THE LOW DOWN HICKORY GROVE

This idea where Army is running the mail order and farmer's supply stores for Mr. Avery in Chicago and other places, you know, it is maybe better idea than it looks. It gives us kind of a preview on what we have coming when the Govt. gets around to taking over all kinds of other things.

Say, for example, if you live in Chicago and happen to need maybe a nightshirt. You go down to Mr. Avery's store, salute the guardian and if you look like you really aren't foolin' and do sure enough need a nightshirt, and you are carrying no concealed weapons, and you are not a republican, you get inside.

And every place you look you see soldiers versus nightshirts. Soldiers with six shooters. And you get fidgety, and instead of a size fifteen you get an 18, and instead of a dove-gray like you had in mind, you get a yellow model with black spots which will make you look like the roving Arab on the coffee can, who strolls along sipping coffee from a cup. And you are glad to get it, and get out, you would take anything. Browsing days are over. FBI men and soldiers looking you over, don't boost your morale, you reckon you must be in Russia. And brothers and sisters, we are nearer than you think.

Yours with the low down,
JOE SERRA.

UNIVERSITY SPRING

A covered spring at Chapel Hill, N. C., reminds students of the University of North Carolina that General William R. Davie, "father of the university," selected the site of the first state university in America at that spot in 1792. Close by on October 12, 1793, Gen. Davie laid the cornerstone of Old East, the first university building. The first student walked 170 miles through bitter winter weather to enroll at the opening January 16, 1795. Similar determination dominates every Allied fighting man in the war today. The tradition of America's first state university and its first student should inspire the purchase of War Bonds for the protection of the Nation's educational freedom.
