Buy in Sandy

This week's issue of The Sandy Post is stressing "Buy in Sandy" and carrying Xmas advertising to remind you that it pays to buy with local friends and also that there are only 10 more shopping days until Christmas.

Saturday, December the 16th will be one of the largest days ever promoted by Sandy business houses. The Sandy Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for sponsoring "Buy in Sandy" as well as all those business houses and individuals who have cooperated.

The growth of Sandy during the past year has been very noticeable and only by spending our money at home can we further promote that growth.

We really are sincere when we urge you, for your own interests, to "Buy in Sandy."

Sandy High School Notes

by Lois Madsen

Brief addresses were given at the Boys' League meeting last week by Bill Bettis, Spike Howard and Harold Alt.

Entertainment was provided by Norman Greyson who played on his Jewsharp. Ted Marx led the boys in singing accompanied by Mr. Wallace Buchanan.

by Barbara Pagh

The Presidents of the Boys' and Girls' Leagues have appreciated new committees to keep our halls clean. The girls are Hazel Breen, Lois Madsen, Pearl Steenson, Mary Lewis and Era Pickens. Andy Reckman, Henry Jenger, "Craney" Cransewick, Louis Phelps, Mayes Knox, Eugene Boitano, Harold Bettis and Harold Guthrie are the boys.

by Marie Nichols

The Big Nine Basketball Schedule will include only six teams this year, as three of the schools have dropped out. Only ten league games will be played this season, with Sandy playing its first league game with Canby, January the ninth.

by Virginia Snook

"Work is going forward satisfactorily and we expect to have the building completed in February," said Mr. Lundeen, foreman, speaking of the new building which is being constructed north of the Pioneer Building which will consist of a mechanics shop, agriculture room and a garage for six busses.

by Barbara Pagh

A total of 106 students turned out for indoor winter sports at a meeting Tuesday. Basketball had 33, Boxing had the largest turnout yet of 35 and Wrestling had 38 boys of whom 19 were lettermen.

by Melvin Dagsland

The Sandy Hi printing shop recently printed 2,000 paper napkins carrying advertisements of the business houses in this district. These napkins are to be used at dances given by the Mothers' Club. The merchants are using this as a method of advertising.

by Barbara Pagh

Captains were elected Monday at a meeting of the mountain boys to keep order on the bus. June Nichols, Eula Espinola, Dorothy J. Hickey, Jim Hazin and Don Hickey were elected.

by Lois Madsen

An address was given last Friday before the Sandy Hi Student Body on trophy rules and regulations by J. T. Grenfell, county traffic officer.

by Virginia Snook

The success of the "Evening of Music" given at Sandy High School has afforded the band enough funds to monogram band caps, repair two horns and provide the upkeep of the band for some time.

At Aimes, near Sandy, Nettie Connett's chickens are no longer dimmers for this coyote, which she shot herself.

Jingles

He's all for Sandy that's true
And then there is Shorty
With service as big as his smile
And Stoney, the towns electrician
Stringing the wires by the mile
Jingle Buy Jingle
I say, have you heard
WHY things are a humming
In this little Burg?

Butch, Tommy and Carl
Were helping, with Curt
To wait on the customers
With Sugar, quite pert.
Mrs. Lambert and helpers
Were printing this sheet
The shoe-man was trying
To make his work neat.
Doc Schneider was working
With a bunch of equipment
Bob was displaying
A brand new shipment.

Johnsrud's log cabins
Made a dandy display.
Dale was very busy
So near Christmas day.
Adolph was delivering
As fine as old silk
Sandy Creamery butter
And Mt. Hood milk.
Jingle Buy Jingle
I'll tell, if you've not heard
Why things are a humming
In this little Burg.

Doc Williams had gone
Way out beyond Dover,
Issac was selling
A machine to seed clover.
Gunderson and wife
Were fitting cars too.
The Sandy tire shop
Was making them new.
Joe's place was busy
Without any fears.
The Hartwigs had plenty
And even George Beers
Was bragging to Anderson
About his farm sales.
A party had stopped
To see Mrs. Scales
At the Dew Drop Inn

Flowers for All Occasions.

EVERYBODY SING!

Tune. Old Gray Bonnet
Put on your old gray bonnet,
Pin a blue ribbon on it
And hie right down to the local store;
You will find the old red wagon
With a whole host of bargains
If you buy in Sandy more!
FCL

By Mrs. M. Aschoff

Prices are right and bargains aplenty.

All in tune with the twentieth century
Come one, come all to St. Nick's Call;

"Do your shopping in Sandy this fall."
Buy in Sandy, where it's so handy;

Stop and eat where foods are good
Stock up with gas, before you pass—
Through the "Gateway to Mt. Hood."

Don't let your dollars run away.
From this home town of ours;
Don't spend your gas and oil,
And many weary hours—
Buy things in Sandy, day by day
You'll find it really pays.
And watch your dollars grow
and grow,
In many, many ways.

Buy all your supplies in Sandy
Where quality always is best
You'll like the service that's friendly

And the stores are the best in the west.
You'll find groceries, dry goods
and knick-knacks
And a drug store that has what we need

Restaurants also aplenty
That serve us a wonderful "feed."
Yes, we're proud of the new Sandy Market

Their stock is so fresh and complete.
Together with Scales' store and Meinig's
They supply us with good things to eat.

Come in, see the 5 and 10c store
For novelties, values galore
Good candies and all kinds of dishes
Cosmetics and many things more.
Not the least of our pride is our paper

Bringing the news and the gossip.
It's the Sandy Post you surely all know
Let's subscribe to it now—watch it grow.

We must not forget our new doctor,
He cures us of aches and pains
Or the dentist who rids us of toothaches

And cleans from our teeth all stains.
The beauty shop can't be forgotten
Their service is nifty and nice.

The quality work is the highest
Below metropolitan price.
A genial chap is the shoeman
Who keeps our shoes trim and so neat.

Let's patronize merchants in Sandy
For values that cannot be beat.
Then the barbers (I almost forgot them)

They come in for their share of the praise
For without them our husbands and sonnies
Would be looking like cavemen for days.

Thus saving your money in Sandy
Don't send it away through the mails
But deposit it here with Fred Proctor

In the bank that never fails.
In conclusion, let's buy here in Sandy
Whether purchase be large or small

No matter how far you may travel
Shop at home—our stores beat them all.
