Farmers to Get Surplus Army Trucks Under Plan

A few surplus used army trucks are now being made available for farm use and more are expected from now on according to information received by R. B. Taylor chairman of the Oregon USDA war board. Altho only a few will be available in Oregon in the immediate future an important procedure has been worked out that provides for orderly and fair distribution of such government material says Taylor.

Chief change from former times requires that these trucks be handled thru regular licensed motor vehicle dealers where they will be subject to price regulations thus averting final sale to users at fair prices and without undue profit to handlers. County farm transportation committees and county war boards will handle farmer applications for the trucks as they become available.

IT'S FUN TO DRAW

They are not worrying about how much coffee they can have, or how much butter. Those boys from Wake, Midway and Batuan, that were unfortunate enough to be captured by the Japs.

They're worrying about living—about little things, like a cup of filthy water, and a handful of dirty rice in Jap prison camps.

You bet we Remember Pearl Harbor—Not well enough perhaps, but some and we remember our Marines, like heroes pulling grinning Japs in richshaws through Tokio streets. We remember American boys roasting in burning oil from sinking ships at Pearl Harbor. We remember a man we used to know who fought at Wake or died or worse.
