THIS COULD MEAN YOUR LIFE AND COUNTRY!

(This is one of a series of messages sponsored by the Sandy Oil Company. The following is an excerpt from an interview with Civil Defense Administrator Millard F. Caldwell, Jr.)

Q. Now that the second A-bomb has been exploded by Russia, Mr. Caldwell, do you think this will make the American people aware of the importance of civil defense?

A. This explosion is a grim warning, straight from Russia, that it has both the atomic bombs and the means of delivering them to our cities. It will emphasize to the American people the immediate need for adequate protection of the home front through civil defense.

Q. What should the average person do to get ready for this attack? Should he take a first-aid course? Should he build a shelter in his back yard?

A. The first thing he ought to do is to acquaint himself with the possibilities so that when an attack happens it won't come as a great shock, at least as no greater shock than necessary. Next, he should take a first-aid course. He should read the manuals we have produced which show him how to fight small fires. Fire storms develop from small fires and the fire department will not be able to answer every call—he'll have to put his own fire out.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Jiggs Gets
Four "Hot-Foots"

Cappy Miller's bought himself a new car. We won't be seeing his old jalopy bouncing over the back roads any more. I'm going to miss it, too.

Many a morning Cappy and I drove off in that rattletrap for a day's hunting or fishing. We'd pile rods or guns in back, and prop open the trunk compartment—so Jiggs, Cappy's pointer, could jump in and go along.

They say when Cappy brought the new car home he opened up the hood to show off the engine—and poor old Jiggs hopped right in! Figured it was the trunk. He hopped right out in a hurry, too. That cylinder head was mighty hot.

From where I sit, old habits are hard to shake, once they get a hold. Like, for instance, too many people are still in the habit of trying to run their neighbors' lives—telling them how to act, what to wear, whether or not to enjoy a refreshing glass of beer. I say that kind of thinking's outmoded . . . ought to be turned in for a new model!
