Haste in giving judgment is criminal.—Publius Syrus.

CONSTIPATED? Don't Let Gas, Nerve Pressure Keep You Miserable

When constipated two things may happen. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up the bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. This nerve pressure often causes headaches, a dull, lousy feeling, loss of appetite, and dizziness. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomachs, acid indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Then you can't eat. You can't sleep. Your stomach is sour. You feel tired out, grouchy, and miserable. BALANCED Adierika containing three laxatives and five carminatives gives you DOUBLE ACTION. It relieves that awful GAS almost at once, and usually clears the bowels in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight relief. Sold at all drug stores

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

A Garrison Finish

THEY said you couldn't possibly do it, that you hadn't a ghost of a chance to win. But in the last moment you "came through" and won—and that was a "garrison finish." It's called that because it's the way Edward H. ("Snapper") Garrison, one of the most famous jockeys in American turf history, won a race in 1886 when he came from nowhere with an outsider, to take the Great Eastern handicap at Sheephead Bay, N. Y.

E. H. Garrison

The term stuck to "Snapper," who never liked "front runners." He held 'em back until they reached the stretch where, as he was accustomed to remark, "the money is." Garrison's most famous race was his victory on Boundless in the World's Fair Derby in Chicago in 1893. On one pretext or another, such as fixing his straps and his saddle, he delayed the start for an hour and 42 minutes. He spent most of this time on the ground, thus keeping the weight off his horse, while the other jockeys fumed and their horses wore themselves down prancing and plunging.

"Snapper" was fined $1,000 for delaying the race but he didn't care. He booted Boundless, a 15 to 1 shot, home in first place and that "garrison finish" was worth just $60,000 to his owner!

Morris Chair

THE next time you sink back into the comfort of that old morris chair, you might remember gratefully the man who made it possible for you. He was an Englishman named William Morris. Born in 1834, he was successively—and successfully—a poet, an architect and a painter. He built a house in which furniture, wall paper, drapes and household utensils were all specially designed.

That suggested a new occupation—interior decorator. With several others, Morris organized a firm which did all sorts of interior decorating. Out of the work of this firm, devoted to the "revival of sounder ideas of construction and workmanship" and to winning the English "back to the massive simplicity of plain oak furniture" came the chair which bears the name of this "painter, designer, scribe, illuminator, wood engraver, dyer, weaver and finally printer and papermaker."

Oh, yes! He was also interested in politics, first as a Liberal and then as a Socialist, for whom he wrote a rallying song, "Chants for Socialists." But when they drifted toward anarchism, he lost confidence in the movement and went back to his first love, the arts, to which he devoted himself until his death in 1896.

Cleaning Unwashable Wallpaper

There are several methods of removing grease spots from wallpaper that is not washable or waterproof, but success cannot always be guaranteed. One method involves the use of benzine or carbon tetrachloride or a spot cleaner sold by most stores.

The solvent should be applied to the spot quickly, and a blotter held over it immediately afterward. The principle is that the solvent and grease mix, become mobile, and are then drawn into the blotter.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY LUNCHEONS ON BERRIES

When things go wrong in spite of you To smile is the best thing you can do— To smile and say "I'm mighty glad They are no worse; they're not so bad!"

THAT is what Farmer Brown's Boy said when he found that Buster Bear had stolen the berries he had worked so hard to pick and then had run off with his pail. You see, Farmer Brown's boy is learning to be something of a phil-os-opher, one of those persons who accept bad things cheerfully and right away see how they are better than they might have been. When he had first heard someone in the bushes where he had hidden his pail of berries he had been very sure that it was one of the cows or young cattle who live in the Old Pasture during the summer. He had been afraid that they might stupidly kick over the pail and spill the berries.

"I guess someone else was hungry, too," he muttered.

ries, and he had hurried to drive whoever it was away. It hadn't entered his head that it could be anybody who would eat those berries.

When he had yelled to scare away the unwelcome visitor, and Buster Bear had suddenly appeared, struggling to get off the pail which had caught over his head, Farmer Brown's Boy had been too frightened to even move. Then he had seen Buster tear away through the brush even more frightened than he was, and right away his courage had begun to come back.

He is so afraid of me I guess he needn't be afraid of him," said he. "I've lost my berries, but it is worth it to find out that he is afraid of me. There are plenty more on the bushes and all I've got to do is to pick them. It might be worse."

He walked over to the place where the pail had been and then he remembered that when Buster ran away he had carried the pail with him hanging about his neck. He whistled. It was a comical little whistle of chagrin, as he realized that he had nothing in which to put more berries if he picked them.

"It's worse than I thought," cried he. "That bear has cheated me out of that berry pie my mother promised me." He began to laugh as he thought of how funny Buster Bear had looked with the pail about his neck, and then because, you know, he is learning to be a phil-os-opher, he once more repeated, "It might have been worse. Yes, indeed, it might have been worse. That bear might have tried to eat me instead of the berries. I guess I'll go eat that lunch I left back by the spring, and then I'll go home. I can pick berries some other day."

Chuckling happily over Buster Bear's great fright, Farmer Brown's Boy tramped back to the spring where he had left two thick sandwiches on a flat stone when he started to save his pail of berries.

"My, but those sandwiches will taste good," thought he. "I'm glad they are big and thick. I never was hungrier in my life. Hello!"

This he exclaimed right out loud, for he had just come in sight of the flat stone where the sandwiches should have been, and they were not there. No, sir, there wasn't so much as a crumb left of those two thick sandwiches. You see, Old Man Coyote had found them and gobbled them up while Farmer Brown's Boy was away.

But Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know anything about Old Man Coyote. He rubbed his eyes and stared everywhere, even up in the trees, as if he thought those sandwiches might be hanging up there. They had disappeared as completely as if they never had been, and Old Man Coyote had taken care to leave no trace of his visit. Farmer Brown's boy gaped foolishly this way and that way. Then instead of growing angry a slow smile stole over his freckled face.

"I guess someone else was hungry, too," he muttered. "Wonder who it was? Guess this Old Pasture is no place for me today. I'll fill up on berries and then I'll go home."

So Farmer Brown's Boy made his lunch on blueberries and then rather sheepishly he started for home to tell of all the strange things that had happened to him in the Old Pasture. Two or three times as he trudged along he stopped to scratch his head thoughtfully.

"I guess," said he at last, "that I'm not so smart as I thought I was, and I've got a lot to learn yet." Which also shows that he is becoming something of a phil-os-opher.
