Taking The Home Paper.

Do you know of a person in this whole community who would be willing to go through life month by month and year by year without a knowledge of the news features of the township in which he resides? Would you like to be that person? It is difficult to convince the average reader of the real value of his home paper unless he has at some time or other been forced to do without it.
Then it is that its value is brought home to them. Most people subscribe for the home paper, read it, enjoy it, and absorb the news it contains as a matter of course, giving scarcely a thought to the vast amount of labor entailed in the production of the issue.
And yet that issue means a tremendous concentration of thought and energy and perseverance on the part of both the editor and his entire force of employees.
The work thus represented on an issue of this paper, for instance, costs the reader the trifling sum of two cents. Would you like to fill the editor's shoes for a week, or a month, or permanently? Would you consider that the labor thus involved had met with just compensation?

Making Times Prosperous

Prosperity to a considerable degree rests upon the whims of the business interests of the country and upon the people themselves.

If they are optimistic and believe in prosperity and work faithfully to that end, prosperity will be with us, regardless of conditions in other countries.
We are a self supporting people and are not dependent upon the whims or exertions of others.

But if we become pessimistic, and constantly predict disaster and force ourselves to the belief that it is to come then we are likely to get no more than that which we predict.

A few people through the constant use of their tongues can in time instill into the minds of others the same atmosphere of gloom that pervades them, and this is spread to others, and yet others, until communities and states and whole nations suffer from the effect.
But prosperity can be made, if we want it. It will come, if we seek it.
It will remain if we nurse it.

We should talk prosperity, feel prosperity, and act prosperity if we would have prosperity, for in no other way will we meet up with the favors of the gods.

It is up to you, to every citizen, to work for prosperity in this community, for it is an almost universal rule of man that we receive in proportion as we do.

One-third of the employees of shoe factories in the United States are women.
Of course they ought to vote.

No wonder we have so many big paunches in this country. Forty-five per cent of the incomes is spent for food.

Georgia employs practically all of her county prisoners in the construction of good roads. It's one way of improving them, anyway—the roads, of course.

A close friend occasionally loosens up, says an exchange. But most friends, we note, are just beyond the border of closeness.

her husband to think he is boss of the roost.

We copied it, but it is good: "Drink often brings a man so low that he can't even raise the price of a drink."

While the men do the fighting in the field wouldn't it be well to let the women stop the fighting at home?

We continue, though to hear an occasional word about politics.

Story of a Dog's Jaw.

The strength of a dog's jaws and teeth were never more exemplified than in the case of a Ross-shire gamekeeper, whose collar was unfortunate enough to be caught in a steel vermin trap.
The gamekeeper, gun in hand, was soon on the scene, but in the short time the dog had become quite infuriated with pain. Having nothing suitable for muzzling the animal and fearing to place his foot upon the trap spring with the dog's jaws free, the gamekeeper placed the gun barrels in the dog's mouth and held them there while easing the spring. With a vicious snap the teeth closed on the cold steel ere he regained his freedom. The barrels were holed through—an almost incredible performance—and were examined shortly after.—London Graphic.

Camels.

Unless camels have been especially trained to abstinence they cannot go as long as is commonly supposed without water. When marching near rivers they drink twice a day. They feed largely on the tough, scrubby verdure known locally as camel thorn, which grows throughout Mesopotamia, except on the extreme desert wastes. Unlike horses, they seem to feel no fondness for their human associates, though they will seldom wander far from the caravan tents even if left untied overnight.
