The Richard Meinig family of Bend were visiting relatives in Sandy and Portland over the weekend. Miss Clara Meinig is reported by her family to be considerably improved since she underwent surgery last week in a Portland hospital. Relatives report that Mrs. Eda Buchegger, hospitalized since early January after an auto accident, seems to be improved but is still very weak. John Hillyard got the first leg up on the attractive trophy given by Mills Brothers in a new handicap tournament which started last Sunday at the Sandy Gun Club. The handicap will be conducted once each month until some member wins three times to retain permanent possession of the trophy. —CP—

Last Monday evening as a guest of Dr. Bill Howard and his wife, Bill's mother (Mrs. Inez Howarc) and this correspondent visited an oil painting class held in the Oregon Artist's Building on Park and St. Clair in Portland. The teacher is Arthur Selander, a well known Oregon Artist. Selander was formerly an employee of the Oregon Tax Commission. Now retired he devotes his time to teaching painting which he does two nights a week and has also afternoon classes.

There were around 30 in the class, about evenly divided between men and women, most of whom were middle aged, many retired from active work. Dr. Howard said there were a number of doctors, besides other professional people.

Tickle Creek so tickled Frank and Caroline Hauser when they were looking for a country home near Sandy, that they bought two lovely bends of it with ten acres of land as a side issue. The ten acres were heavily forested but after deciding where they wanted their house, they carefully thinned out the trees so that from the east, south and west of their home they could see their prize possession.

Recently I spent a day with the Hausers and was equally charmed with their pleasant location. Frank has built most of the house himself as he is a master craftsman. For utility, beauty and convenience, the house is unsurpassed and the cupboards and closets! I counted up to a dozen then lost track.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Eaden and son Allen (a high school senior of Estacada) spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George TenEyck. Don files saws for the Weyerhaeuser Co. at their plant on the Clackamas. During the Christmas vacation the Eadens drove to Arizona where Mrs. Eaden's brother has a rose quartz mine. The quartz is used in making jewelry. The Eadens are interested in rock collecting and Don has a nice display at their home in the Garfield section. —CP—

BARKER'S BUGLE

Howdy Folks:

Jones had just purchased a new car, and it was his most prized possession. However, most of his neighbors were envious, since Jones had gotten delivery, while they were still on the waiting lists. Most of them made him offers. One fellow wanted to take the car the minute he saw it, and offered Jones a deposit.

"I don't want to sell, and I don't want your deposit!" Jones informed the man, wearily. "Everybody wants to buy my car. Even one of the pigeons in the church steeple across the street!"

"A pigeon? Wanting to buy a car? Ridiculous!"

"Well, at any rate, this morning he made a deposit!"

Anatomy is something which everybody has, but it looks better on a girl.

The husband's smoking and his refusal to attend church services with his wife had been chronic sore spots in the couple's marriage. Now, once again, she was reading to him the latest medical comments about cancer of the lung.

"Humpf," snorted the man. "All this silly talk doesn't scare me. I intend to go right on smoking until the day I die!"

"Have it your way," snapped the weary wife. "But what makes you think you'll stop then?"
