COME TO THE FAIR

The exhibits will be outstanding again this year, and we urge you to inspect them. The displays by the 4-H and FFA groups merit your special attention, for these young people will be the farmers of tomorrow. Inspect their exhibits and give them a pat on the back.

While you are in the area, we would like you to inspect our exhibit across from the machine shed.

Work Starts on New Hood Lift

Heavy-laden log trucks Tuesday began to carry away the timber felled on Mt. Hood to make way for the aerial tramway between Government Camp and Timberline lodge.

The tramway, which will provide transportation for skiers and sightseers, should be completed by December 1, according to Dr. J. Otto George, president of the Mt. Hood Aerial Transportation company.

The hemlock logs, felled by Foreman Brothers, Boring, are being taken to Oregon City. Surveying parties will start this week to mark the location of the footings for the 36 towers which will support the tram line.

The tramway's three-mile run will be made by 35-passenger twin coaches of special construction.
