WHY TELEPHONES CANNOT BE SUPPLIED FASTER TO WAITING APPLICANTS

Excerpt from an advertisement of the Automatic Electric Sales Corp. of Chicago in a May issue of "Telephony," a trade journal of the telephone industry.

"By January of this year, our terminations of government contracts were practically completed, and conversion well under way. We were ready to move swiftly into peacetime production.

"February brought the steel strike and strikes in other basic industries, which resulted in shortages of materials which compelled our factory temporarily to adopt a three-day week. Those shortages continued to hamper production after the strikes were ended.

"In March the situation showed improvement, and production volume began slowly but steadily to increase. In April further gratifying progress was made; we began to 'hit our stride.'

"In the meantime, the coal strike, in progress throughout April, moved swiftly to a climax, resulting in the drastic order for power curtailment through the Chicago area. Our gains in production volume have been wiped out, and the situation for the immediate future remains dark and uncertain. . . .

"It is our intention to work to the limit of our ability to bring about a resumption of high speed production at the earliest possible date."

The conditions outlined above affect all manufacturers of telephone equipment.
