Press Comment

"We content ourselves in the assurance the Republicans have nominated for the presidency in this great crisis a man of high character, of demonstrated ability and of full understanding of the responsibility of his candidacy. John Bricker will be a good and useful running mate to Governor Dewey. . . . The Republicans did a creditable job in Chicago. If they do as well in the campaign they will win the support of many independents who frequently cast the deciding ballots." — Cleveland, Ohio, Plain-Dealer.

"Governor Dewey's rousing speech of acceptance last night must have sent every delegate away from the Convention with head high. The Republican nominee only touched on the issues which he will cover in the campaign, but he touched on them with so sure a hand, so directly and searchingly that an assurance was provided of a real fighting campaign. Those who heard Governor Dewey last night heard a man with great gifts rise to the new level that opportunity and responsibility offered him." — New York Sun.

OH, OH!!!

Don't read this column lessen you can take a joke, it's all in fun, says whosit.

Bit of excitement last Wednesday night. Lone lady entertaining guests when a big loud noise was heard on back porch. Big Brave Johnnie, wife and daughter marched as to war, lone lady bringing up the vanguard shaking like autumn leaves in a wintry blast, gallant John says, "don't be skeered, we'll protect you," grabbed the door knob and pulled dooro pen, to reveal poor, lone bedraggled kitten had just knocked down the broom. Well, says lone lady, it might have been burglars, or a BEAR.

Whosit says any reference to anyone living in or around thereabouts Sandy is co-incidental and, don't forget the rest. Anyway that's it.

Geo. Strophe looking under beds and clothes closets and dark corners and woodsheds, lookin' for boogers. Did youall find 'em George.

Orval says, if Geo. P. is talkin to himself don't blame me.

Big secret I got, maybe I'll tell yo all next week iffen you won't tell nobody. It's a good one I betcha.

What's the matter with the beans, Fred.

We done had a thunder storm in August, didn't usens.

GAStronomy CARE FOR YOUR REFRIGERATOR

Do you treat your refrigerator as a catch-all for leftovers and pleasantly forget about them?

Or, do you give the refrigerator the place of respect it truly deserves as food insurance?

The Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association gives a dozen simple rules on the care and use of refrigerators. The association represents the industry which produces propane and butane gas and delivers them in bottled or tank form to homes away from city gas mains, for use as fuel in gas refrigeration, gas ranges and gas water-heaters.

1. Remove paper wrappings from foods before storing in refrigerator.
2. Wipe off milk and cream bottles.
3. Wash and clean vegetables and fruit before storing. Wash berries just before serving.
4. Place uncooked meat (unwrapped) under freezing unit.
5. Allow foods to cool before storing and make sure they are covered.
6. Watch leftovers and use them attractively.
7. Place foods to allow for free circulation of air throughout refrigerator.
8. Keep bottles and cans at room temperature until ready for chilling and serving.
9. Open and close doors as quickly as possible to preserve cold.
10. Clean refrigerator by wiping with a damp cloth often. Wash with a weak solution of baking soda.
11. Use ice trays for frozen salads, ice creams, mousses, and for colored and flavored ice cubes.
12. Defrost regularly according to manufacturer's instructions.

Pile Sufferers Urged To Avoid CONSTIPATION

Hot Water and Kruschen Salts Before Breakfast. No Forcing! No Straining!

Here's an amazingly effective way to maintain bowel contents and obtain more gentle "easy" movements. Every morning for 5 days, 15 minutes before breakfast, drink a glass of hot water to which one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts has been added. Bowel contents become soft, moist, easier to expel. No need to strain and thus risk painful rectal irritation. Usually within an hour wastes are expelled smoothly and gently. Get Kruschen Salts at all drug stores. Over 245 million bottles sold in the past 100 years—it must be good.

Mexicans Available for Prune, Hop Harvest

Mexican nationals picking Willamette valley prunes and hops this year will serve a dual purpose of assisting in the harvest of these crops and relieving the farm labor pressure so that there will be an adequate number of bean pickers. The peak number of Mexican farm workers in Oregon will be only about 10 per cent of the 50,000 seasonal farm workers needed.
