News From the Navy.

For public information, beg to advise that enlistments in the following rating have been discontinued for the present:

Land-men for yeomen.
Landmen for Electricians (General)
Plumbers and fitters
Shipwrights
Shipfitters

Enlistments in the following ratings however are being made, but this station has been limited to twenty five men per week:

Apprentice Seamen
Machinists' Mates, 1st and 2nd class.
Coppersmiths
Firemen, 1st, 2nd and 3rd class.

Hospital Apprentices, 1st and 2nd class (only two per month)

Landmen for Bakers

Bakers 2nd class

Mess attendants 3rd class

Landmen for Ship's Cooks.

Ships' Cooks 4th class

Landmen for Musicians

Musicians 1st and 2nd class

Landmen for Quartermaster (Aviation) Especially well qualified.

Landmen for Machinists' Mates (aviation) especially well qualified.

Landmen for Electricians (Radio)

Of the above ratings, however, we are allowed to enlist the following in any number, outside of the quota of twenty-five per week, on account of the urgent need for men in these ratings:

Musicians

Machinists' Mates 1st and 2nd class.

Ships' Cooks

All previous service men entitled to re-enlist.

Our official week ends 5 p. m. each Thursday, and when we are not able to furnish transportation requested for applicants, on account of restricted quota would suggest that you hold them over a day or two.

Change Horse's Diet.

If a work horse loses his appetite it must not be assumed that it has acquired some serious disease. It probably has been kept on a too steady diet of one kind of food. The diet must be changed, and if an improvement is not noted quickly it is evidence that the animal needs both a purgative and a tonic. A tablespoonful of aniseed in the feed is an excellent tonic, as it sweetens the stomach and stimulates the appetite.

Ground Fence Wires.

It is a common occurrence to lose stock each summer from lightning. A great part of the loss can be traced to wire fences that are not grounded. A ground wire every few rods will make animals safer and the losses fewer.
