Cece Bates Says:—I got one of those new fangled electric razors for Christmas. I have had a few experiences with it that puzzle me. While shaving, I got my directions mixed looking in the mirror and lost one eye brow. I became so excited I dropped the razor on the floor—before I could pick it up it shaved all the pattern off the rug. The dog thought it was a cat—before I could get them separated, the dog was as hairless as a boiled egg. Oh, well, I guess I can make out alright after while.
