W. A. of A. Has Many Members

Clackamas County Has Five Active Groups

Mrs. Fern C. Lambert attended an interesting meeting of the Milwaukie local of the Worker's Alliance organization in Milwaukie Friday evening. This organization is composed of persons listed on the employment rolls and is one of four in the county. There is a membership of approximately 800 in the locals of Oregon City, Milwaukie, Lake Grove, Clackamas and Stafford. It is a branch of the national organization which has representation in 45 of the 48 states.

Officers of the Milwaukie local include H. R. Paulsen, chairman; John Washburn, vice-chairman; Mrs. Mary Stevens, secretary; R. B. Dayton, treasurer; and Louis Shunk, sergeant-at-arms. An election will be held at their meeting Friday night to determine the delegates for the national convention.

During the business hour talks were made by Emily F. Edson, candidate for secretary of state; Bonnie Williams of Portland and Mrs. Lambert.

At the close of the evening an auction was held to raise funds for additional improvements for the hall.

Mrs. Lambert was accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Davies of Gresham who was the "highest" bidder in the dutch auction for a fryer and Mrs. Lambert and Mrs. Davies were accompanied by W. C. Stoneman who acted as "chauffer" for the evening.

Services Held Today for Mrs. Frank Zaster

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Mrs. Frank Zaster who died Monday following an operation. Services were conducted from Jacobsons at Gresham with interment in the Sandy cemetery.

Mrs. Zaster, who was an old pioneer of this community, was born Mary Peshall and was a sister of P. P. Peshall of the Halfway Garage.

A more complete story of her history will be given next week.

Sandy Merchants to Play Corbett Here Sunday

The Sandy team put over another victory when they beat Blue Lake in a close game Sunday on the opposition field. The score at the end of the nine innings was 6 to 4 in favor of the local team, with Blue Lake going down to defeat the first time for the season. Woehlert and Bacon were batteries for the Sandy team with Riebeck and Messinger for Blue Lake.

This Sunday's game will be played on the Sandy diamond with a hot return game against Corbett. Turn out and help the local men win.

M. E. Fahler New Electric Salesman for Sandy Market

Mr. Fahler comes to the community well recommended as a business man and has been making numerous acquaintances and a number of sales in his new line of work here. He has had five or more years connection with power companies and is in a position to explain the inexpensive operation of all electrical supplies.

Classes to be Held at Zig Zag Camp

Vernon G. Henderson, educational advisor of the Zigzag CCC camp has announced that the classes held during the winter will be open to the public, which will be of extreme service to the mountain area. In the past there have been many local people interested in many of the WPA classes offered at Oregon City but it has been impossible to get the classes locally since the enrollment was not sufficient, but with the combined enrollment of CCC students and local people many new classes will be available.

Most of the classes will be held in the new educational unit recently dedicated at the camp. The building is 20 feet by 80 feet and has five class-rooms, library, reading room and educational office, and was constructed by enrollees of the Zig Zag camp.

An effort is also being made to outline courses offered at the camp with both required and elective subjects. For example, to enroll in the first half of the woodcarving classes, only an eighth grade diploma is required, but in order to enroll in the second half of the course in wood carving, it is necessary that that the student shall have completed geometry and mechanical drawing, along with other required subjects. Correlated subjects included in the woodcarving are care of tools, perspective, blue printing, block printing, sandblasting, perspective and many other subjects that completely round out a course in woodcarving. Radio, auto mechanics, photography and manual arts and other courses are planned in the same way.

Old Friends Visit With Post Editor and Husband

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nitzel and son Billy of Portland spent a pleasant week at their cabin on the banks of the Sandy river and while here renewed acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Lambert.

Mr. Nitzel and Mrs. Lambert were friends of 15 years ago when both roomed at the same home in Vale, Oregon where Mr. Nitzel was teaching and Mrs. Lambert completing her high school course. They had only met once in the interim until the news of the changing of hands of the Sandy Post brought them together again.

The two families made up a party to attend the dance at Boring Saturday evening.

Pioneer Meeting Attracts 1000 Visitors to Jonsrud Park Sunday

Pleas. Roork and Mrs. Joe Kirchem Crowned Pioneer King and Queen; Others Speak

(By Mrs. Robert Jonsrud)

An ideal day and a record crowd estimated from 800 to 1000 strong marked the 13th annual picnic of the Sandy Pioneer's and Early Settler's Society of Sandy and vicinity in Jonsrud Park an Sunday, July 31st. People were attracted from all parts of the state, from California, British Columbia and as far as Ohio. Heart-throbbing stories and reminiscences were the order of the day during the ample time set aside for just visiting.

Antone Malar acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion, in the absence of the Society's President, E. F. Bruns, who is touring Europe. Mr. Bruns, however left a stiring message of tribute to the Pioneers gathered, which was read by Mrs. A. Malar at the beginning of the meeting.

At the business session the officers of the society were unanimously re-elected as folows: E. F. Bruns, president; John Roberts, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Robert Jonsrud, historian. Antone Malar was unanimously elected vice-president to take the place of A. C. Thomas, who is physically unable to act. A committee consisting of V. D. Butler, John Roberts and Robert Jonsrud was appointed to confer in regard to placing markers on unmarked graves of local Pioneers.

The afternoon session was opened with devotionals by the Society's chaplain, Rev. A. B. Calder, after which followed a brief memorial to departed members of the organization, and a roll call of past iknigs and queens. Next followed the crowning if the queen, Mrs. Joseph Kirchem of Logan by her daughter, Mrs. Louis Kohl. P. H. Roork of Wemme was pronounced king in a fitting ceremony by Alice Revenue Webster, who also presented gifts to the honored ones from the association.

Mrs. Kirchem was born on a Donation land claim on Clear Creek in the Logan community, on Feb. 11, 1859. Her parents were William and Nancy McKubbin, pioneers of 1852. She has never lived more than 3 miles from her birthplace and her 5 children all live in the same community. She has 15 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Pleasant Holloman Roork, the king, was born November 21, 1854 and spent most of his life in the vicinity of Pleasant Home, and is now a resident of Wemme. He attended the Willamette University and studied law for 2 years in Portland, where he was associated with the Mendenhall Brothers. He also served his community as Justice of the Peace and tried cases in both Justice and County Courts, remarking in his talk that he never lost a case.

William Hammond of Oregon City, speaker on the day's program gave a most interesting talk on the history and route of the Old Barlow road, naming the early settlers on the donation land claims all along the route, beginning at Eagle Creek. He also displayed a series of early and more recent maps of this historic pioneer's route.

Mr. Hammond paid a high tribute to local pioneers, saying that they lived by the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

V. D. Butler displayed a document handed down from his grandfather, Eddy, who arrived in Oregon 86 years ago. McArthur's Guide to Oregon, an original document, mapping the perilous route from Fort Hall, Wyoming to The Dalles.

Mrs. Kirchem, the queen favored the appreciative audience with an old-time reading and Charley Bailey made their toes tingle with his old-time violin music. He was accompanied by Leon Caddy on the guitar. Lee Wills also sang with guitar accompaniment.

Miss Lillian Phelps, a teacher of Alliance, Ohio extended a greeting from the Buckeye State, voicing her appreciation of this Garden Spot of the World.

Coffee was furnished free to the crowd, with Henry Perrett in charge.

The committee on arrangements consisted of Robert Jonsrud, Mrs. A. W. Bell, Joel Jarl, Mrs. Robert Jonsrud, Mrs. Will Bell and John Roberts formed the program committee.

Oklahoma Picnic Next Sunday at Jantzen

W. C. Carroll of Gresham, chairman of the Oklahoma picnic to be held next Sunday at Jantzen beach promises an interesting affair. A good program of music, singing and dancing and several able speakers will be present to tell of frontier days in Oklahoma.

Several awards will be made including a prize for the oldest married couple, the youngest married couple and the largest family present from Oklahoma.

The famous Tunnell fiddlers will be there. No admission will be made to the park, and coffee cream and sugar will be furnished and all Oklahomians and their friends are urged to attend.

Rebekah Assembly President Visits Local Lodge

Mrs. Carrie May Rickert, president of the state assembly of Rebekahs, made her official visit to the local lodge last Thursday and was highly entertained by Sandy members. She was presented with a handkerchief shower, the handkerchiefs placed on a beautiful tray, the gift of Mrs. Bina Bell.

Following a pleasant evening refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served.
