KRIBS GUESTS

Guests for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Kribs in Port Orford were Mrs. Edith Wright from Bakersfield and her sister, Mrs. Otis Scott, from Sacramento. Mrs. Wright had fallen in love with this coast area while on another visit and was happy to show its beauties to her sister. The Kribs and their guests took the jet boat trip up the Rogue River on Wednesday.

SINGERS ARE GUESTS

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Sharp of Port Orford have really had a house-full during the stay of the Key-Folk Singers who have put on concerts in various towns in this area. The young people ate their meals at the Sharp home and used their home as headquarters. A grand time was enjoyed by the hosts as well as the singers.

AT RECEPTION

Mrs. Cecil Colson and daughter Rhonda, went to Portland last week to visit Mr. Colson's mother, Mrs. Mary Colson, and while there earned peaches to be enjoyed this winter. They came down to Sheridan on Sunday and helped celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Thomas. All six children of the honored couple were in attendance, all of their grandchildren, Mr. Thomas' two brothers and Mrs. Thomas' five brothers and sisters.

Following the reception the eighty immediate relatives had a picnic and Mrs. Colson had a visit with a nephew whom she hadn't seen for fifteen years.

On their way home Mrs. Colson and Rhonda stopped in Empire to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seger. He has had a stroke but is recovering very nicely.

HINES GET FRUIT

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hines of Port Orford drove to the Deering Orchard between Coburg and Harrisburg last week and brought home a pickupload of peaches and garden produce to be enjoyed by them and their neighbors.

GRANDSONS VISIT

Mrs. Ada McIntire of Port Orford is enjoying a visit with two grandsons, one from Los Gatos and the other from Azusa, Calif.

HATMAKER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hatmaker from Redwood City, Calif., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hatmaker in Langlois. On Wednesday of last week their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Boone and family from Gold Beach, drove up to have dinner with her family in Langlois.

BACK FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brooks of Langlois have returned from a trip with their grandson and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Brooks, Jr., and great-grandchildren, Kelly and Christy, of Eugene. They first went to the Skeenie River in Canada and found they had missed the big salmon run by one week. They planned to go on to visit their son, Jim, in Alaska, but it was raining all the time and a tourist told them the road to where they would take their boat to go on up by way of the Inland Passage was practically impassable (he had broken two springs on his car), they decided to return to Oregon. Don and family returned by the Coast route and Clarence and Mrs. Brooks took the route through the Okanagan Valley in Washington and down into Eastern Oregon, getting together again at the Rogue River where they camped at various places, finding they had missed the salmon run there too. They returned home last Saturday.

PROVIDE SERVICES

Communities all over Oregon depend on the University of Oregon Bureau of Governmental Research and Service for up-to-date information on financing, taxes, city and county ordinances, zoning, community planning, and even model charters.

ENJOY TRAVELS

Mrs. Erma Hague of Port Orford has returned from a long-to-be-remembered vacation trip into Canada, going with her son, Jack Short and family, from Walla Walla, Wash.

At Port Angeles, Wash., the travelers drove to Victoria, B. C., and boarded "The Queen of Prince Rupert" for the 22-hour trip to Prince Rupert, choosing the stormiest day that area had had all season. Nearly everyone got desperately sick and did not recover until the boat got into the Narrows where the water was calm.

A visit to Skoglund Hot Springs 20 miles out of Terrace was interesting, said Mrs. Hague. They were told that a wealthy person from Hollywood had bought an interest in the Springs and would help develop them.

The group then went to Wells where there were overnight accommodations and from where they could visit the old mining town of Barkerville, which dates back to 1862. The Canadian government has bought the town and is restoring it. They found the drug store, doctor's office, theatre and several other places refurbished and "inhabited" by wax figures until they were transported back to real pioneer days. A group of actors go to Barkerville and twice a day put on old-fashioned vaudeville shows which fit in with the history of the town.

The program is all recorded and the members of the group were able to purchase records and pictures to remind them of this most interesting experience.

After leaving Wells and Barkerville the tourists drove to Kamloops and back into the United States at Omak, Wash., coming back to Walla Walla the next day, then to Port Orford for Mrs. Hague with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Forty. She brought her great-grandsons, Byron and Vernon Forty, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Forty of Albany, home with her and will take them to Portland this week to attend the wedding of their uncle, Jack Preston.
