A Letter,

The Clackamas County Teachers Association went on record April 14, in Institute assembled favoring the slogan. Every teacher in Clackamas County becoming a member of the N.E.A., association on or before July 7 to 14 inclusive 1917. To that end a committee of three was appointed: N.W. Boland, Eastham School, Oregon City, Mrs. W.A. Barnum, Mt. Pleasant School, Mrs. Emily E. Shaw, Witchia School.

An Institute will be held in the Eastham Building, May 12, Oregon City. An earnest call is extended to every teacher in the County to be present and help plan big things for the coming National Educational Association in Portland, Oregon. Another committee consisting of F.J. Toole, Oregon City, A.K. Wilson, Oswego, Rev. Given, Estacada, Fred Roth, Canby, C.E. Spence of State Grande, Harvey Starkweather and C. D. Eby of Oregon City. This committee is projecting a plan to establish a "Clackamas County Day" in which the members of the Association from the different sections of the State may be Clackamas County Guests, the committee will advocate establishing headquarters in Portland to which all Clackamas Co. Teachers may go with their friends for rest and entertainment. O. M. Plummer of Portland will be invited by this committee of nine to be present on the 12th of May, to aid in completing the plan for Clackamas Co. Day or Clackamas Co. Teacher's Day. Please catch the spirit of the occasion and come out.

A program will follow soon, announcing topics for discussion. Do not forget place and date, Oregon City, Eastham building, Seventh Street, May 12th, 1917. Robert Goetz, Pres.

J. K. Bowland, Sec'y.

COTTRELL

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mc Bain and daughter Genevieve of Gillis visited Sunday at the Frank Beers home.

Miss Alberta Schneider has been on the sick list for several days.

A number of Cottrell people attended the partiotic meeting at Orient Saturday night.

S. F. Pitts purchased a Ford last week.

Mrs. Shetterly and son Carl visited relatives here the latter part of last week. On Sunday they departed for their new home at Redmond, Oregon.

Mrs. I. N. L. Shriner visited Monday afternoon with Mrs. G. Sloop.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Van Fleet were Portland visitors Saturday.

A. R. Goger made a trip to Gresham Monday.

The Willing Workers of Cottrell Community Church had a pleasant and profitable meeting at the church May 4th. The next meeting will be held there the afternoon of June 1st. All ladies are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Geo. Blackburn is visiting her daughter Mrs. Holmes at Springwater.

CHERRYVILLE

Everybody is delighted with the sunshine.

More rain reported in April than any April in 20 years.

Farm work or spring planting is nearly all done and a good crop is expected as the ground is in good shape.

School closed here this week Monday and the teacher this season has been rehired to teach another term.

Tom Galarneau returned to his claim south of town last week from Astoria where he has been at work at his trade. He expects to remain here a month or so doing some planting on his ranch and will then go to Roseburg to work. He says his nephew Frank Servis Jr. has joined the U. S. Regulars and is now at Fort Stevens.

The donkey engine got across the river Sunday. It was delayed by a big rock on this side and a blast had to be put under it before they got it across.

Mrs. J. H. Averill has gone to Logan to visit with her daughter Mrs. Geo. Eaden for a couple of weeks.

Big run of fish at the dam last week and everybody had a fish fry.

Great honor has been shown the visiting French in the last few days not only at Washington but elsewhere. We delight to honor the French. They are a Republic like we are and they helped us in our greatest need and now we propose to help them.

Dave Douglas was out on his ranch here last week putting in a crop as he will run his ranch here in connection with the Revenue Ranch, besides being a road boss on the Marmot District. He certainly will be a busy man this year. His family expect to stay here on the home ranch this summer as the change to this altitude and the rest will be a great benefit to Mrs. Douglas.

ENEMIES TO SUCCESS.

Learn to Avoid Timidity, Shyness or Self Consciousness.

Timidity, shyness and self consciousness belong to the same family. We usually find all where we find any one, and they are all enemies of peace of mind, happiness and achievement. No one has ever done a great thing while his mind was centered upon himself. We must lose ourselves before we can find ourselves. Self analysis is valuable only to learn our strength; it is fatal if it makes us dwell upon our weaknesses.

Timid, shy people are morbidly self conscious. They think too much about themselves. Their thoughts are turned inward; they are always analyzing, dissecting themselves, wondering how they appear and what people think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain, what success in life they would achieve. Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do and are kept from trying to make real their great life dreams because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points, which smart from the lightest touch. Their super-sensitiveness makes cowards of them. —O. S. Marden.

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Clackamas.

Joseph A. Albel,

DASHEEN A TUBER MUCH LIKE POTATO

The dasheen, a root crop introduced into this country from Trinidad within recent years by the United States department of agriculture, is now grown by a considerable number of farmers and truckers in the south and promises to become a valuable member of the group of domestic vegetables, such as the potato, which furnish starchy foods. The dasheen is itself primarily a tropical plant. It can be grown successfully, however, not only in the warmer portions of Florida, but in other sections of the south as far north as South Carolina. The edible portion of the plant includes a large central corm and a number of tubers, of much smaller size, attached to and around the corm.

In food value the dasheen is comparable to the potato, though it contains a small proportion of water and a greater proportion of protein, starch and sugar than the latter. The new vegetable may be prepared for the table as potatoes usually are or may be made into flour and used in baking.

The dasheen is grown from whole tubers weighing a few ounces. They require a frostless season of at least seven months with plenty of moisture. A moist but well drained, rich, sandy them to individual or small pens and make a specialty of fattening unless he has a special market or retail trade for well fattened stock.

Geese are usually killed and picked in the same manner as other kinds of poultry. Some markets prefer dry picked geese, while in other markets no difference is made in the price of scalded or dry picked geese. When feathers are to be saved fowls should not be scalded, but should be picked dry before or after steaming. On most farms where geese are raised the feathers are plucked from the live fowls at some time prior to molting. About one and one-tenth pounds per goose is the average yield of feathers. Feathers are worth from 30 cents to $1 a pound, and the picking cost per goose is about 11 cents.

Breeds.

Crosses of the varieties of geese, especially of the Toulouse and Embden, are occasionally made, but without any apparent gain. The Toulouse, Embden,

The Toulouse, the largest of the standard breeds of geese, is a good layer, producing from twenty to thirty-five eggs a year, is docile, grows rapidly and makes a good market bird. However, its dark pinfeathers make it a slightly less attractive market goose than the Embden. The flock shown are Toulouse geese.

Chinese and African are easily the most popular breeds of geese in this country, the first two greatly leading the other breeds. All economic breeds of geese are kept primarily for the production of flesh and feathers, and although their eggs are occasionally used for culinary purposes on the farm there is no demand for them for food purposes in the markets.

The Egyptian goose is a small, brightly colored goose kept for ornamental purposes and rarely seen in this country. It resembles the wild goose in shape and weighs two pounds less in each class.

loam has been found to be satisfactory soil for dasheen culture. A large proportion of either clay or muck in the soil produces strong flavored, tough corms which are often unfit for table use. Large crops are produced under such conditions, however, and make excellent stock feed.

The crop is planted in February in southern Florida and as late as the early part of April in South Carolina. The plants are spaced about 3 1/2 by 3 1/2 feet. Dasheens may be dug for home use by the middle of September, and the main crop can be harvested at any time after the last of October.
