SANDY CATCHALL

By Martin Clark

SMALL WORLD: Sgt. T. R. Hawkins is the recruiting officer for the Air Force and Army who comes to Sandy one day a week to do business. Floyd Hoey, whose wife teaches at Sandy grade school, was retired from the army with the rank of captain after being shot up in an observation plane spotting for field artillery.

The two were in Vic & Al's barber shop one day recently and, as men will do in a barber shop—especially Vic & Al's, they struck up a conversation. And, as men will do who've seen service, the conversation casually drifted to what outfits they were in in WW II. Still casual, the conversation drifted back over the military careers of the two men . . . 19 years ago, to Ft. Townsend, Washington.

Only then did Floyd Hoey and Theodore Hawkins recognize one another as the rookie buddies they'd been when they were taking their basic training together in the 14th Coast Artillery . . . in 1933.

They both still look young enough to be your grandsons, Grashorn.

HAPPENS EVERY TIME: Mrs. Rolla Longnecker, Mrs. Ruben Hoffman, and Mrs. Quentin Norquist were among the mob of Sandyites (8) who went in for Brad Reynolds Hostess House program Friday before the Strawberry Festival.

A whole slue of door prizes were given away. Ethel (who's hubby is the Sandy Food Market) is still trying to swap her prize for the snappy umbrella won by Marge Hoffman.

Ethel won a basket of groceries.

Two Zigzag Girls Work At Waverly Home In Portland

By Mrs. A. B. Bradley

Clarice and Lucile Rogers of Zigzag are spending the summer at the Waverly Baby Home in Portland. They are doing very well and find the work with the babies most interesting and rewarding. Their brother, Roland, took time off from his job at Meier and Frank's to spend two weeks at the National Guard encampment at Fort Lewis recently.

Mrs. Dale West and her mother Mrs. Rasmussen of Klamath Falls were visitors with Elizabeth Wills and Minnie Williams recently.

Shirley Gaunt and her friend Chrissie Sayre are spending two weeks at Zigzag at the summer home of the Al Nottinghams on Truman road. Shirley is a niece of Mrs. Nottingham's, and granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie Bryant who is out here for the summer.

McPaul Visitors
Charles Toy of Prairie Farm, Wisconsin, with his aunt, Mrs. Grace Creasy, and his son Frank Toy, wife and daughter Darlene, have all been visitors at the Arba McPaul home in Brightwood recently. They took in the Rose Festival and all the mountain show places while there for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. McPaul took the Loop trip one day last week, stopping at Celilo Falls on the way to watch the salmon fishing. Mrs. Daisy Schafer had as luncheon guests last Friday Mrs. A. B. Bradley of Zigzag and her house guests Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Maloney of Santa Ana, California. The Maloneys left for home on Monday, via Coos Bay, where Mr. Maloney was formerly one of the publishers of the Coos Bay Times.

While George Lasher and Al George were attending a forest service school last week, their respective wives went visiting. Mrs. Lasher and daughters Carole Ann and Nancy Lee spent the week in North Bend and Puyallup, Washington, visiting various friends; Mrs. George and small son Tommy visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hunter in Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rodman of Los Gatos, California, formerly of Brightwood, visited Mr. and Mrs. David North of Rhododendron last week for a few days. Mrs. North recently concluded her year's teaching at the Portland School of Music with a very successful recital.

Mrs. Sadie Meacham, well-known former Brightwood resident now living in Portland, was a recent guest of the Wayne Hudelsons and other friends in the mountain area.

Mrs. Peggy Carlson and son Tony of Brightwood have just left for a month's visit with Mrs. Carlson's mother in Del Mar, California.

Specimens From Montana
Claus Hofeldt returned last Sunday from a visit to Butte, Montana, where he spent some time at the School of Mines studying ores and rocks. He brought home quite a lot of specimens for his own private collection at his home in Woodlands.

During the heavy down-pour last Saturday night, 2.4 inches of rain fell at the Ranger station at Zigzag between midnight and 8 a.m. The rivers were very high on Sunday.

Catchall Reader

"I'm simply devastated with unconsolable anguish if I miss reading one week of the Sandy Catchall . . ." says six-year-old Kathy Dorcas Valberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Valberg. Well, those weren't her exact words, but she didn't say she didn't say 'em, so who knows?

senior prom, and junior and senior plays, and member of choir, operetta, and GAA. She won a scholarship pin for two years, received a 4-H summer school scholarship in 1948, and took several blue ribbons at county and state fairs. She plans to enroll in home economics at OSC.
