

To Sell Poppies

Big Game Hunters Can Expect Conservative Fall Seasons

If we read the signs correctly nimrods can expect another conservative year of big game hunting and will probably find the going just about as tough as it was last year. The conservative outlook is based on the aftermath of severe winter mortalities in 1968-69 on many big game winter ranges and it usually takes at least two or more years for the animals to recover.

Biologists of the Game Commission report almost no losses this past winter and on most ranges the animals remained widely dispersed, healthy, and alert. However, fawn and yearling carryover of deer remains below normal as a result of the severe effects on the population by the hard 1969 winter.

Black-tailed deer in northwestern Oregon, which were hardest hit, remain well below normal and it is doubtful that any unit permits will be issued or special hunts held this fall. Some recovery is noted in a few areas of southwestern Oregon but the total west side population index remains below the long-term average.

On the mule deer ranges of eastern Oregon fawn production declined slightly from last year although central Oregon showed improved production. Also, buck numbers are down slightly which will probably influence another short general deer season comparable to last year. Hunters can also expect conservatism in the number of unit permits allocated, with most of these probably set for northwestern Oregon units.

The Roosevelt elk hunting picture looks fair, with the herds still feeling the effects of the 1969 winter. Some recovery is evident in the northwest but the overall population for the Coast and Cascade areas is down 15 percent from the long-term average. Hunters can also expect closures in the Polk and portions of the Santiam and Siuslaw units, the sites of recent Roosevelt elk transplants.

The Rocky Mountain elk outlook is fairly bright with calf production almost identical to last year and an increase of 9 percent in the overall population. However, the increase was not uniform throughout northeastern Oregon and some units showed slight declines. According to the outlook, elk hunters can expect similar results to last year and a season about the same number of days in length.

Antelope herds look good, with the second highest number of pronghorns observed on the census routes since 1950 and about 33 percent above the count last year. Improvement in kid production is also recorded. It is anticipated that some increase in hunting opportunities will be recommended.

Bighorn sheep populations also look good with a high number of mature rams observed at both Hart Mountain and the Steens. As a result, an increase in the number of tags may be in the offing. Mountain goat populations do not appear to be increasing in the Willowa Mountains and it is improbable that hunting will be allowed this fall. Archery hunters should do okay with few changes from the seasons last year.

The foregoing is a crystal-ball glimpse into what we feel will be the big game outlook and hunting opportunities for this fall. What the seasons will be remains to be seen. The decision will be made by members of the Game Commission who will set the rules at the annual big game regulations hearing on May 23 and June 6. We are sure, however, that recommendations from staff biologists will be quite conservative.

SAMPLE BALLOT FOR MEASURES

Precinct No.
Curry County, Oregon

At the PRIMARY NOMINATING ELECTION to be held on Tuesday, the 26th day of May, 1970

MARK A CROSS (X) OR A CHECK MARK (✓) INSIDE THE VOTING SQUARE AFTER THE WORD "YES" OR AFTER THE WORD "NO".

STATE REFERRED TO THE PEOPLE BY THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

1. CAPITAL CONSTRUCTION BONDS FOR STATE GOVERNMENT —

Purpose: Constitutional Amendment authorizing issuance of general obligation bonds not to exceed at any one time one-fourth of 1% of true cash value of all taxable property. The bond revenues are to finance the cost of building and other state government projects, and to be repaid from gifts, rentals, parking and other building fees. The legislature, however, may impose a property tax if such gifts, rentals and fees are insufficient to pay indebtedness.

Yes
No

ESTIMATE OF FINANCIAL EFFECTS: This amendment would provide an additional borrowing method to finance self-liquidating and self-supporting general state buildings and other projects. Based on the estimate of 1971 true cash value, the maximum amount of bonds which the legislature could authorize would be approximately $50 million. This amendment would make it possible for the state to reduce interest annual rates at which it borrows money by more than 2%—a possible saving of approximately $1 million a year.

2. REPEALS "WHITE FOREIGNER" SECTION OF CONSTITUTION —

Purpose: Repeals Section 31 of Article I of Oregon Constitution which discriminates against non-white foreigners and purports to give the state of Oregon authority to regulate immigration. The purpose of this measure is to eliminate from the Oregon Constitution a provision which is invalid because it conflicts with the U. S. Constitution.

Yes
No

3. REVISED CONSTITUTION FOR OREGON —

Purpose: Provides for a new and revised Oregon Constitution. Deletes obsolete provisions and makes changes including but not limited to: increases membership of both houses of Legislature by 5; expands right to counsel for indigents; exempts from 6% limitation first annual levy of a newly created taxing unit; prohibits state from selling or giving away state owned ocean shore.

Yes
No

4. POLLUTION CONTROL BONDS —

Purpose: Authorizes bonds up to 1% of true cash value of taxable property in state to provide funds to municipal corporations, cities, counties and agencies of state, or combinations thereof, to construct facilities for control of pollution on land, in air and water of state, such facilities to be at least 70% self-supporting and self-liquidating from revenues, gifts, federal grants, user charges, assessments and fees. Supersedes conflicting charter requirements.

Yes
No

ESTIMATE OF FINANCIAL EFFECTS: This amendment would allow the state to sell bonds to establish a fund from which loans, advances or grants could be made to local governments to finance pollution abatement and control facilities. Based on the 1971 estimate of Oregon's taxable property, a maximum of $200 million of bonds could be authorized by the Legislature. The 1969 Legislative Session has authorized up to $50 million of the total limit established by this measure. Average principal and interest payments to amortize a $50 million bond issue over 30 years would be approximately $4 million a year. It is intended that (a maximum of) only 30% ($1.2 million a year) of this total cost would be a charge against the state and (at least) 70% ($2.8 million a year) of the cost of paying off the bonds would be a charge against local governments which constructed the facilities. The local portion of bond repayments would be financed from federal grants and user fees and assessments—not from property taxes. This amendment would also make it possible for the state to lend its superior credit rating to local governments so that local governments would gain the advantage of lower interest rates.

5. LOWERS OREGON VOTING AGE TO 19 —

Purpose: Amends Oregon Constitution to lower the legal voting age from 21 to 19 years of age.

Yes
No

6. LOCAL SCHOOL PROPERTY TAX EQUALIZATION MEASURE —

Purpose: Amends Oregon Constitution by providing for an exception to 6% limitation on property taxes. Authorizes legislature to increase tax bases for taxing units (such as a county), but requires that the proceeds from the higher tax must be used to reduce tax levies made by school districts. The purpose of this measure is to provide the legislature more flexibility in equalizing school property tax burdens within a county or other taxing units.

(7) He shall supervise the operation of all public utilities owned and operated by the city and shall have general supervision over all city property.

(8) He shall act as business agent of the council for the sale of real estate and other matters relating to franchise and leases.

(9) He shall meet with private citizens and interested groups seeking information or bringing complaints and shall attempt to resolve all problems relating thereto on behalf of the city tactfully and fairly.

(10) He shall perform such other duties as may from time to time be required by the council, not inconsistent with the city charter or ordinances.

(11) Neither the council nor any of its members shall direct or request the appointment of any person to or his removal from office by the city manager or in any manner take part in the appointment or removal of officers and employees in the administrative service of the city. Except for the purpose of inquiry, the council and its members shall deal with the administrative service solely through the city manager and neither the council nor any member thereof shall give orders to any subordinates of the city manager either publicly or privately.

(d) Seats at Council Meetings. The manager and such other officers as the council designates shall be entitled to sit with the council but shall have no vote on questions before it. The manager may take part in all council discussions.

Each voter is asked to state name, address and party when requesting a ballot at the polls... usually the board may know you but poll watchers may not. It is also a double check to see if the information we have for address is up-to-date and to be sure you are given the right ballots according to registration.

Also, please fold ballots up to the black line (where it says FOLD TO THIS LINE), fold it once again and then once over the other way. This will leave the ballot stub properly exposed to be torn off.

Individually these are small matters but over a 12 hour period of giving out and depositing ballots it will be of great help to the election boards over the county.
