What Do We Get?

According to a press dispatch from Washington congress, the state governments, counties and townships will spend $250,000,000 a year for the next five years on the improvement and maintenance of the roads of the country.

That statement in itself is of absorbing interest to every citizen of the United States.

But a question of still more vital interest to us locally and personally is,
"How much do we get?"

The people of our community of course can decide what we ourselves are to expend in good roads, but when it comes to the expenditure by the federal and state governments we are much of the opinion that the early bird will get the biggest worm.

In other and plainer words, the federal government allots a certain amount of money to each state for improving its roads. Then comes the question of where and how that money is to be spent.

We do not know just what policy will be pursued in this state, but we do know that it will be clearly to our interest to get out in force and hustle for a good slice of this amount for road improvement in our own territory.

The Lord knows we need road improvement, but He will not aid us in getting them if we are not alive to our own opportunities.

Everybody hereabouts wants good roads and is quite willing to profit from their construction. But how many, think you, are willing to devote the necessary time and energy to securing the allotment to which we are entitled?

How much do we get? Or, better still, do we get anything?

Headwork In The Shade.

When the scorching sun of summer days sends us scampering for the shade we think only of the comfort that is to greet us when we reach the goal.

Our brains relax, our minds become drowsy, and the hours pass into history without anything of value being accomplished.

And that is where we fail to grasp one of our golden opportunities—where opportunity passes us by without a beckoning hand from us.

We reach the shade and it feels good and our thoughts refuse to wander into other and more profitable fields.
We are killing time and time once dead is never revived.

The relaxation we need and should have, but the hours spent in the shade might be turned to good advantage by devoting at least a portion of the time to the working out some of the complex problems of business that present themselves in the journey of life.

When we are at work our minds should be centered wholly upon that work if it is to be successfully accomplished. There is no room for other thought or action.

But while in the shade in the summer time there is abundant opportunity for devising ways and means of putting the coming hours to more profitable use.

He who wastes his time squanders the greatest substance of life, but the man who devotes his idle moments to planning for the busy ones to come is like unto the honey bee that hoards his sustenance against the day when there is none to be found.

Hunt the shade on the scorching days, but think while you rest. The results will more than compensate for the effort.

Ten Dollars For One

If your neighbor offered you a ten dollar bill for a dollar, and you knew it to be perfectly good money, you break all sorts of speed records to grab it. So should we.

In the subscription price of this paper we are offering you just that—ten dollars for one. For every dollar you spend for this paper you are receiving at least ten dollars worth of valuable information. In many cases the information it sends out to you is worth vastly more to you.

Keep this fact in mind, and if you happen to owe us a dollar or two just remember that we have earned it ten times over—and we ought to have it without the asking.

Doesn't this appeal to you as being just about the truth?

It might, however, be hotter.

Kicking may afford a certain degree of satisfaction, but it produces doubtful results.

United States prestige is said to be growing abroad, according to a Washington dispatch. No mention is made, however, of our standing with our dear friends across the Rio Grande.

It is said that thirty thousand manufacturing plants in America are suited for turning out munitions of war.
Here's hoping for one that insofar as the United States is concerned they may never have occasion to turn a wheel.

About every fifth day some enthusiast arises and declares a lasting European peace—in the newspapers—and the next "hell breaks loose again."

An exchange discourses learnedly on the interesting subject of "Spilling a Bad Egg." But since we are in no way affected we decline to waste valuable space in superfluous comment.

A Kansas town has passed a law against frogs croaking at night, says the Chicago Evening Post. Prohibition again.

Spilling a bad egg is an interesting pastime provided you do not operate upon yourself.

ARBOR DAY IN SPAIN.

A Custom That Was Copied From Our Tree Planting Festival.

You are prone to think, since America is the youngest of all the nations, that all our customs are derived from some older people, in whose national life a part of our population had its source. Did you ever hear of an old European country adopting a custom that originated in the United States?
When you read of the Fiesta del Arbol in Madrid you are more than likely to assume that it was the tree planting day that gave a suggestion for our annual Arbor day.

Would you be astonished to learn that the Arbol fiesta was patterned directly after our American festival or holiday, when trees are planted by the children of the public schools? That it was copied after our custom is not difficult to establish, for the first festival of this kind was held in Madrid in 1806, having been inaugurated by the young king and his mother. At that time we had been celebrating Arbor day in the United States for more than twelve years.

In that country the event has come to be of real significance, since it is national, whereas in our country it is under the direction of the individual states. Every year the school children are not only commanded to plant young trees, but they are taken to inspect the planting of previous years and are impressed by their teachers with the importance of conserving the forests of their native land. In his first Fiesta del Arbol address King Alfonso announced that the idea was borrowed from the United States, and it was regarded as of so much value that not even the rancor of the Spanish-American war sufficed to interfere with its observation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
