Milwaukie Editor Seeks Seat in State Legislature

J. C. Hinshaw

J. C. Hinshaw, Milwaukie, visited in Sandy this week in the interests of his campaign for Representative nomination for state representative from Clackamas county. Mr. Hinshaw is former editor and publisher of the (weekly) Milwaukie Review.

In a statement asking support of local Republicans at the primaries May 21, Mr. Hinshaw said: "Most of my life has been spent in the newspaper business, where I learned at first hand the problems of every type of citizen—laborer, farmer, business and professional man."

"Such a background has taught me to give careful consideration to all movements and measures in the public interest and to be on guard against the selfish desires of those seeking to further their own interests at the expense of the public."

Mr. Hinshaw said he is a former member of the Kansas state legislature, and has lived in Clackamas county seven years and "desires to be of service during the further development and growth of this wonderful state."
