Taking a trip with their three grandchildren were the Otto P. Magnusons of Sandy who returned July 18 after traveling about 7,000 miles across the United States.

Grandchildren Charlene, David and Kathy Lasley left on June 4 with their grandparents. The Magnusons traveled through the Black Hills of South Dakota, went to Oklahoma to visit the children's father, Ralph D. Lasley, and then to Gulf Shores, Alabama where Mr. Magnuson visited his brother, D. S. Magnuson, whom he hadn't seen in about twelve years. The travelers then went on to Florida.

They also made a stop in Oberlin, Kansas, birthplace of Mr. Magnuson, where they stayed for some time.

The Magnusons reported a

BARKER-S BUGLE

HOWDY FOLKS --

Many a girl is taken in when she thought she was being taken out.

A near sighted lady was being fitted for a pair of shoes. On bending over she saw the clerk's bald head, and thought it was her knees showing. She immediately pulled her skirt over it.

The clerk mumbled, "Pardon Madam, there goes that light fuse again."

The deacon led cousin Effie down to the creek to be baptized.

"What's all this?" asked Effie.

"In this creek I am going to wash all your sins away," replied the deacon.

Better get more water than that," giggled Effie.

John says that the proof that everything is a vicious circle is up at Olallie Lake. The fish eat bugs all day. John ate the fish for supper and the bugs ate him all nite.

Now days when you see a gal with her hair mussed up and stockings torn, it's hard to tell if she has been run over by a motorist or picked up by one.

Uncle Thad says Aunt Sophie can spot a lipstick smear on his collar at twenty paces, but she can't see a garage door thirty feet wide.

"Just think," said George, "When that cutie came to this country six years ago she was a scrawny misplaced person."

Bob: "Everything seems to be in the right place now."
