National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

Americans who for many years have been talking about the burden of taxation, are shortly to discover that they "ain't seen nothing yet." They are about to learn, in short, that to live in a world whose main energies are being given to preparing for war and waging war, is an incredibly expensive business.

The new Administration tax plan to add $3,500,000,000 to the government's annual income, was announced on April 17. Both Republican and Democratic congressional leaders approved it, in general, almost automatically. It has long been evident that the moderate tax increases adopted by the last session amounted to little more than a drop in the bucket. Our defense and aid-to-the-democracies program is likely to cost upwards of $40,000,000,000, even if we don't become involved in war ourselves. Much of the cost will be deferred for future payment in the form of national debt. But it is universally recognized that we must pay for as much of it as possible as we go, and that substantial tax increases, reaching almost every income group, are no longer avoidable.

Surveys show that the American people at large are grimly willing to shoulder the additional burden. It is a strange time indeed in which advocating higher taxes has actually become "good politics" even as it is good economics.

Key to the new tax program is found in a statement of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, in which he said it would be "an ideal thing for everyone to pay one-third more next year than he did in the last year." It is probable that one of the first steps taken by Congress will be to up income taxes on corporations and individuals both, by at least one-third. Some advocate doubling the base rate, which is now four per cent, and increasing surtaxes and lowering exemptions for full measure.

Higher income taxes will not be all of it, by a long shot. While there seems little likelihood of a general sales tax being adopted now—the President is against it—it is considered sure that some new sales taxes will be put into effect, and existing sales taxes increased. The taxes, for instance on liquor, tobacco and gasoline are likely to go up. And there is talk of levying taxes on such hitherto overlooked items as soda pop, the humblest of beverages.

Some government officials have also been considering the possibility of a general payroll tax, to be levied against all employers. That tax, in a period such as the present, would be a gigantic revenue producer, and would be comparatively inexpensive to collect. Main objection is that it would be a tax on expense, rather than a tax on income. A concern might have a tremendous payroll and still be earning little or no profit, or even operating at a loss. At any rate, the payroll tax still lies in the future, and is not apt to be considered at this time.

Still another suggestion is to have taxes paid by the month instead of quarterly or even by the year, on the theory that it is less painful to pay a relatively small amount at frequent intervals than a large amount at long intervals. Some have also proposed that the employer deduct employees' taxes from pay checks. This may be urged in the interest of simplification and of reducing collection expense.

Whatever the details, it seems certain that the new program will go through in jig time and with a minimum of debate. It will place upon the American people, in all brackets reached, a tax burden unprecedented in our history. It will bring grim visions of the possibilities of our eventually reaching England's tax level, where a man earning $5,000 a year pays more than a quarter of his gross earnings in income taxes alone. Soon some twenty-five per cent of this country's national income will be going out for war materials and military expenses in one form or another. Mars is a costly visitor.

News of 4-H CLUBS

Word has just been received by Edwin Keitner, county 4-H club agent that a 4-H club play written by Dorothy Winberg, 4-H club member of Damascus will be broadcast over KOAC during 4-H club summer school in June.

Dorothy's play entitled "Peter's Way to Happiness" placed sixth in a state-wide 4-H play writing contest. The cast for the play will be chosen from among Clackamas county 4-H club members.

This is a very significant honor as the competition is very keen from all over the state. Only eight plays will be broadcast during the two weeks.
