YOU BET YOUR LIFE—

Every time you cross a street against a red light—every time you dash out from behind parked cars in mid-block, every time you walk to the right, with your back to traffic, instead of to the left on a rural highway—you bet your life!

In 1950, 9,400 pedestrians bet—and lost. Another 299,000 gambled against traffic odds and came away injured. One out of every three traffic deaths were pedestrians, most of them struck down at or between intersections or on the open roads during dark hours.

We are still a nation of jay-walkers whose mental attitude apes the speeding driver, getting there fastest by the shortest route and leaving personal safety at the curb.

When you are walking remember, the red light means you, too. Cross at intersections on the green or amber light meant for you, but watch out for reckless drivers, too. On highways walk facing oncoming cars. At night wear or carry something white, use a flashlight. Let drivers know you are there.

Don't jay-walk into eternity.
