SANDY CATCHALL

By Martin Clark

Catchall Catalogue Of Sandy Citizens

Before spring rolls around again and this becomes ancient history, here's a fetching shot of fetching Mrs. Tom Seales toiling among the shrubs around her front porch.
Next week: Esther Williams.

WE HAVE RETURNED: Nope, haven't been anywhere, but decided to take a couple weeks off from the strenuous routine of grinding out mah column.

"What happened to the Catchall?" Chuck Croston asked me the other day; "we miss it."

Mah opinion of Croston immediately went up 26 points.

"My wife said just the other day," he continued, "that there was something different about the last two issues..." (Mrs. Croston's stock also rose in mah books.)

"... I told her your Catchall hadn't been in the last two issues and she said 'that accounts for the improvement'."

... the '29 crash was nuthin' compared to what happened to the Croston's stock in mah books.

BUT NEVER MIND: just to refute the Croston crass taste, here's a card that came all the way from Beaumont, Texas.

"Gentlemen: Having been for quite a while a regular reader of your paper, it is with regret that I find the 'Sandy Catchall' omitted from the August 14th issue. I hope this most interesting feature will soon again appear in your future issues. Most sincerely, J. F. Clark."

And Ah know he wouldn't be the least bit prejudiced because he's my papa... so there... thanks, Pop.

PHILOSOPHY DEPT.: You know, it would be a bleak town indeed if we didn't have such philosophers as Cese Duke around. Said Cese one day last week when I gave him the "anything new?" routine:

"What I always say," said Cese in his usual dynamic delivery, "is: never put off until tomorrow what you can get some one else to do today."

Which reminds me, for no reason at all, that earlier in the week Cese was having lunch down at Seal's Super Cream (uh huh, not at all) when Florence McGlade — pardon — Florence Robb occupied the next stool. Since her marriage of a few weeks back, Cese has called Florence "Mrs. Pistol."

Now Florence is one of the sweetest females I know—married, that is—and a bright spot in our post office (that's the U. S. Federal Post Office, not the Sandy Post office... no, madam, I'm sorry, we don't sell money orders or stamps—that's a block over on the highway); but when she's eating, she IS a little fastidious about some subjects.

All of which Cese knows quite well...

"Florence," he said, as she was biting into her hamburger.

"Uho?" she answered, her mouth still wrapped around that hamburger (one of Ginnie's best).

"Did I ever show you," gestured Cese, "these pimples in my head?"

Cows perspire only on their noses.

Letter To the Editor

What's wrong with me this morn I said—
Had my coffee
And made my bed.
I took a look into
my Holy Book,
All's well within,
(or could there be any lurking sin)
Oh! —The Sandy Post
that's it—
I sure do miss my Thursday's Host.

SAFER LABOR DAY DRIVING

Yes sir, we're right here to check every car that comes our way to guarantee that each one we service is ready for that big Labor Day weekend coming up... How about those windshield wipers, those tires, those brakes?

And to get more technical: How are you fixed on wheel balance, clutch slips, generator charges? How's your water pump, your radiator, your timing... Just give us a chance to check and we may give you a much better chance to live.
