CHERRYVILLE

Everybody talking war or going to war.

The gentle rains have greatly helped growing grain and grass.

Miss Lillian B. Averill went to Aberdeen, Washington, this week to visit with her brother over the fourth.

A Mr. Keil, of Cosmopolis, Washington, has jumped the Moore boys R. R. claim, 1 mile east of the postoffice.
This is a very good claim, but the Moore boys abandoned it and so it was open for the next one. Mr. Keil is a sober, industrious young man and is a credit to any community.

Rev. Mr. Randall, in charge of the Boy Scout camp here, occupied the pulpit here last Sunday and delivered a fine discourse.

The citizens of this community will gather at the cemetery on July 14th and clean up the premises. Everybody invited. Free dinner at the noon hour.

Mrs. Murray has a very heavy crop of clover and on the two acres of land they will raise enough hay in the two cuttings to winter their stock of cattle and horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Friel, at the Hotel, now have their dining room painted and papered in great shape. This makes one of the most attractive dining rooms of any of our summer hotels.

There is worlds of pasture extending in every direction all around us, and stock of all kinds are looking unusually fine. It is no exaggeration to say that ten thousand head could live here for the next six months.

Lee Johnson and his grandmother have come back from Eastern Oregon to hold down their claim south of town.

One of the most beautiful floral displays ever seen is in Eagle Creek, where one of the citizens has a front yard that is a gorgeous array of Shirley poppies, Canterbury bells of several colors, and roses of every kind and color. There is a splendor of adornment unexcelled in any country. With a very little effort and hardly any expense anyone can have such a fine exhibit.

Many of us, most of us for that matter, can do better even in a material way. In one vicinity lately visited nobody had any strawberries, yet they grow here almost spontaneously.

Miss Elizabeth Roach, of Damascus, has been engaged to teach school here the next school year.

At the annual school meeting held here last week, Mrs. Shank was elected school director for the long term and Parnell Averill for the two year term.

Mrs. Mildred Rugh returned home last Saturday from Portland where she has been visiting the past month.

BORING

last Thursday was buried Friday in the Damascus cemetery.

Little Bennie Musa is reported dangerously ill with appendicitis.

The ice cream social in the new hall Friday night was attended by a large crowd. A fine program rendered and plenty of ice cream and strawberries for all. The proceeds went to help pay for the hall.

An auto load came up from Gresham to attend the social.

Frank Smith and family from Wyoming, are visiting Mrs. D. B. Fisher.
They expect to stay through the summer and perhaps longer.

TO KILL CUTWORMS.

The time to get the scalp of the cutworm is before the crop shows above ground. This ever hungry devastator is then keen for food and will make a fatal meal of bran mash (an ounce of paris green mixed with two or three pounds of wheat bran moistened with diluted molasses). Pinches of this mash well placed under shingles or flat stones will put the cutworms out of business.—

Diseases of Plants and Trees.

Diseases of plants do much injury from a lack of application of reliable curative methods. The most important of remedial and preventive measures combined is cleanliness. Spraying alone may be of no use, whereas when used in combination with other measures the success may be greater and the cost less.

It is estimated that in the United States the annual loss from oat smut is more than $6,500,000, from loose smut of wheat $3,000,000 and from bunt or stinking smut of wheat more than $11,000,000.

WHEN TO CUT ALFALFA.

Watch For the Appearance of the Bloom Is the General Rule.

The general rule for cutting alfalfa is to watch for the appearance of the bloom and cut when at least a tenth of the blossoms are out, says the Kansas Farmer.

Alfalfa will mature several crops in one season, but to secure the largest yields it must be cut when the growth has ceased and the plant is getting ready to send up new shoots from the crown. This stage usually coincides with the appearance of the blossoms, but it is not best to depend entirely on the appearance of the blossoms. In some seasons these are delayed and the shoots start before the blooms appear. Experienced alfalfa growers

CUTTING ALFALFA.

are familiar with this habit of the plant, but beginners with this crop perhaps have not learned to watch for the appearance of these new shoots or buds. The crop should always be cut when the buds first appear. It is an indication that the present crop will not grow any more, and if cutting is delayed until new shoots are high enough to be mowed the next crop will receive a severe setback. The shoots will not go on growing after the tops have been cut. They become dormant, and before there can be another crop new shoots must start from the crown.

Deep Cultivation For Potatoes.

Deep cultivation should be given the ground planted to potatoes before the plants make their appearance, advises F. S. Merrill, assistant horticulturist in the Kansas State Agricultural college. This is the deepest cultivation that should be given, as later there is danger of injuring the roots.

Cultivation should be frequent to keep the weeds down. One of the most effective tools commonly used for this purpose is the weeder. This should be used as often as possible until the tops of the plants get high enough to be injured by the teeth of the weeder.

Cultivation should be continued until the vines are large enough, so that further cultivation would mean injury to them, points out Mr. Merrill. At the last cultivation dirt should be thrown upon the hills to protect the potatoes from the sun. If the potatoes are not well protected from the sun a green color appears in them, which is said to be poisonous. This affects the quality of the product and produces a disagreeable taste. If the dirt is thrown up well on the hills not only will the growing tubers be protected, but plant food will be liberated.

Languages in Switzerland.

Both French and German are the "official" languages of Switzerland.
Public signs, such as those of railroads, are printed in both languages.
Italian is also spoken in those parts of Switzerland which are closest to Italy.
As a matter of fact, the country is, however, quite definitely divided as to language. The cantons of Vaud, Neuchatel, Geneva, Fribourg and most of Valais speak French. The canton of Ticino speaks Italian. The rest of the country speaks preponderantly German. The canton of Valais has different districts, where each of the three languages is spoken.
