturated fat).

Chicken, turkey, veal and fish are low in saturated fats, and should be used in most of the meat meals during the week. No more than five meals a week should include beef, lamb, pork or ham. At that, the housewife should choose lean cuts of these meats and trim off visible fat before cooking. Bake, broil, roast or stew the meats and discard the liquid fats which cook out. Certain high-protein vegetables--dried beans and peas, baked beans, lentils--occasionally may be used in place of meat. Three to four ounces of cooked meat or fish (not counting bone or fat) or a similar amount of a high-protein vegetable is recommended as an average serving.

Among the fat-laden foods to be avoided are duck, goose, spareribs, mutton, frankfurters, sausages, fatty hamburger.

Coos Concert Is Tonight

As its second concert of the season, the Coos Community Concert Association will present Carl Matthes, young American pianist, tonight (Thursday), at Marshfield High School auditorium. Concert time is 8:15 p.m. A native of Los Angeles, Matthes gave his first concert at the age of six, at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music. He first gained national attention in 1960 when he was the youngest competitor in a nationwide piano competition sponsored by the National Society of Arts and Letters. So close were the two pianists that the judges immediately originated a second prize and gave it to Matthes. The other winner was the now-renowned pianist, Malcolm Frager. Matthes went on to win many other top competitions, and after a period of study in Europe, gave his successful European debut in London. He performed in several music festivals in Europe and Canada, then returned to the United States where he made his first concert tour. It was on this tour that he was informed that he had been chosen to perform in Carnegie Hall in a concert sponsored by the Carnegie Hall Corporation and the United States Mission to the United Nations. United States Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was host at the gala reception and concert to dignitaries from all over the world.

Included in Matthes program is a wide variety of selections including Bach, Mozart, and Beethoven, through Chopin, Granados, and Ravel.

A note of caution also applies to the use of butter rolls, commercial biscuits, muffins (but not English muffins), doughnuts, sweet rolls, crackers and commercial mixes containing dried eggs and whole milk, sources of both cholesterol and saturated fats. But skim milk fortified with vitamins A and D, skim milk cheeses, buttermilk and yogurt should be used often.

Registration Rules Under New Gun Law

Detailed procedures for registering machine gun, sawed-off shotgun, sawed-off rifle, silencer, deactivated war trophy and other destructive devices were announced today by A. G. Erickson, District Director of Internal Revenue for Oregon.

The Gun Control Act of 1968 requires that weapons and devices of this type must be registered with the Internal Revenue Service by December 1.

Mr. Erickson said that copies of registration Form 4467 are available at Alcohol & Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington D. C. 20224. The third copy may be kept by the owner of the firearm or destructive device. Firearms or destructive devices should not be brought to and IRS office to be registered, Mr. Erickson said.

Under the new law all firearms and destructive devices requiring registration must be identified by a serial number. If a firearm or device does not have a serial number, the owner should phone, visit, or write the nearest Alcohol & Tobacco Tax office and a number will be assigned.

After obtaining the number, the owner is responsible for affixing it to the firearm or device before completing the registration form. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the nearest Alcohol & Tobacco Tax or other IRS office.

Woman Charged

Mrs. Lola Windmaiser, Port Orford, entered a plea of not guilty when she was arraigned on charges of assault and battery before District Judge Sam Hall Tuesday.

The complaint was brought by Mrs. Beverly Foster, also of Port Orford.

According to information, attorneys for both parties have set December 3 to meet with Judge Hall to determine a trial date.

VOTE YES
 END THE DISCONTENT OF THOSE IN 2CJ LIVING NEAR BANDON!
 People living in the area from McTimmonds Road south to the Curry County line have a controversy.
 All services and government come from Bandon and Coos County.
 Why should their children go out of their local area for education?
 Why should 2CJ be burdened with the harassment, confusion and dissent that exists?
