BULL RUN

The Bull Run Community Club met at the school house Friday March 31st. Twenty members were present and a very pleasant and profitable time was had. Funds were voted for the purchase of a splendid carbon gravure copy of Rydall's Mill, to be hung on the school wall. Arrangements were fully completed for the playground equipment and plans were detailed for a mystery supper and a program which will be held at the Bull Run Union Sunday school, April, 29th at 7:30 p. m.

The L. W. Card club meets at Mrs. Lester Townsends April 5th.

Mrs. Emma May Montgomery died at the family residence on March 31, at the age of 32 years, four months and 24 days. She is survived by her husband W. H. Montgomery and six children, Kent, Irene, Margaret, Willard, George and Olive. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Montgomery parents of W. H. Montgomery, were present at the funeral, from Cannant, Ohio. Services were held at the Bull Run Union church. Interment in Cliff Side cemetery.

The Ladies card club, of Bull Run, will meet at Mrs. Kealiders April 5th and at Mrs. Bradfords April 12th.

Quite a leak was discovered in Portland's water supply pipe line No. 2 last week. City Water Engineer, Clark, Assistant Engineer, Fred Ranlet, Water Superintendent, Kaiser and Commissioner Doly were out to view the damages. Irish Maupin had some men digging out the pipe.

R. A. Clark and George Townsend were in town last week and bought them a new car a piece. A Chevrolet.

GEORGE

Spring is here.

The farmers are all busy sowing grass seed, grain and planting potatoes and gardens.

Rev. Hoffner, of Bethany, was the guests at Peter Ruhl's over Sunday and held services in the church, in the morning and afternoon. The attendance at Christian Endeavor at night is always good.

School closed Wednesday with a picnic in which the children and parents all took part. Miss Duncan has returned to her home in Oswego.

Rosie Jansson and Gladys Joyner were Sunday visitors at Harders.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ahnert visited at Peter Rath's Sunday.

A. W. Lee has been busy the past week or two hauling cedar shakes for Leo Rath's new barn.

Fred Lins, the road supervisor, improved the road very much by having them dragged.

Leo Rath hauled a load of lumber from Sandy Friday.

Mr. Weiderhold and A. Jansson are both getting ready to build new barns this spring.

Fred Lins is putting up some new wire fence.

Carl Rath is having some slashing done.

H. C. Stephens, who is president of the East Clackamas Fair board called a meeting of all members of the board Saturday to make arrangements for the fair to be held at Estacada this year.

Irene Paulsen returned Saturday from a weeks visit with relatives and friends in Portland.

A number of farmers were busy last week hauling potatoes to Estacada.

DOVER

Sandy Grange meets next Saturday, April 9th, at 10:00 a. m. in all day session. There will be 3rd and 4th degree work in the forenoon and a lecture hour and literary programme in the afternoon. All come. I. O. O. F. hall.

The D. D. bunch attended the card party and dance given by Mrs. W. Fisher in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Chase, of Walla Walla, Washington, who is here on a visit. All report a very enjoyable time.

Alfred Shirley left Monday morning for the logging camp. He says this is the last you will see of him until July 4th. The jobs seem to be hunting the laborers just now which is quite an agreeable change. It's the vote you see.

Louis Bodley and wife spent Sunday on the ranch with Don and Jessie and returned in the evening.

Lee Cooper hauled a load of household goods to Portland last Monday for Mrs. John Bingham.

Pomona Grange meets at Damascens next Wednesday April 12, for an all day and evening session. All patrons who have taken the 5th degree and are in good standing are invited to attend this meeting. It is important and close to home for Sandy patrons.

Birch Roberts and Don Bodley furnished violin and banjo music for the jolly crowd at Mrs. W. Fisher's party last Saturday night.

Charles Uplegrave sowed grain for Mr. Oji last week.

The farmers and gardeners are all cratching around early and late since

VENUS DE' MEDICI.

The Finding and the Restoration of the Famous Statue.

You have smiled at the story of the recently rich lady who objected to a statue of the Venus of Milo because the dealer had sent her a broken statue instead of a good new one. Do you happen to know in what state of dilapidation the other famous Venus was found when her remains were unearthed in Rome in the sixteenth century? The Venus de' Medici was discovered along with several important pieces of antique art when the excavation had reached the depth of Hadrian's villa. It is claimed by some authorities that the marble goddess had been an adornment of the original home of the Caesars. But it made no stir in the art world until it had been restored and taken to Florence by Cosimo de' Medici. The restoration was almost as important as the work of the artist who modeled and chiseled the lovely figure in the high noon of art before the Christian era.

The statue has been credited to Cleomenes by some scholars, while others insist that it was done by an obscure Greek sculptor as late as the time of Augustus. The work of restoration was given over to the father of Bernini, that Neapolitan genius who was at once architect, painter and sculptor and who served two such patrons as Pope Urban VIII and Louis XIV. of France. The elder Bernini, whose talents reflected so advantageously on the court of that Medici who was both Duke of Florence and Duke of Tuscany, is scarcely known to fame. Yet he took the thirteen fragments of marble and restored by means of them the most beautiful woman in the world.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TIMELY POULTRY HINTS.

If you intend to use hens for hatching set them in a dry place where the ventilation is good.

If you do not intend to use hens for hatching break them up at once and get them to laying again.

A good way to break up a broody hen is to put her in a light, dry coop with a wire or slat bottom that you can hang up. This permits free circulation of air, and as it blows up through the fluff it reduces the fever which is in their blood at this time.

This is the time to get out your winter layers. Hens suffer from a damp henhouse, so it is well to keep the floor covered with litter.

Keep a flock of hens, a good cow or two, prepare for a good garden this year, and you won't have to complain of the high cost of living.—North Dakota Agricultural College.

Venice of Brazil.

Pernambuco is called the Venice of Brazil on account of its numerous lakes, rivers, waterways and an immense coral reef with which nature has completely encircled the city and inside of which all but the very largest ocean vessels anchor.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR THE COUNTY OF CLACKAMAS

vs.

Archibald Howard and Bessie Howard, Defendants.

SUMMONS

To Archibald Howard and Bessie Howard, Defendants:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you and each of you, in the above entitled action on or before the 8th day of April, A. D. 1916, and if you fail to answer or appear, for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit:

For a judgement in the sum of $750.00, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum from October 10, 1914, until paid; for the further sum of $75.00 attorney's fees and for his costs and disbursements herein, and that execution issue therefore. That the usual decree may be made for the sale of the property described in plaintiff's complaint, by the sheriff of said County, according to law, and the practice of this court. That the proceeds of said sale may be applied to the payment of the amount due plaintiff. That said defendants and all persons claiming under them, subsequent to the execution of said mortgage upon the said premises, either as purchasers or encumbrancers, or otherwise, may be barred and foreclosed of all rights, claims or equity of redemption in the said premises and every part thereof.

That the plaintiff or any other party to this suit may become a purchaser at said sale, that the sheriff shall execute a deed to the purchaser; that the purchaser be let into the possession of the said premises upon production of the sheriff's certificate of sale therefor, and that the plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises, as to the court, may seem meet and agreeable to equity.

This summons is published by virtue of an order made by J. U. Campbell, Judge of the above entitled court, on the 24th day of February, A. D. 1916, directing that same be published in the Sandy News, a newspaper of general circulation, published at Sandy in Clackamas County Oregon.

SONGS THAT LIVE.

Stephen Foster's Ballads Won the Heart of America.

Stephen C. Foster, the writer of America's most distinctive songs, may or may not have lived in the golden age of American music—that each may decide for himself—but it was at least a glittering age. Foster fashioned his songs, sang them and died. They were American. And Foster has had no successor.

In that day many persons sang and played. Every little hamlet had its singing society. Music was in the hands of the people and for the people and to the people and even of the people Foster composed. His songs have lived. "The Old Folks at Home," "Nellie Gray," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming"—these and others from his pen have survived many strange and weird twists and turns in the history of American music. They were born out of the heart of the nation.

Foster's name may not be entitled to place with great composers, and musicians may turn contemptuously away from his songs, but his songs live. That may not make them greater music in the judgment of musicians, but it gives them claim to respect. He was a "popular" song writer. We have "popular" song writers today. Their number is legion. But there is no Foster among them.—Indianapolis News.
