Keep The Town Clean

A clean town attracts attention whenever and wherever it is seen. A dirty one catches the public eye in even less time.

When the streets and alleys and yards and vacant lots in a town are clean and sanitary it bespeaks a like condition on the part of the residents with regard to their personal habits.

The Lord loves a clean man or woman and the devil washes a dirty one. Which do you prefer?

If each person in this town would use just a little more energy and thoughtfulness we could make this one of the cleanest spots in the country and our reputation would grow apace.

Not only would we benefit thusly, but the health of the community would be vastly improved and the physical capacity of the people would be greatly increased.

A clean man works with pleasure and with a definite object in view. Generally he gets there.

The dirty one labors from necessity only, has no ambition, and is the black eye that kills the town in the eyes of other people. Keep the town clean.

Men Who Live in Memory

Every town (and ours is no exception) has two distinct classes of citizens—those who live in the memory of their fellow men, and those who are promptly forgotten.

The man who is energetic, persevering, and keeps always in mind the welfare of the community in which he lives will never need a marble slab to keep his memory green.

The fellow who kicks and villifies his own home town will die unmourned and his neighbors will not even think of him long enough to forget him.

Say a good word for your town—and say it again.

Patriotism is in the air these days, it extends from one end of the country to the other, and embraces all classes of citizens from the millionaire to the pauper. That is patriotism to one's flag and country. But there is still another kind of patriotism that is of quite as great importance but is not so generally observed. That is patriotism to the home town, to the schools, the churches, the lodges, the business men, in fact, to everything that pertains to the home life

The more prosperous the home communities of the country, the greater is the power of the country as a single unit. The man who exerts his influence in behalf of his home town uses as great patriotism as the one who mounts a platform and starts the eagle to screaming. As a matter of fact, there is no comparison between the two, for in nine cases out of ten, actions speak louder than words. Patriotism to country is commendable, but that to both home and country is even better.

The man who respects the rights of others experiences little difficulty in securing the consideration due himself, but the wolf generally gets his due.

Some men "know everything," make a big noise, and get nowhere. Others know a few things, say little, and get to the front. Take your choice.

Most women are admired for what they are, and not for what their ancestors were before them. It is not always so of men.

There's a break in the clouds to the south of us. Perhaps even yet the sun may shine again.

Millionaires and paupers are rubbing elbows at the front. War is a great leveler of caste.

This Mexican muddle is working a genuine hardship in the public prints on the political candidates. But, then, it is some relief even at that.

The angleworm is a useless impediment of the earth, but it is about as valuable as some people we know.

They say a cat has nine lives, but at that it is a mile in the rear of Villa.

The political campaign is making a desperate effort to get back on the first page again. Here's hoping it may.

A kind word is worth much, costs nothing, and leaves a green spot in memory. Harsh ones are the cause of blight, wither and decay. Which do you use?

You, of course, have your own opinion on current affairs, and believe that you are right. Your neighbor has his and is equally firm in his belief. Respect the rights of each, and don't scrap.

Digging in the garden is the best of exercise. It clears the brain, develops your muscles, adds to the circulation of blood, and brings the glow of health to your cheek. But, of course, you'd rather have the other fellow do it.

We men are quite in the habit of smiling over feminine scraps over the back fence, but we apparently overlook entirely our own propensity to "chew the rag" in the public street. Of the two we are inclined to the belief that woman has the best of the deal.

If there are any old bachelors in this countryside who are unable to annex a wife they should take heart and buck up. There is still hope even for them. During next few years Europe will be almost destitute of suitable material for husbands, and fair damsels will be pining their lives away for the mates that never come. Just keep up heart for a time, fellows, and if nothing better turns up you can take that trip abroad and annex a dozen or two.

Was there an item of news concerning yourself or your family that did not get in the last issue of the paper? If so it was omitted because we did not learn of it and you did not tell us. We want every legitimate piece of news in this community, and we ask YOU to tell us what YOU know.
