Pomona Body Echoes Fish Screen Blast

County Grange Backs Brightwood Grange In Attack on Delay

Pomona Grange last week insisted, in a resolution passed at a meeting in Sunnyside, that the Oregon State Game Commission enforce its ruling that Portland General Electric Company install a fish screen at its Marmot Dam.

The resolution echoed a similar declaration made Sept. 18 by the Brightwood Grange. It was based on a copy of the Brightwood resolution, sent to the parent group by L. Earl Wilson, master.

Copies of the Brightwood resolution were also sent to PGE, the game commission and other state officials and to other granges and civic organizations. Besides the Pomona declaration, two other answers have been received from the declaration, Mr. Wilson reported.

Governor Hall Answers
Governor John H. Hall responded Sept. 29 with a statement that he would be "glad to discuss this matter with members of the State Game Commission at the first opportunity."

From C. A. Lockwood, supervisor of the game commission, came this answer dated Oct. 5. "The power company men have had conferences with our representatives on several occasions and we know they have also sent their men into Washington and other localities to investigate the type of screen we have recommended."

Plans Moving Ahead
"I am sure that they are going ahead about as fast as they can toward the installation of this screen. You must remember this is quite an expenditure and they want to be sure that this screen will prevent the migration of fish down their ditch before spending this sum of money."

"Your grange can rest assured that the Oregon State Game Commission is doing what the law requires toward seeing that ditches and other diversions are screened."

The commission, in an order dated July 12, 1948, called for PGE to install a rotary fish screen about 700 feet below the intake of the Marmot Dam flume by Dec. 31.

Deer Season Only Warm-up for Elk, Local Hunters Say

Deer hunters put up their gear and settled back to wait for another year as the Oregon season closed Thursday. But some of the more aggressive hunters commented that deer season was just a warm-up for the elk season which opens Oct. 25th.

Rod Rogers bagged a big six-point buck last week when he, Wesley Cunningham, and Art Dixon journeyed down to Lakeview. All the boys in the party got deer.

Ivan Barker is leading Mel's Pastime deer contest with a head that has a 19-inch antler spread, announced Mel Skrivenseth this week. Contest awards will be presented Saturday, Oct. 23, at 1 p. m. Special awards will be issued at 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. on the same day.

Contest Closes Tonight
The contest will close tonight, Friday, to give the hunters who have been out in eastern Oregon time to get back with their trophies, said Mel.

Bob Smith and Oscar Guthrie got in Wednesday night after a five day trip to the Silver Lake country. Bob said "the hunting was no good." "The deer just weren't there."

Harvey, Clarence and Ray Griffin with John Mills traveled over a great deal of Eastern Oregon but did not bag a buck, according to Mrs. Mills. They were gone about a week and did not get back to Sandy until Tuesday night.

State Treasurer Candidate Here

State Senator Walter J. Pearson, democratic candidate for state treasurer, visited Sandy Wednesday on behalf of his campaign. He called on old friends and was introduced to various civic and business leaders by Fred Proctor.

Mr. Pearson, state senator from Multnomah County for the past four years, has also served a term as a member of the Oregon house of representatives of the legislature.

Beehives Lure Bear to Death

Nettie Connett, of Alms, is not the only person in this area to kill a bear. F. M. LaMear, owner of the Cedar Creek Shingle Mill at Cherryville, said he wants readers of The Post to know.

Mynard Cole, a veteran Coast Range bear hunter, last week trapped and shot a 354-pound black bear in Mr. La Mear's orchard, just behind the mill. A number of bee hives in the orchard had lured Bruin there. The bear destroyed all of them before he was caught, however, the mill owner said.

In on the kill besides Mr. Cole and Mr. LaMear was Sylvester Amundsen, former owner of the shingle mill.

2 Youths Escape Serious Injury in Bluff Road Mishap

Two Sandy youths escaped possible serious injury or death in a hair-raising auto accident Saturday night at Light's Corner on the Bluff Road, Police Chief O. E. Loel reported.

Driver of the vehicle was Jack Miller. Neither he nor his only passenger, Judy Gunther, were hurt; but damage estimated at nearly $1,000 was done to their car, the chief said.

He gave this account of the accident:

The car was heading west on the Bluff Road when it failed to make the curve near Light's Service Station, went into the right hand ditch, sideswiped a telephone pole, broke off a "Slow" sign, returned to the road and finally came to a halt after ripping off an air hose from the side of the service station.

No traffic citation was issued. This was the fourth accident at Light's Corner in the past six months, Chief Loel said. Excessive speed when rounding the turn is the probable cause of each of them, he added.

Clark Is OES County Officer

Bernard O. Clark, principal of Sandy and Sandy Ridge Grade Schools, was elected vice-president of the Clackamas County division of the Oregon Education Association, E. A. Woodworth, county school superintendent, announced Monday.

Robert E. Cody, principal of Estacada Grade School, was elected treasurer.

Part of the election was held during the county grade school teacher's institute at Oregon City, Oct. 4 and 5, and the remainder was carried on by mail among Clackamas school faculties. Final results of the tabulations were made known Monday.

This is Mr. Clark's first year at Sandy. Before coming here he was principal of West Linn Grade School for 11 years and a teacher at Rainier. He has 18 years experience in elementary education.

SINGERS SCHEDULED

The Kansas City Gospel Singers, a troupe of six men, will take charge of the 11 a. m. services Sunday at the Sandy Community Church. The men have broadcast over nation-wide hook ups several times and entertained at service hospitals during the war.

PEACHES DONATED
Sandy Farms donated 210 gallons of peaches to the Sandy Grade School, custom canned for the hot lunches served at the school, the P.T.A. was told at a meeting Tuesday.

Junior Varsity Downs Molalla

Indians Defeated 12-7 By Sandy Junior Squad

In a fourth quarter flurry, the Sandy Pioneer junior varsity scored two touchdowns to topple the Molalla Indians 12-7 last Thursday on the Indian's field.

The winning touchdown came with less than two minutes of play remaining. The Pioneers took over on Molalla's 35. A pass from Wayne Fredericksen to Don Gommoll put the ball on the two yard marker.

From there, Tom Bennett blasted his way through the Indian line for the winning six points.

Scores on Fumble

Sandy's first touchdown came earlier in the fourth stanza when Paul Seematter scooped up an Indian fumble on his own 40 and ran it back to mid-field. Two end run sweeps by Bob Barlow and Raymond Leckberg gave the Pioneers a first down.

Then from Molalla's 40 Quarterback Jim Light called for a reverse from Bob Barlow to Fredrickson. It fooled the Indians and Wayne went 40 yards for the Pioneers' first six points—stiff arming the lone Indian defender who had solved the play.

Molalla scored in the second quarter on a 60-yard pass play and made the conversion to lead the Pioneers 7-0 at half time.

Mount to Seek Write-In Vote as Sheriff Following Meads' Death

Robert B. Mount, of Cherryville, master of the Sandy Grange, told The Post Thursday he intended to run as a write-in candidate for Clackamas County sheriff on the Republican ticket.

His announcement followed news of the death Monday of H. Everett Meads, of Oak Grove, who defeated Mr. Mount in the primaries for the post of Republican candidate. Mr. Meads was to have opposed Fred Reaksecker, incumbent, in the Nov. 2 general election.

The candidate died in an Oregon City hospital Monday afternoon from a blood clot of the heart. He had suffered a heart attack last Wednesday and was taken to the hospital Thursday. Saturday he was released but suffered another attack that evening and was returned.

Visited Here Sept. 27
Mr. Meads last visited Sandy Sept. 27 on behalf of his campaign for sheriff. His name will appear on the Nov. 2 ballots.

The strain of his campaign tour was blamed for his death. He had been a resident of Clackamas County for nearly 40 years and was a sergeant in the game division of the state police. Mr. Meads had charge of game law enforcement in the Mt. Hood area. He joined the state police force in 1920 and retired last year.

Services Held Thursday
Services were held at 2 p. m.

Bull Run PTA Slates Carnival

BULL RUN—A harvest festival and carnival will be sponsored by the Bull Run P.T.A., Oct. 29 at the grade school. The money will be used to buy dishes for the school's hot lunch program.

Home canned foods, cakes and other articles will be sold. Plans are being made to construct a bowling alley for the carnival. It will also include such features as fortune telling, a fish pond and haunted alley.

The affair will begin at 8 p. m. Mrs. Martin Sander is president of the P.T.A.

ROBERT B. MOUNT

Thursday in the Milwaukie Masonic Temple and burial was at Lincoln Memorial Park. Survivors were his wife, Madelon; two sons, Jay and Lyle, and a daughter, Marilyn, all of Oak Grove.

Mr. Mount was elected master of the Sandy Grange last year. Born in Silverton, he has been a resident of Clackamas County for the past 18 years. He is a retired farmer, is married and has two daughters.

No word of action taken by the county Republican central committee on Mr. Mount's announcement was received Thursday afternoon by The Post. They previously had sought to appoint Bradley J. Woodward, of Mulino, a candidate, but he refused to accept because the election was only two weeks away.

Community Chest Drive Nears End

Contributions to the 1948 Clackamas County Community Chest from persons in the Sandy area should at least equal the $1,200 collected here last year, Mrs. Ivan Barker, chairman of the drive locally, predicted Thursday.

Late Wednesday she had received a total of $1,153.55 since the campaign began here Sept. 15. It is to end this week. Collections in the Bull Run community have not yet been completed.

A number of pledges are still to be collected in Sandy, also, the chairman said.

Volunteers Assist
The following volunteer workers assisted Mrs. Barker: Mrs. Parker Holloway, Sandy Ridge; Mrs. Melvin Richey, Sandy High School; Mrs. R. D. Peterson, Kelso; Mrs. L. C. Van Ausdell, Bull Run; Mrs. Verma Metzler, Mabery; Mrs. A. S. Baumbach, Kelso, and Mrs. Hermine Mudrow, Dover.

Sandy High boys contributed a total of $36.92 to win a Red Feather fund drive there last week. Girls gave $36.10.

The contest, held four days, began last Monday with a Chest rally assembly featuring nine-year-old Fronnie Neal, mascot of the 1948 county drive. Named "Little Miss Inspiration," she lives at the Christie Home at Maryhurst College, Oswego, a Chest agency.

County Chest officials in Oregon City announced Monday they had received an added contribution of $18 from Brightwood. The county's total Monday was $18,637.67, leaving $10,982.33 to go to meet the 1948-49 budget set at $29,620.

Pioneers Seek Win Over Canby

Sandy to Play There; Both Teams in Cellar

Coach W. E. "Pop" Rannow's Sandy Pioneer football squad will get another chance this Friday to break the jinx which is keeping them in the bottom spot on the Willamette Valley League totem pole.

The Pioneers take on Canby on the Canby field. The opening kick-off is slated for 3 p. m. Canby is one of the chief contenders for the cellar position and will be fighting to win their first game in league play. Their record shows one tie, two losses and no wins.

Carpenters Monday began erecting Sandy High School's new 100-foot football grandstand on the south side of Orr Field.

"We hope to have it finished by our next game," Principal Floyd Light said, when Sandy will meet Estacada Nov. 5.

Concrete footings for the project were poured last month. The grandstand is to seat 700 persons.

Coach Rannow seemed pleased this week with the progress that his football aspirants were making.

"The boys have come a long way since the opening day of practice," he said. "They are blocking, tackling, and running better every day. We started out with a green team and fundamentals are the most important thing to learn."

But the boys have not reached perfection yet. We still have a long way to go."

Hospital Board To See Tentative Plans Thursday

Preliminary plans of the new, revised Sandy Memorial Hospital will be presented by architects to hospital corporation members and persons interested next Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Sandy Community Church annex.

The new plans call for a 10-bed hospital with an emergency surgery room, X-ray room and doctor offices.

"We have enough funds now in the hospital treasury to build such a building," said Corporation President Ivan Barker. "Later as more funds become available we will be able to add a maternity ward and perhaps some more beds."

The hospital now has over $25,000 in cash donations.

Sentence Deferred In Assault Trial

Justus P. Strowbridge, 46, of route 2, box 56, Sandy, was found guilty by District Judge J. F. Cahalin in Portland last Thursday of an assault charge but sentence was deferred indefinitely.

Strowbridge was arrested by Clackamas County deputy sheriffs on a Multnomah County warrant charging him with threatening to commit a felony. His bail had been set at $2,000.

Accept Users Tax, Land Assessment

Monday's Vote Is Third Bond Issue to Be Passed; Will Seek Bids After Bond Sale

The voters of Sandy Monday authorized the City Council to issue $100,000 in general obligation bonds to pay the cost of a complete sewer system and disposal plant but turned thumbs down a proposal to install parking meters here.

The two issues were on separate ballots. Included in the sewer measure were requests by the Council to levy a special property assessment and a user's tax. Proceeds from both were to go to a fund to pay the interest and principal of the bonds.

Both requests were granted. Tally of votes in the election, held from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Monday in the City Hall were as follows:

To issue $100,000 in general obligation bonds, 109 yes; 35 no.

To levy a special property assessment, 109 yes, 37 no.

To fix users tax at not more than $1.50 a month, 99 yes, 45 no.

To install parking meters, 26 yes; 129 no.

Only 156 of Sandy's 441 registered voters cast ballots, a 35 per cent turnout. One of them was ruled defective because one enthusiastic citizen voted both "yes" and "no" for the parking meters.

A misunderstanding that only property owners could vote in the special election held the response down, City Recorder Dale Stewart said. All persons registered in precinct No. 1, which is the city of Sandy, were eligible to cast ballots, he explained.

Third Bond Issue
Monday's election was the third successful attempt the city council made to gain authorization to issue sewer bonds. A $25,000 issue was approved in 1946 to pay for the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

When bids on this structure exceeded $24,000, an issue of $42,000 was sought and granted in an Oct. 7, 1947, special election. But when these bonds failed to sell the contractor who had begun work on the disposal plant was released from his contract.

No bonds were issued after either of the two previous special elections.

Cart Before Horse
"We always had the cart before the horse," declared Mayor Verne Alt Tuesday evening. "We let the contract and then tried to secure money. Now we're going to be sure we have the funds before we proceed further."

The next step, he said, would be to issue the $100,000 general obligation bonds and offer them for sale. This action would be taken by the city council at its next meeting.

After the bonds are sold, bids on the project will be let.

Federal Funds Available
The federal government, under a water pollution act passed by the last congress, can put up to one third of bonds issued to pay for a city's sewer system. Present plans call for offering two thirds of the $100,000 issue to the public and one-third to the government, he mayor explained.

The federal money will not be available until after the first of the year, however, he said. The funds from public sale of the bonds should be enough to start, he added.

The contractor who is awarded the bid "must abide by" plans drawn for Sandy's sewer system and disposal plant in May, 1946, the mayor stated.

ATOMIC RESEARCH SLATED
Four Oregon colleges are now listed as cooperators with the Atomic Energy Commission in its fellowship program in the medical and biological sciences. They include Oregon State College, Reed College, the University of Oregon and the University's Medical School in Portland.

On April 19 the council, on motion of Roy Hickey, voted to further survey the traffic problems of the city before accepting the meters. It was after this vote that the council ordered the workmen not to install the meters.

Mayor Verne Alt Tuesday night said the council had received no further word from the meter firm. The company's suggestion would be considered by the council whenever it is received, he added.

The meter problem developed along the following lines, according to information gleaned from the official minutes of the City Council:

At a special April 8, 1948, meeting, Mr. Groves offered parking meters to the city at no cost. Price of the meters, about $75 was to be taken from their revenue, the city receiving one-fourth of the proceeds until the meters were paid for.

The council, on motion of C. G. Brown, voted to authorize Mayor Verne Alt and City Recorder Dale Stewart to enter into an agreement with the company for the meters. They were declared to be a means for traffic control and not for revenue.
