Tansy Ragwort Is Now Vulnerable to Spray

Tansy ragwort, the fastest spreading weed in Clackamas county, is now in the rosette stage and most susceptible to recommended sprays, says Hollis Ottaway, assistant county agent. The ester form of 2, 4-D is quite effective in controlling tansy ragwort as is sodium chlorate. Users of sodium chlorate are warned, however, to be careful in using as it is highly inflammable.

Sodium chlorate is used at 2 or 3 pounds per square rod whereas 2, 4-D is used at 2 or 3 pounds parent acid per acre.
