Double Ring Ceremony Unites Eagle Creek Girl to Estacada Man Jan. 21

Miss Donna Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hunt, of Eagle Creek, was married to Asher J. Keller last Friday evening in the Estacada Methodist Church. The Rev. Arthur L. Hansen officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Keller, Estacada.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown with leg o' mutton sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her veil was of finger tip length and she carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Attendent of the bride was Mrs. Eldon Hunt, who wore a pink satin and mesh gown and carried a colonial bouquet of roses, gardenias and carnations.

Best man was Victor C. Keller, brother to the bridegroom. Ushers were James Tenney and Harold Hunt.

Barbara J. Keller was flower girl. She wore a blue frock and carried a colonial bouquet.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Blanche Mayea cut the cake, assisted by Mrs. Mona Hunt, Mrs. Ethel Worthley, Mrs. Guy Keller and Mrs. Charles Bellek.

After a wedding trip to the beach the newly married couple plan to make their home in Eagle Creek.

'We Want More!'

Primary students at Sandy Grade School hold their bowls out for second helpings of soup . . . restaurants say they wish they had as many satisfied customers.

Hot Lunch Program Delights Children With Tasty Menues

Monday more than 300 children at Sandy and Sandy Ridge Grade Schools each consumed a lunch of cream of tomato soup, lettuce, tuna fish and boiled egg salad, bread pudding, milk, bread and butter.

A restaurant owner who wished to make a profit would probably sell such a meal for about 50 cents. But the student customers of the hot lunch program at the two schools each pay only 20 cents daily. And they get an added dividend in the form of orange or other fruit juice during the middle of each school afternoon.

The school board budgeted $1,100 last July for the lunch program during this school year. The Federal government also gives five cents for each meal served. Potatoes and other farm products are given the school by the surplus commodities agency.

But the major cost of this project, says Mrs. Langdon Lee, chairman of the Parent-Teacher Association's hot lunch program, is borne by the 20 cents that the children pay for each lunch.

Some, she added, are served without cost. If the family is temporarily without income and cannot afford the price of the lunch, the child is served without charge.

Only Complete Meal

For some, said Mrs. Thomas Scales, P-TA president, it is often the only complete meal they get during the day.

Of the 5,205 lunches served during December at both schools, 131 were without charge, Mrs. Lee said.

The five cents per child from the government pays for most of the milk each drinks. Milk now costs six cents per half pint.

Given Surplus Produce

The surplus commodities given the school is farm produce that the government has bought to keep farm prices up. It is given to all schools that have hot lunch programs. Only cost to Sandy is freight charge.

It is distributed from the office of Edwin Woodworth, county superintendent of schools.

Included in the food received from this source is about 4,000 pounds of potatoes, cheese, powdered eggs and milk and dried fruits.

Aid Low Price

"If we didn't get this, we couldn't offer lunches at such low prices," Mrs. Lee said.

This school year a group of P-TA members, eight mothers, canned 210 gallons of peaches and 350 gallons of apple sauce for the program. They included Mrs. Myron Simpson, Mrs. Alberta MacDonald, Mrs. E. N. McManus, Mrs. Claude Dove, Mrs. Guy Chilton, Mrs. M. L. Lee, Mrs. John Bremmer and Mrs. Anna McLean.

Each day's lunch is planned to give each child two ounces of protien, a half cup of a vegetable or fruit, either cooked or raw, and half a pint of milk. Children are allowed "seconds" and the eager manner in which they "come back for more" testifies to the taste and quality of the food, say the cooks.

Four women are hired as cooks for the hot lunches. Mrs. Lena Searls is at Sandy Ridge School. Preparing food at Sandy are Mrs. Roy Crome, Mrs. Alberta MacDonald and Mrs. Leona Spaller.

Sandy Grade students eat in two shifts. Children in grades one through five eat at 11:30 a.m. each day. The three upper grades eat at noon.

Teachers help maintain discipline in the dining halls.

Besides the more obvious benefits of well-round nutrition, the hot lunch program has had some unexpected ones also.

One mother reported that her boy learned to eat and like foods at school that he previously wouldn't touch at home.

Another told his mother he wished she would learn to "cook like they do at school."

One local restaurant operator, Mrs. Lee disclosed, is eager to get the school's recipe for hamburger after hearing grade school tots sing its praises.
