SHALL STRIKES IMPERIL NATION?

BORROWING from the thought of Lincoln, as expressed at Gettysburg more than three quarters of a century ago, it may now be said:

Eight score and five years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Then it was the crisis of a great civil war—now it is the crisis of totalitarian threat from without, and labor strife within our own borders, that is "testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."

In these crucial days when the fate of our nation hangs in the balance, when millions of people in Europe have already been deprived of liberty, of thought and action, and when the surviving remnants of democracy are fighting desperately for self preservation, a small minority in the United States is permitted to wreak havoc with the national program of industrial production of war materials, vital to defense and aid to Britain.

If Hitler were, at the moment, directing the affairs of the United States in his own interests, he could ask no greater show of sympathy and co-operation than is now being evidenced by the numerous strikes in essential defense industries, the violence associated with the Bethlehem Steel and the International Harvester strikes, the internal dissension in the ranks of organized labor and the revelations of racketeering methods used in collecting exorbitant initiation fees and dues in connection with construction work on government projects.

If Nazi, Fascist and Communist hirelings were seeking a way to weaken this nation in its determined course to safeguard itself from aggression and also to give all possible aid to Britain and the other embattled democracies, they could pursue no more effective course than to foment the disunity being evidenced by strikes in defense industries, or in the production of materials necessary to the steady maximum output of these industries.

But it is not Hitler, Mussolini or Stalin who is directing the course of this nation—nor are Nazi, Fascist or Communist agents or sympathizers assumed to have a voice of authority in either of the antagonistic labor organizations.

It is President Franklin D. Roosevelt who is the executive head of this nation and also commander in chief of its military forces.

A recent statement by President Roosevelt bears repeating, for the emphasis it merits:

"The determination of America — must not be obstructed by unnecessary strikes of workers, by short-sighted management, or by deliberate sabotage. — — — Let me make it clear that the nation is calling for the sacrifice of some privileges but not for the sacrifice of fundamental rights. That kind of sacrifice is for the common national protection and welfare; for our defense against the most ruthless brutality in history; for the ultimate victory of a way of life now so violently menaced."

And President Roosevelt also said: "Wise labor leaders and wise business managers will realize how necessary it is to their own existence to make common sacrifices for this great common cause."

Germany has no labor unions. Russia has no labor unions. Italy has no labor unions. The privilege of groups to organize and bargain collectively, and the "right" to strike, are accorded to people who are adjudged capable of self government and who evidence willingness to proceed, in orderly manner, to exercise their privileges and rights under the law.

The time is again at hand for every American, in whatever capacity he may serve, to at least temporarily put bickering, greed and self interest in the background and to once more become "dedicated to the great task that lies before us — — — and to high resolve that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom — — — that government of the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Christ Promises Power.

Lesson for April 13: Acts 1: 1-12.

Golden Text: Acts 1: 8.

Most of the lessons of the second quarter are from Acts and the same author followed in the first quarter. For Luke was evidently the author of Acts.

Today's lesson tells of the Lord's appearance after the resurrection, his promise of power, his ascension, and the return of the disciples to Jerusalem to wait for the Spirit.

Consider the promise of power. The disciples had just asked if Jesus would "restore the kingdom to Israel." They were still thinking of an earthly kingdom and their own places in it. Jesus bade them wait for an experience which, as we know, cleared their vision and prepared them for the spiritual kingdom. Many present Christians think in reality of themselves—depend upon their own efforts and expedients. One pastor advertised Breezy Subjects for Warm Days. Maybe he later used Hot Shots for Cold Days.

The disciples had no powerful patrons and no earthly prospect of success when they began to preach the gospel of a crucified peasant. But they began a movement that has grown through the ages and reached even the islands of the sea.

If the churches should fully learn the Source of power, they would be able to meet present needs and soon command an influence that would thwart the efforts of war lords to destroy the rights of mankind. To do God's work, we must depend upon God's power. And the man who would live the good life must open his heart to the indwelling Spirit.

SQUADS WRITE!

THE NATION'S NEWEST MILITARY UNIT is composed entirely of pretty girls! They call it "Squads Write," and their sole objective is to give boys in army camps the thrill of personal letters, without any attempt to turn such correspondence to any selfish or material end. Miss Addie Capital of Chicago, who heads the "patriotic" movement, refuses to say whether any romance that may blossom out of the correspondence can be termed a "selfish or material end."
