Production or Destruction

Amidst the excitement of the elections it will be well if we give attention to the voice of wisdom.

Patriotism is one of the greatest virtues.
But patriotism is not always armed with a rifle, neither is its possessor always a target for a bullet. That this is peculiarly the case just at this time is brought forcibly to our minds when we begin to soberly study our condition.

When a state of war was declared by congress this country was already facing exorbitant food prices, and on top of that comes the discouraging prediction of a fifty million bushel shortage in the 1917 wheat crop. We are also threatened with a shortage in the potato crop, due to the almost prohibitive price of the seed. Again, bear in mind that it is the purpose to lend every possible support to the allies, and if this policy is followed there will be very little falling off in exports.

President Wilson has said that he does not want to disturb the industries of the country where it can possibly be avoided. Nevertheless, enlistments are sure to disturb them to a considerable extent, especially the agricultural interests, from which field recruits are always largely drawn in warfare.

Hence the importance of the food problem looms even greater than that of fighting, and the man behind the plow is destined to be as great a patriot as the man behind the gun.

Spring planting is just opening up over much of the country, and the truth should be forcibly driven home to every person who owns a portion of the soil that it is his bounden duty in this emergency to make that soil produce to the limit of its capacity. The almighty has blessed us with a fair land and a wonderfully productive one. We are facing a struggle that may tax our resources and our strength to the utmost. We will be criminally negligent if we relax in the least our efforts in food production.

And this applies to others besides the farmer and the gardener. The bankers and merchants, business men of all lines, by standing shoulder to shoulder with the actual tillers of the soil, lending their help in whatever way it is needed, can advance the cause wonderfully.
Many farmers, especially the smaller ones and the renters, will need assistance.
This should be forthcoming—not primarily for the sake of the individual, but that he may be a unit in swelling our national production.

Let us bear in mind that in the eventful year of 1917 PRODUCTION will be as truly patriotic as DESTRUCTION.
Our duty calls in clarion tones. Let us face it without an instant of hesitation.
Let EVERYBODY produce SOME-THING.

The dime novels take a back seat now when the war extras are cried. Which but emphasizes the fact that truth is surer than fiction.

Your Country! It feeds you -- it needs you!

Carranza insists Mexico is neutral.
Rush an army to the border.

The girl who is unable to find an ideal man is generally willing to accept something "just as good."

Fight or produce. Both are equally honorable.

If congress gets obstreperous. Mr.
President, use a big stick—it will smash hard.

"I Will." Make it YOUR motto, and live up to it.

An exchange asserts that the Chinese used natural gas 2,000 years ago. Possibly, yes, but, codger of an editor may have been there.

The man who readily recognizes the weaknesses of others is never without them himself.

By the time the producer, the middlemen and the retailer get through, about the only thing left for the consumer is the bill.

The Army of the Tillers will rake among the immoral patriots of history.
Get a hoe.

A woman who appeared on the street the other day with a potato on her hat, and was promptly pinched for grand larceny.

There are three classes of men today—fighters, producers, and slackers. Your choice!

"Come on, George," sounds better.

With famine agraye possibility, there is no room in this town for the man who won't work. Pass on!

Funny thing, but since this war commenced few people ever think of picturing the horrors of hell.

Every man admires a pretty girl—and she knows it.

Talk is cheap—when a lawyer's tongue is wagging.

There is one patriotic thing we can all do. That is to buy at home and keep our money in circulation at home as much as possible. And the local dealer can demonstrate his own patriotism by keeping his prices down as much as possible.
Every little helps—both ways.

We suggest that congress adopt the skirt as a symbol of the army. The woman are offering their services more rapidly than the men.

Speculators in foodstuffs create high prices. High prices sap the vitality of the people through lack of sufficient nourishment. Vitality is essential to a successful prosecution of the war. Jail the speculators—or make them fight.

God pities and Satan despises a slack-er. Heaven don't want them and hell won't have them. Farm or arm—fight or produce.

when resolutions were adopted opposing the $6,000,000 road bond bill, and adopted another set of resolutions ap-line of progress." Opposition to the proposed bond issue is being rapidly dispelled as the voters study the measure and acquaint themselves with its provisions.

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN URGES GOOD ROADS

Oregonian News Bureau.
Washington, April 24.—(Special).—Senator Chamberlain today expressed his hearty approval of the proposal to build hard-surfaced modern roads in Oregon paralleling the Pacific Coast. He declared that such roads through all the Pacific Coast states would be of the greatest military importance.
"While not familiar with the details of the Oregon road plan," said Senator Chamberlain, "as I understand it, that plan will provide roads which, from a military standpoint, are most necessary. But, as a matter of fact, we should have such roads paralleling the Coast line from Canada to Mexico. First-class hard-surface roads would afford ready facility for transporting both troops and supplies up and down the Pacific Coast in the event of military activity on that Coast and would greatly augment the railroad.
"Roads such as these would have the highest strategic value and ought to be built, but I do not believe the Federal Government at this time has the money to build them."

Fashion's Changes.

One can say as a certainty that in the twentieth century no one will be able to boast that he has created anything absolutely new in fashions. The crinolines of the Empress Eugenie were a reminiscence of the panniers of Marie Antoinette, and long before her time, in the orient, women had conceived the idea of enlarging their skirts by means of hoops. A few years ago women of fashion affected high waists and sheath dresses, but before them Mme. Recamier had done the same thing, and the dresses of Mme.
Recamier were suggested by the Greeks and the Romans. In short, like everything else, fashion is a part of the same everlasting come and go. We do not advance as we are so prone to imagine; we repeat our steps.—Roger Boutet de Monvel in Century.

Ruined by Jest.

The Antiochenes themselves brought about the ruin of the beautiful city of Antioch, the ancient capital of the Greek kings of Syria. These people were famous for their biting and scurrious wit as well as their ingenuity in devising nicknames. When the Persians under Chosroes invaded Syria in 338 the Antiochenes could not refrain from jesting at them. Ample revenge for this was taken by the Persians, who totally destroyed the city.
