

Around The Mountain

Joe Darr, Cascade Ski Club of Government Camp, was the only local skier placing in the Annual Oregon Junior C of C Junior Ski tournament near Eugene Saturday.

Joe placed second in the Junior Expert Division with 123.6 down a 30-gate slalom at Willamette pass.

Apparently all school kids from the state of Washington got a holiday on Washington's birthday Friday. The local motels were all taken by Seattle skiers coming in Thursday night for the weekend. Unfortunately, the recalcitrant weather man dumped a load of rain and washed out the skiers Saturday and Sunday, leaving resort owners with large stocks and small crowds.

Loren Pucdy, tow-truck operator, reported a bad wreck last Wednesday afternoon about 3 miles east of the Warm Springs Junction when two cars collided. State police officers from the Madras district investigated the accident and an ambulance was called from Madras. Reports indicated eight people were hurt in the wreck and one of them, an unidentified woman, died of her injuries.

Residents of the Lolo Pass road are reported hopefully looking forward to the middle of March. They have been promised that they will then be able to drive across the new county bridge near Zig Zag.

The cement deck is completed with only guard rails, paint and approaches yet to be finished.

During the past winter, it has been a case of "so near and yet so far" for residents on the other side of the river. Many people here get their mail at Zig Zag and have had to go down as far as Brightwood to cross the river.

Returning to reopen the Zig Zag Inn are Dave and Polly Owen, former owners. Opening will be in the near future.

Mrs. Myrtle Kaiser, Brightwood, was tempted by the lovely spring weather last week to make plans for reopening her house here. Her neighbors said they hoped the frigid air of last week didn't discourage her.

SANDY GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

By LAURA ADAMS

The new playground is now being worked on again by the O. K. Construction Co. from Gresham.

All rooms have been ordered new dictionaries from the New Approved list.

The school has recently made two new Ping Pong tables. The old ones have also been reconditioned for the coming Ping Pong season. Mr. Bakke is getting new nets and new equipment.

Mark Chilton, who is in Mrs. Will's second grade class, has brought a shell display and identified them. The students in this room are learning the different forms that water can assume. The children are now doing soap carving.

Marilyn Andersen, who is in Mrs. Rech's 7th grade class, missed a day of school last week. It seems her father's colt bit her quite hard on the ear. This was most painful, but not serious.

Students in Mrs. Woodward's class are enjoying their dictionary work lately. Panel discussions seem to be the popular thing in several classrooms. Mrs. Woodward's class recently had a discussion on good manners.

Mrs. Rech's 8th grade civics class is about to have another debate and a panel discussion. The debate is: "Resolved: That the President should call out the Armed Forces to help the Hungarians". The discussion will be about whether or not the President should send the Army into the South to force an end of the segregation.

The students in Mrs. Sutherland's 4th grade class have just finished their Wheat Products booklet for social studies.

Last Friday the volleyball and basketball teams won their games here with Estacada. The volleyball game ended with a score of 41 to 19. The girls with the most points were Cleo Taylor and Joyce Williams. The basketball game ended 35 to 19. The high scorers for the boys were Jim Wolf, Lenny Searis and Phil Clapp.

Mrs. Callaghan and Mrs. Triplett returned this week after a short absence during the last week.

Karen Gessner is a new student here from Condon Oregon.

Obituary...

NICHOLAS VANDERHOOF

Nicholas Vanceroof, 69, Gales Creek, Oregon died on February 25 at Beaverton where he had resided only a short time.

Mr. Vanderhoof was born January 8, 1887 at Lafayette, Oregon and received his education there. While still very young, his family moved to the Marmot area where the Vanderhoofs homesteaded.

A farmer most of his life, he had lived in Wasco county and The Dalles before going to Gales Creek.

He is survived by one brother, John, of Portland; four nieces, three nephews and many cousins in the Sandy area.

Services were held February 28 in the chapel of Carroll Funeral home at 10 a.m. with interment in Douglas cemetery. Reverend Fletcher Cannell offered the services.

Pallbearers were: William Figles, Elmer Noah, Pete Enden, William Williams, Alton Culver and Denton Bacon.

Club President Wins In First Of Speech Contests

Edna Landreth won first national.

place in the speech contest for Gateway Toastmistress Club which was held Tuesday, February 26 at 7 p.m. in the annex of Community Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Landreth was presented with a golden trophy in her first step to possible wins in the inter-club, regional and national contests of Toastmistress International.

The trophy was presented by Mrs. Glenn Keller, the club's winner who has held it since last year.

Three members competed in the annual contest, each giving a 5 to 7 minute prepared talk and drawing topics for a 3 to 5 minute impromptu speech. Contestants were: Edna Landreth; "Up a Tree" and "My Yesterdays"; Helen Lamke, "Spice" and "My Tomorrows"; Lois Erickson, "Pioneers to Oregon" and "My Tomorrows".

Judges for the speech contest were: Wayne French, Sandy grade school teacher and member of Gresham Toastmasters; Bob McPheeters, Sandy high school instructor in speech and English; and Carol Emerson Dversdal, a former member of Gateway. Tie judge was Mrs. R. L. Revenaugh.

Timer was Norma Triplett and recorder, Mary Lou Keller. Tellers were: Mrs. Keller, Agnes Hartwig and Selma Johnson.

About 20 members and guests attended the contest and the dinner preceding the meeting. The theme "Gateway to Spring" was carried out in the decorations for programs and the continuous U-shaped table. A solid arrangement of moss studded with pussy willows and spring flowers covered the outside edge of the table for its entire length highlighted with occasional containers of spring flowers. The gold and blue programs had a three-dimensional cover of a white opening gate against the crest of Toastmistress Inter-

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Landreth, with the Invocation and flag salute led by Mae Eaton, Estacada. The president introduced the guests, then turned the meeting over to the vice president, Rachel Wright.

BARKER'S BUGLE

Howdy Folks:

When Judy returned from her first day at school she remarked casually, "Mother, I told my teacher that you threw the mop at Daddy this morning."

"Why on earth did you tell her that?" asked her mother in horror.

With devastating logic Judy replied: "Well, she didn't know it."

"I bought a two-story house," says Phil Wasserman. "The real estate man told one story before I bought it and another story afterward."

Two college girls were preparing for bed after sneaking into the sorority house following very late dates. Through the cold cream and teeth-clenched bobby pins, one said indignantly, "That guy I was with is a hunting dog trainer. Real cute and very strong. He said I owned two of the most beautiful pointers he'd ever seen."

"Well honey, you've heard worse than that," the other replied. "Why don't you just forget it. You shouldn't let his remarks bother you."

The first girl came back with, "It wasn't the remark that bothered me. It was the way he was trying to act like a retriever."

The young reporter on a Kansas newspaper was asked by a clergyman not to publish quotations from his sermon on the ground it might detract from the attendance at subsequent services. Part of the reporter's item on the sermon read as follows: The minister gave a very interesting talk, but unfortunately his stories cannot be printed."

OSC Mothers To Meet Thursday

A meeting of the Oregon State College Mothers' Club is scheduled for February 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the Eastham grade school, 7th and Harrison, Oregon City, according to Mrs. A. E. Mitchell, Brightwood.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Theo Yerian of the education activities department. Hostesses will be the Oregon City mothers.
